

WARM DEBATE ENLIVENED PROCEEDINGS OF COUNCIL

CONTRACT LET FOR NEW ENGINE HOUSE

The city council last evening held only a short session, but there were few present that will ever forget it. Hot shots were sent whizzing from all quarters of the little room and the chairman's gavel had very little effect toward silencing the members in their feigned anger.

One old member, being of the number that will have served his last on or about the first of May, when a proposition favored by himself and several others was finally turned down, made the haughty retort:

"This question should have been presented to council at the last meeting. It would have been passed unanimously then. There were enough candidates represented in the body to insure the passage of anything."

Another member daringly apprised a brother councilman of the fact that he knew absolutely nothing and the latter, though nearly twice the weight of his accuser, allowed it to be understood so. Taking the session from beginning to end an opportunity seemed to be grasped to dispose of soreness, a chance which they all appeared to realize will not be theirs for a great period of time. However, the honorable body succeeded in transacting some business of grave importance to the city in general and residents of the city cannot help feeling grateful to the members for the wise discretion displayed.

Following the customary preliminaries, Clerk Davidson reported that he had in his possession bids for the erecting of the new McKinnon addition fire station, recommended at a recent meeting by a committee appointed to consider the matter. The bidders for the contract, which is to conform in every detail with the plans and specifications of the city engineer, were: S. G. Miller, $2,575; J. C. McLain, $2,658; Harvey McHenry, $2,672; J. C. Cain & Co., $2,645. The latter was awarded the contract, but not until Mr. Peach succeeded in having a motion passed ordering the clerk and mayor to give the city's obligation, for the amount and have it placed in the treasury for the specified purpose. Mr. Peach stated that the body had passed upon similar propositions too many times when the money was not in the treasury, and that he was positively against that way of doing business, especially when it is not lawful.

According to the blue print given for inspection, the building, considering its cheapness, will be one of the most substantial obtainable, and a pride to the city. It is to be located at the southwest corner of McKinnon avenue and Calcutta road. The outside dimensions will be 30x50 feet. There will be two stories, the first to be of brick and 14 feet high and the second to be covered with mansard slating and 2 feet high. The ground floor on the interior will be 27x47 feet. The stable to consist of two large stalls, will be 16 feet in length and will be situated at the rear of the building. The front part will be partitioned off in a manner allowing 27 feet for a truck room. This room will be plastered and frescoed.

The second story will be used as a sleeping apartment and a hay loft. The latter will be 16 feet in length and will hold sufficient feed for the horses, and then there will be room for other necessities. The sleeping apartment will be fitted up in elegant style. It will be roomy, contain wardrobes and numerous other conveniences. Red brick with white mortar will give the outside a pleasing appearance and the entire building will be up-to-date in every particular. Just when the contractors will begin work on the contract is not known, but they will not delay it long. If the weather permits they will likely start as soon as the material can be obtained.

Mr. Peach, chairman of the committee appointed to investigate the claim of Thomas Chadwick, reported that the property which is located at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Grant street had been seriously damaged by the grading of the streets and thought that council should take immediate steps to repair it. The members, all being familiar with the conditions, spoke in favor of the repairing and when the bids were submitted for the work quickly accepted that of B. F. Hinton, the lowest bidder. His bid was as follows: Rubble wall, per perch, $1, steps, per foot, 85 cents; excavation, per yard, 50 cents.

When Mr. Peach made the statement that he thought council should pay Thomas Lownds for the damage done his property during the flood several years ago there was a wrangle of 30 minutes, and as in numerous instances before, the appeal was turned down. The bill of Mr. Lownds was presented at the same time that two others were paid, but his was left over owing to the fact that he had an attorney fee of $25 attached. He was given to understand that if he would eliminate that item he would receive damages and did accordingly. McConnell made a motion that he be paid $100, and though the motion received a speedy second it was lost by a vote of 4 for and 4 against.

Thomas McKeever, of the Lisbon road, was present and wanted council to take some action on the damage done his property by the landslide which occurred a few weeks ago. Every member of the body was well aware of the extent of the damages, and the street committee was empowered to act on the matter. It will have the damage repaired at once.

Two notes, one on Summit lane, amounting to $1,052.15, and the other on Sugar alley for $887.38, were ordered renewed, and after the clerk was instructed to prepare a bond issue and advertise for the sale of the bonds on the several streets where the assessment ordinance had been passed during the past year, council adjourned.

DEATH STARED HIM IN THE FACE

CLOSE CALL FOR BRICK WORKS SUPERINTENDENT.

Caught By Machinery in the Pit And Struck on Head By Flying Missile.

While working in a pit at the East Liverpool Brick works, Supt. W. N. Glass had an exciting experience and narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon as the result of permitting a young man not familiar with the workings of a certain machine a trial at manipulating it.

Milton Tyndall had been employed by him and having shown more than ordinary skill for a green hand was entrusted with the machine and for some time had worked it without trouble. Forgetting the likelihood of the young man accidentally making a blunder, Mr. Glass descended into the pit and was in the act of performing some work when the heavy cogs were suddenly thrown out of gear, by the dropping of a piece of lead between them, simultaneously firmly clutching his coat sleeve. Death staring him in the face and while cold perspiration poured from his body, applying all of his strength he made a terrible plunge, and to that only can be credited his escape. The strenuous effort resulted in the tearing of his sleeve and his liberation.

One of the pieces of the machinery flying in the air struck him with great force on the head, knocking him violently to the ground. In a short time he recovered from the blow and the effect of the trying ordeal and today was none the worse.

NEXT CONVENTION FOR EAST LIVERPOOL

Local Delegates Expect to Have the State Y. M. C. A. Annual Meeting Held Here.

A. H. Bulger, W. A. Weaver, Wilson Smith, M. C. Wright and probably D. M. Ogilvie, leave tomorrow morning for Columbus, to attend the bi-annual session of the business men's conference of the State Y. M. C. A. It is the intention of the delegates to secure pledges to have the state convention of the association held in this city next year in February.

The delegates will probably return on Friday, except Secretary Wright, who will remain to attend a meeting of general secretaries and physical directors, on Saturday, where he will read a paper.

The East Liverpool Amateur Photo club gave another very pleasant social session last evening. The function was in the nature of a smoker and the guests were limited to the members of the club. Another stereopticon exhibition was given, most of the views being reproductions of pictures taken by members of the club. Tempting refreshments were served.

Chapter to Entertain.

East Liverpool chapter No. 100, R. A. M., will entertain the Masonic bodies of this city Friday evening. A musical and literary program is being arranged and refreshments will be served.

CHRIS BICK QUILTS THE RACE FOR NOMINATION FOR SHERIFF

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—Chris A. Bick has withdrawn from the race for the Republican nomination for sheriff and the following letter, given out this morning by County Chairman Jno. S. McNutt, will be a surprise to politicians generally throughout the county:

"John S. McNutt, chairman Republican county executive committee.

THE RAILROAD WILL AGREE

PRACTICALLY ALL DEMANDS

Made By the Railroad Committee of Council Assented to By Supt. Scriven, of the C. & P.—Harmonious Conference Last Evening.

The C. & P. Railroad company has practically acceded to every request asked by the committee of council appointed to confer with it on the proposition to allow the company the right of way through the city for the laying of two additional tracks, notwithstanding no tracks will be laid in the city limits for several weeks and possibly several months.

Supt. Scriven, accompanied by Attorney Carey, of Salem, and several other railroad officials, appeared before the city fathers last evening, and to the surprise of all Mr. Scriven, when given the floor, read the demands carefully and stated that the company had pondered over them, finally coming to the decision that they must and should be granted. The members had been anticipating a revolt, and were not prepared to take action and fearful of some rash step being taken, the report was referred to the railroad committee.

Supt. Scriven addressed the members as follows: "Last summer the C. & P. company made application for permission to construct two additional tracks in the city. Several times have the committees of the city and company met, and at the last conference the company was given a list of demands that the city had concluded must be granted. The company, after careful consideration, has decided to accede, with but very few exceptions. In looking over our plans we thought that we should not be required to place gates at all of the streets named in demand No. 2, and that we should not be made to maintain several streets that have never been opened. However, we will agree to do that in the future, if the city still persists.

"The first demand, that a delivery and receiving station be placed at the yards north of Sixth street, has been gone into thoroughly by the company, and though we have failed to discover in what manner it will help the city and know that it will be of no benefit to us, we are willing to erect the station and will leave it to the residents whether or not we shall.

"No. 2—That gates be placed at the following streets: East and West Market, Franklin street, Walnut, Market, Washington, Broadway, Second and Mulberry streets. We have gates at all but five of these streets and would suggest that gates be placed at two of these five, the streets to be named by council.

"No. 3—That crossings be maintained at all points where streets and alleys cross the railroad tracks. We will maintain crossings where all streets now cross the tracks, but do not think that we should be asked to provide for the future at this time.

"No. 4—That Ralston's crossing be abandoned and the crossing placed under the culvert at that point. We will agree to this proposition and also continue St. George street to the crossing.

"No. 5—That a suitable brick station be erected and maintained in the East End to accommodate passengers and freight. We will agree to this proposition and the station will be built on the property we have acquired from the Puritan Land company.

"No. 6—That the railroad company make satisfactory arrangements with the private property owners whose land they will have to widen the tracks. This has already been done.

"No. 7—That the company proceed at once to pave the yards, both upper and lower, where they abut on paved streets. This includes the lower yards from Second street to Thompson's pottery. We have already ordered this work done. It will be done as soon as the weather permits."

The blue print of the plans was submitted for inspection and very few objections were made. In regard to erecting a passenger station in the East End, Mr. Scriven said that it had been the intention of the company to construct a frame building, but as the people wanted a brick one, one that will add to the city's looks and one that will stand for years, the company had decided to build one to suit the people. It will be located almost directly opposite the National pottery and will be conveniently situated for traveling men and others visiting the plants in that section.

CHARGED WITH BEING A CHICKEN THIEF

BOY OF THIRTEEN LANDED IN THE JAIL TODAY.

He is Accused of Unlawfully Taking Fowls Belonging to George C. Murphy.

William Stroud, a lad of 13 years, is in the city jail with a rather serious charge against him. He was arrested this afternoon by Officer Morris and when taken before the mayor acknowledged his guilt of stealing seven chickens from the coop at the rear of George C. Murphy's home, Third street.

Mr. Murphy missed three of the fowls last Saturday and three Monday morning. That evening he took careful precautions against further loss, by securely locking the doors, but on Tuesday another was missing. The case was reported to Chief Thompson and last evening the chief learned that a boy answering the description of Stroud had sold chickens to several dealers.

Officer Morris was detailed to apprehend the youth and did so shortly before 2 o'clock. He will be given a hearing this evening.

HEPTASOPH OFFICERS WERE INSTALLED

Distinguished Member of the Order Was Here and a Banquet Was Tendered Him.

The recently elected officers of the Heptasophs were installed last evening by Assistant Deputy Supreme Vice Archon Charles Thompson, of Steubenville, assisted by John W. Hohman, of this city. The ceremonies were held in the lodge room in the Fowler building and at the conclusion a social session was held. Later most of the members repaired to the Diamond dining parlors, where a banquet was served in honor of the distinguished visitor.

The following officers were inducted into office:

Past Archon, W. A. Davis; Archon, W. W. Williamson; Secretary, N. T. Ashbaugh; Financial, Thomas Todd; Treasurer, Dr. C. H. Birkett; Provost, George M. Adam; Prelate, Frank Silverthorne; Inspector, George McKeever; Warden, R. E. McDaniels; Sentinel, Leon Rich; Trustees, George M. Adam, John H. Hohman and Joseph McDonald.

Granted a Divorce.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—Margaret E. Kearney, of Leetonia, was granted a divorce yesterday from Oliver G. Kearney, of Pittsburg, and was given custody of her two children, John C. and Graham Kearney, aged 13 and 11 years, respectively. The wife charged wilful absence and disregard of marital duties. They were married July 6, 1887.

Lisbon Primaries.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—The Republican primary for Lisbon village and Center township will be held Saturday, March 7, between the hours of 11:30 and 5:30 o'clock. There will be nominated a mayor, a clerk, a treasurer, a marshal, three members board of public service, six councilmen, two members board of education, township trustees, assessors and road supervisors for six districts.

Fancy Work Party.

Mrs. Harrington R. Hill will entertain a number of her friends at fancy work tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

WIFE'S SERIOUS ILLNESS DROVE HUSBAND TO DESPAIR AND HE TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

Wm. Cooley, a Farmer Well Known in Hancock County, Found by Neighbors, Dead by His Own Hand.

Tenderly loving hands laid to rest the remains of William Cooley yesterday afternoon in Mill Creek cemetery, near Chester. The cause of death was not learned in Chester, where he was well known, until his remains were brought through there on the way to their final resting place. Mr. Cooley was a well known and well-to-do farmer, living about four miles from Frankfort Springs and about 10 miles from Chester. His wife has been ill for several weeks and recently was taken to the Southside hospital in Pittsburg. After being there a short time Mr. Cooley visited her and had a conversation with the physicians in charge. He was given but little encouragement by the doctor and was told that it was but a matter of time till his wife would die.

Mr. Cooley returned the next day very much depressed in spirits and went directly to his home. He lives on a large stock farm and is well and favorably known over the entire county. The couple have no children and Mr. Cooley was at the house alone. In the mornings it was the custom of a number of neighbors to help him feed the stock on the farm and they would come to the house and awaken him if he were not already awaiting them. Sunday morning several men came over, as was their custom, but Mr. Cooley was not to be seen. They waited a short time, but finally went in the house to awaken him.

When they got in the front room a ghastly sight was presented to view. Mr. Cooley was lying in a pool of blood on the floor and in his right hand a revolver was clenched. He had been dead for several hours and had evidently taken his own life in a fit of despondency after learning that his wife could not recover. He was about 30 years of age and was always known to be of a bright and cheerful disposition.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at Mill Creek cemetery and was attended by a large number of friends of the deceased.

His wife has not been informed of his death. She is reported in a fair way to recovery.

AGAIN ARRESTED

Geo. P. M'Gillivray Must Answer to U. S. Grand Jury on Charge of Counterfeiting.

George P. M'Gillivray, for years a well known presser in this city but of late working at his trade in a pottery at Crooksville, O., was arrested in that town by United States Marshal McAllister and was taken to Zanesville yesterday where he is now confined in jail in default of $2000 bail demanded as security for his appearance before the United States court to answer to a charge of counterfeiting.

M'Gillivray, it will be remembered, was arrested in Crooksville last November by Officer Clifford Dawson, of this city, on two charges, non-support and making counterfeit money, preferred against him by his wife, Lydia, in the court of Squire H. P. McCarron. He was brought to this city and given a preliminary hearing before the justice. The first charge was dismissed, the evidence showing that the accused had given his wife money and never failed to support her, notwithstanding that he had left her. On the charge of counterfeiting he was bound over to common pleas court. The case was submitted by the prosecuting attorney to the grand jury, but that body failed to find a true bill against the man and the matter was supposed to be dropped.

The United States authorities have been working on it since and as a result M'Gillivray will be tried on the serious charge. He was arraigned before Commissioner Edward R. Meyer, at Zanesville, and pleading not guilty was remanded to jail.

The case was worked up by Detectives M. P. Dolan, of Cincinnati, and Peter B. Dyke, of Cleveland, of the United States secret service. The affidavit in which the charges were made was filed before Joseph L. Adler, United States commissioner for the southern district of Ohio, by M. P. Dolan, and the accused is charged with counterfeiting 50 United States coins. The coins were nickels, although it is not so specified in the affidavit. M'Gillivray is charged, both with making counterfeiters and moulds for counterfeiters.

MUST BE AN ACCOUNTING

Court Holds That a Partnership Exists Between Salineville Mine Owners.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—The case of John F. Collins vs. James Strabley regarding the profits in the Salineville coal mines, which are said by the plaintiff to have been operated jointly, was tried yesterday. The court held that there had been a partnership between the litigants and that there should be an accounting, but the matter was passed for further testimony as to the accounting.

Foreclosure Proceedings.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—The First National bank, of Niles, has begun foreclosure proceedings against Zell S. Tower and Anna Tower, on two promissory notes for $50 and $52, respectively, secured by mortgages on lots in Leetonia. John A. Floding who claims some interest in the real estate is made a party defendant. Senator Connell is the plaintiff's attorney.

Andrew Donally.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—Andrew Donally, aged about 50 and unmarried, died of pneumonia last night at his home, two miles north of Lisbon. He was the last of the Donally family, an only surviving sister with whom he lived, having died about a year ago.

O'HANLON'S DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST EAST LIVERPOOL

Case of Much Interest to This City is On Trial at Lisbon Today.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—The case of David O'Hanlon vs. the City of East Liverpool is being heard in common pleas court today. The plaintiff says he is the owner of three lots fronting 90 feet on Lisbon street and that in changing the thoroughfare between Eighth street and the north limit, the city authorities took possession of a strip of his premises and by reason of grading the street, which was cut down about 19 feet at that point his lot has been made inaccessible and otherwise damaged to the amount of $1,500. He also asks the recovery of the strip appropriated by the city.

A large number of witnesses are here to testify in the case. Attorney Walter R. Hill, of East Liverpool, and W. F. Lones, of Wellsville, represents the plaintiff and W. K. Gaston and A. H. Clark, represent the city.

Appointed Administrator.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—George H. Owen has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Willis H. Kinsey, of Liverpool township, under bond of $2,000. James Hill, George E. Davidson and Frank Croxall are the appraisers.

A WOMAN BEATEN

Rendered Unconscious by a Man's Blow She Afterward Has Him Arrested and Arraigned.

Having suffered a terrible beating at the hands of one who, upon previous occasions, had always treated her in a most courteous manner, Miss Emma Reed, of Third street, appeared in the court of Squire Daniel McLane Monday evening and had a warrant issued for the arrest of Benjamin Wyand. The papers were placed in the hands of Constable Powell yesterday afternoon and last evening Wyand was arraigned before the justice. To a charge of unlawfully striking, assaulting and threatening he pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs. Unable to produce the amount he was released on his own recognizance.

Miss Reed, in filing her affidavit, stated that Wyand called at her home on Sunday afternoon and for a short time everything went lovely, but for some unknown reason he became hilarious and wanted to clean the house or start an Indian war dance, presumably, states the justice, in celebration of Washington's birthday.

The actions of the man finally became so outrageous that Miss Reed ordered him to vacate the premises. Her rebuke was more than he could stand and in a cowardly manner struck her an awful blow under the left ear.

With a groan she sank to the floor unconscious and remained in that state for fully 20 minutes before restoratives had any effect. During the remainder of the day she suffered intensely, and it was thought that the injury would prove very serious. However, on the following morning, she had recovered and then made up her mind to have the man pay for his barbarous treatment.

The members had been anticipating a revolt, and were not prepared to take action and fearful of some rash step being taken, the report was referred to the railroad committee.

Supt. Scriven addressed the members as follows: "Last summer the C. & P. company made application for permission to construct two additional tracks in the city. Several times have the committees of the city and company met, and at the last conference the company was given a list of demands that the city had concluded must be granted. The company, after careful consideration, has decided to accede, with but very few exceptions. In looking over our plans we thought that we should not be required to place gates at all of the streets named in demand No. 2, and that we should not be made to maintain several streets that have never been opened. However, we will agree to do that in the future, if the city still persists.

"The first demand, that a delivery and receiving station be placed at the yards north of Sixth street, has been gone into thoroughly by the company, and though we have failed to discover in what manner it will help the city and know that it will be of no benefit to us, we are willing to erect the station and will leave it to the residents whether or not we shall.

"No. 2—That gates be placed at the following streets: East and West Market, Franklin street, Walnut, Market, Washington, Broadway, Second and Mulberry streets." We have gates at all but five of these streets and would suggest that gates be placed at two of these five, the streets to be named by council.

"No. 3—That crossings be maintained at all points where streets and alleys cross the railroad tracks." We will maintain crossings where all streets now cross the tracks, but do not think that we should be asked to provide for the future at this time.

"No. 4—That Ralston's crossing be abandoned and the crossing placed under the culvert at that point." We will agree to this proposition and also continue St. George street to the crossing.

"No. 5—That a suitable brick station be erected and maintained in the East End to accommodate passengers and freight." We will agree to this proposition and the station will be built on the property we have acquired from the Puritan Land company.

"No. 6—That the railroad company make satisfactory arrangements with the private property owners whose land they will have to have to widen the tracks." This has already been done.

"No. 7—That the company proceed at once to pave the yards, both upper and lower, where they abut on paved streets. This includes the lower yards from Second street to Thompson's pottery." We have already ordered this work done. It will be done as soon as the weather permits."

The blue print of the plans was submitted for inspection and very few objections were made. In regard to erecting a passenger station in the East End, Mr. Scriven said that it had been the intention of the company to construct a frame building, but as the people wanted a brick one, one that will add to the city's looks and one that will stand for years, the company had decided to build one to suit the people. It will be located almost directly opposite the National pottery and will be conveniently situated for traveling men and others visiting the plants in that section.

CHARGED WITH BEING A CHICKEN THIEF

BOY OF THIRTEEN LANDED IN THE JAIL TODAY.

He is Accused of Unlawfully Taking Fowls Belonging to George C. Murphy.

William Stroud, a lad of 13 years, is in the city jail with a rather serious charge against him. He was arrested this afternoon by Officer Morris and when taken before the mayor acknowledged his guilt of stealing seven chickens from the coop at the rear of George C. Murphy's home, Third street.

Mr. Murphy missed three of the fowls last Saturday and three Monday morning. That evening he took careful precautions against further loss, he securely locking the doors, but on Tuesday another was missing. The case was reported to Chief Thompson and last evening the chief learned that a boy answering the description of Stroud had sold chickens to several dealers.

Officer Morris was detailed to apprehend the youth and did so shortly before 2 o'clock. He will be given a hearing this evening.

HEPTASOPH OFFICERS WERE INSTALLED

Distinguished Member of the Order Was Here and a Banquet Was Tendered Him.

The recently elected officers of the Heptasophs were installed last evening by Assistant Deputy Supreme Vice Archon Charles Thompson, of Steubenville, assisted by John W. Hohman, of this city. The ceremonies were held in the lodge room in the Fowler building and at the conclusion a social session was held. Later most of the members repaired to the Diamond dining parlors, where a banquet was served in honor of the distinguished visitor.

The following officers were inducted into office:

Past Archon, W. A. Davis; Archon, W. W. Williamson; Secretary, N. T. Ashbaugh; Financier, Thomas Todd; Treasurer, Dr. C. H. Birkett; Provost, George M. Adam; Prelate, Frank St. Verthorne; Inspector, George McKeever; Warder, R. E. McDaniels; Sentinel, Leon Rich; Trustees, George M. Adam, John H. Hohman and Joseph McDonald.

WIFE'S SERIOUS ILLNESS DROVE HUSBAND TO DESPAIR AND HE TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

Wm. Cooley, a Farmer Well Known in Hancock County, Found by Neighbors, Dead by His Own Hand.

Tenderly loving hands laid to rest the remains of William Cooley yesterday afternoon in Mill Creek cemetery, near Chester. The cause of death was not learned in Chester, where he was well known, until his remains were brought through there on the way to their final resting place. Mr. Cooley was a well known and well-to-do farmer, living about four miles from Frankfort, Springs and about 10 miles from Chester. His wife has been ill for several weeks and recently was taken to the Southside hospital in Pittsburg. After being there a short time Mr. Cooley visited her and had a conversation with the physicians in charge. He was given but little encouragement by the doctor and was told that it was but a matter of time till his wife would die.

Mr. Cooley returned the next day very much depressed in spirits and went directly to his home. He lives on a large stock farm and is well and favorably known over the entire county. The couple have no children and Mr. Cooley was at the house alone. In the mornings it was the custom of a number of neighbors to help him feed the stock on the farm and they would come to the house and awaken him if he were not already awaiting them. Sunday morning several men came over, as was their custom, but Mr. Cooley was not to be seen. They waited a short time, but finally went in the house to awaken him.

When they got in the front room a ghastly sight was presented to view. Mr. Cooley was lying in a pool of blood on the floor and in his right hand a revolver was clenched. He had been dead for several hours and had evidently taken his own life in a fit of despondency after learning that his wife could not recover. He was about 30 years of age and was always known to be of a bright and cheerful disposition.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at Mill Creek cemetery and was attended by a large number of friends of the deceased.

His wife has not been informed of his death. She is reported in a fair way to recovery.

AGAIN ARRESTED

Geo. P. McGillivray Must Answer to U. S. Grand Jury on Charge of Counterfeiting.

George P. McGillivray, for years a well known presser in this city but of late working at his trade in a pottery at Crooksville, O., was arrested in that town by United States Marshal McAllister and was taken to Zanesville yesterday where he is now confined in jail in default of $2000 bail demanded as security for his appearance before the United States court to answer to a charge of counterfeiting.

McGillivray, it will be remembered, was arrested in Crooksville last November by Officer Clifford Dawson, of this city, on two charges, non-support and making counterfeit money, preferred against him by his wife, Lydia, in the court of Squire H. P. McCarron. He was brought to this city and given a preliminary hearing before the justice. The first charge was dismissed, the evidence showing that the accused had given his wife money and never failed to support her, notwithstanding that he had left her. On the charge of counterfeiting he was bound over to common pleas court. The case was submitted by the prosecuting attorney to the grand jury, but that body failed to find a true bill against the man and the matter was supposed to be dropped.

The United States authorities have been working on it since and as a result McGillivray will be tried on the serious charge. He was arraigned before Commissioner Edward R. Meyer, at Zanesville, and pleading not guilty was remanded to jail.

The case was worked up by Detectives M. P. Dolan, of Cincinnati, and Peter B. Dyke, of Cleveland, of the United States secret service. The affidavit in which the charges was made was filed before Joseph L. Adler, United States commissioner for the southern district of Ohio, by M. P. Dolan, and the accused is charged with counterfeiting 50 United States coins. The coins were nickels, although it is not so specified in the affidavit. McGillivray is charged, both with making counterfeit coins and molds for counterfeiting.

MUST BE AN ACCOUNTING O'HANLON'S DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST EAST LIVERPOOL

Court Holds That a Partnership Exists Between Salineville Mine Owners.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—The case of John F. Collins vs. James Strabley regarding the profits in the Salineville coal mines, which are said by the plaintiff to have been operated jointly, was tried yesterday. The court held that there had been a partnership between the litigants and that there should be an accounting, but the matter was passed for further testimony as to the accounting.

Foreclosure Proceedings.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—The First National bank, of Niles, has begun foreclosure proceedings against Zell S. Tower and Anna Tower, on two promissory notes for $50 and $52, respectively, secured by mortgages on lots in Leetonia. John A. Floding who claims some interest in the real estate is made a party defendant. Senator Connell is the plaintiff's attorney.

Andrew Donally.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—Andrew Donally, aged about 50 and unmarried, died of pneumonia last night at his home, two miles north of Lisbon. He was the last of the Donally family, an only surviving sister with whom he lived, having died about a year ago.

Case of Much Interest to This City Is On Trial at Lisbon Today.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—The case of David O'Hanlon vs. the City of East Liverpool is being heard in common pleas court today. The plaintiff says he is the owner of three lots fronting 90 feet on Lisbon street East Liverpool and that in changing the thoroughfare between Eighth street and the north limit, the city authorities took possession of a strip of his premises and by reason of grading the street, which was cut down about 19 feet at that point his lot has been made inaccessible and otherwise damaged to the amount of $1,500. He also asks the recovery of the strip appropriated by the city.

A large number of witnesses are here to testify in the case. Attorney Walter B. Hill, of East Liverpool, and W. F. Jones, of Wellsview, represents the plaintiff and W. K. Gaston and A. H. Clark, represent the city.

Appointed Administrator.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—George H. Owen has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Willis H. Kinsey, of Liverpool township, under bond of $2,000. James Hillbert, George E. Davidson and Frank Coxall are the appraisers.

WARM DEBATE ENLIVENED PROCEEDINGS OF COUNCIL

CONTRACT LET FOR NEW ENGINE HOUSE

The city council last evening held only a short session, but there were few present that will ever forget it. Hot shots were sent whizzing from all quarters of the little room and the chairman's gavel had very little effect toward silencing the members in their feigned anger.

One old member, being of the number that will have served his last on or about the first of May, when a proposition favored by himself and several others was finally turned down, made the haughty retort:

"This question should have been presented to council at the last meeting. It would have been passed unanimously then. There were enough candidates represented in the body to insure the passage of anything."

Another member daringly apprised a brother councilman of the fact that he knew absolutely nothing and the latter, though nearly twice the weight of his accuser, allowed it to be understood so. Taking the session from beginning to end an opportunity seemed to be grasped to dispose of soreness, a chance which they all appeared to realize will not be theirs for a great period of time. However, the honorable body succeeded in transacting some business of grave importance to the city in general and residents of the city cannot help feeling grateful to the members for the wise discretion displayed.

Following the customary preliminaries, Clerk Davidson reported that he had in his possession bids for the erecting of the new McKinnon addition fire station, recommended at a recent meeting by a committee appointed to consider the matter. The bidders for the contract, which is to conform in every detail with the plans and specifications of the city engineer, were: S. G. Miller, $2,575; J. C. McLean, $2,658; Harvey McHenry, $2,672; J. C. Cain & Co., $2,645. The latter was awarded the contract, but until Mr. Peach succeeded in having a motion passed ordering the clerk and mayor to give the city's obligation, for the amount and have it placed in the treasury for the specified purpose, Mr. Peach stated that the body had passed upon similar propositions too many times when the money was not in the treasury, and that he was positively against that way of doing business, especially when it is lawful.

According to the blue print given for inspection, the building, considering its cheapness, will be one of the most substantial obtainable, and a pride to the city. It is to be located at the southwest corner of McKinnon avenue and Calcutta road. The outside dimensions will be 30x50 feet. There will be two stories, the first to be of brick and 14 feet high and the second to be covered with mansard slating and 9 feet high. The ground floor on the interior will be 27x47 feet. The stable to consist of two large stalls, will be 16 feet in length and will be situated at the rear of the building. The front part will be partitioned off in a manner allowing 27 feet for a truck room. This room will be plastered and frescoed.

The second story will be used as a sleeping apartment and a hay loft. The latter will be 16 feet in length and will hold sufficient feed for the horses, and then there will be room for other necessities. The sleeping apartment will be fitted up in elegant style. It will be roomy, contain wardrobes and numerous other conveniences. Red brick with white mortar will give the outside a pleasing appearance and the entire building will be up-to-date in every particular. Just when the contractors will begin work on the contract is not known, but they will not delay it long. If the weather permits they will likely start as soon as the material can be obtained.

Mr. Peach, chairman of the committee appointed to investigate the claim of Thomas Chadwick, reported that the property which is located at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Grant street had been seriously damaged by the grading of the streets and thought that council should take immediate steps to repair it. The members, all being familiar with the conditions, spoke in favor of the repairing and when the bids were submitted for the work quickly accepted that of B. F. Hinton, the lowest bidder. His bid was as follows: Rubble wall, per perch, $1, steps, per foot, 85 cents; excavation, per yard, 50 cents.

When Mr. Peach made the statement that he thought council should pay Thomas Lownds for the damage done his property during the flood several years ago there was a wrangle of 30 minutes, and as in numerous instances before, the appeal was turned down. The bill of Mr. Lownds was presented at the same time that two others were paid, but his was left over owing to the fact that he had an attorney fee of $25 attached. He was given to understand that if he would eliminate that item he would receive damages and did accordingly. McConnell made a motion that he be paid $100, and though the motion received a speedy second it was lost by a vote of 4 for and 4 against.

Thomas McKeever, of the Lisbon road, was present and wanted council to take some action on the damage done his property by the landslide which occurred a few weeks ago. Every member of the body was well aware of the extent of the damages, and the street committee was empowered to act on the matter. It will have the damage repaired at once.

Two notes, one on Summit lane, amounting to $1,052.15, and the other on Sugar alley for $887.38, were ordered renewed, and after the clerk was instructed to prepare a bond issue and advertise for the sale of the bonds on the several streets where the assessment ordinance had been passed during the past year, council adjourned.

DEATH STARED HIM IN THE FACE

CLOSE CALL FOR BRICK WORKS SUPERINTENDENT.

Caught By Machinery in the Pit And Struck on Head By Flying Missile.

While working in a pit at the East Liverpool Brick works, Supt. W. N. Glass had an exciting experience and narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon as the result of permitting a young man not familiar with the workings of a certain machine a trial at manipulating it.

Milton Tyndall had been employed by him and having shown more than ordinary skill for a green hand was entrusted with the machine and for some time had worked it without trouble. Forgetting the likelihood of the young man accidentally making a blunder, Mr. Glass descended into the pit and was in the act of performing some work when the heavy cogs were suddenly thrown out of gear, by the dropping of a piece of lead between them, simultaneously firmly clutching his coat sleeve. Death staring him in the face and while cold perspiration poured from his body, applying all of his strength he made a terrible plunge, and to that only can be credited his escape. The strenuous effort resulted in the tearing of his sleeve and his liberation.

One of the pieces of the machinery flying in the air struck him with great force on the head, knocking him violently to the ground. In a short time he recovered from the blow and the effect of the trying ordeal and today was none the worse.

NEXT CONVENTION FOR EAST LIVERPOOL

Local Delegates Expect to Have the State Y. M. C. A. Annual Meeting Held Here.

A. H. Bulger, W. A. Weaver, Wilson Smith, M. C. Wright and probably D. M. Ogilvie, leave tomorrow morning for Columbus, to attend the bi-annual session of the business men's conference of the State Y. M. C. A. It is the intention of the delegates to secure pledges to have the state convention of the association held in this city next year in February.

The delegates will probably return on Friday, except Secretary Wright, who will remain to attend a meeting of general secretaries and physical directors, on Saturday, where he will read a paper.

The East Liverpool Amateur Photo club gave another very pleasant social session last evening. The function was in the nature of a smoker and the guests were limited to the members of the club. Another stereopticon exhibition was given, most of the views being reproductions of pictures taken by members of the club. Tempting refreshments were served.

Chapter to Entertain.

East Liverpool chapter No. 100, R. A. M., will entertain the Masonic bodies of this city Friday evening. A musical and literary program is being arranged and refreshments will be served.

CHRIS BICK QUILTS THE RACE FOR NOMINATION FOR SHERIFF

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—Chris A. Bick has withdrawn from the race for the Republican nomination for sheriff and the following letter, given out this morning by County Chairman Jno. S. McNutt, will be a surprise to politicians generally throughout the county:

"John S. McNutt, chairman Republican county executive committee.

"Dear Sir:—After several week's hard canvassing for the nomination of sheriff and after consulting my friends in a number of townships, I find it impossible for me to secure the nomination without a large expense. While

Willing to Establish Up-Town Freight Depot and Build an East End Station.

PRACTICALLY ALL DEMANDS

Made By the Railroad Committee of Council Assented to By Supt. Scriven, of the C. & P.—Harmonious Conference Last Evening.

The C. & P. Railroad company has practically acceded to every request asked by the committee of council appointed to confer with it on the proposition to allow the company the right of way through the city for the laying of two additional tracks, notwithstanding no tracks will be laid in the city limits for several weeks and possibly several months.

Supt. Scriven, accompanied by Attorney Carey, of Salem, and several other railroad officials, appeared before the city fathers last evening, and to the surprise of all Mr. Scriven, when given the floor, read the demands carefully and stated that the company had pondered over them, finally coming to the decision that they must and should be granted. The members had been anticipating a revolt, and were not prepared to take action and fearful of some rash step being taken, the report was referred to the railroad committee.

Supt. Scriven addressed the members as follows: "Last summer the C. & P. company made application for permission to construct two additional tracks in the city. Several times have the committees of the city and company met, and at the last conference the company was given a list of demands that the city had concluded must be granted. The company, after careful consideration, has decided to accede, with but very few exceptions. We have gates at all but five of these streets and would suggest that gates be placed at two of these five, the streets to be named by council.

"No. 3—That crossings be maintained at all points where streets and alleys cross the railroad tracks. We will maintain crossings where all streets now cross the tracks, but do not think that we should be asked to provide for the future at this time.

"No. 4—That Ralston's crossing be abandoned and the crossing placed under the culvert at that point. We will agree to this proposition and also continue St. George street to the crossing.

"No. 5—That a suitable brick station be erected and maintained in the East End to accommodate passengers and freight. We will agree to this proposition and the station will be built on the property we have acquired from the Puritan Land company.

"No. 6—That the railroad company make satisfactory arrangements with the private property owners whose land they will have to have to widen the tracks. This has already been done.

"No. 7—That the company proceed at once to pave the yards, both upper and lower, where they abut on paved streets. This includes the lower yards from Second street to Thompson's pottery. We have already ordered this work done. It will be done as soon as the weather permits."

The blue print of the plans was submitted for inspection and very few objections were made. In regard to erecting a passenger station in the East End, Mr. Scriven said that it had been the intention of the company to construct a frame building, but as the people wanted a brick one, one that will stand for years, the company had decided to build one to suit the people. The plaintiff says he is the owner of three lots fronting 90 feet on Lisbon street East Liverpool and that in chinking the thoroughfare between Eighth street and the north limit, the city authorities took possession of a strip of his premises and by reason of grading the street, which was cut down about 13 feet at that point his lot has been made inaccessible and otherwise damaged to the amount of $1,500. He also asks the recovery of the strip appropriated by the city.

A large number of witnesses are here to testify in the case. Attorney Walter B. Hill, of East Liverpool, and W. F. Lones, of Wellsville, represents the plaintiff and W. K. Gaston and A. H. Clark, represent the city.

Appointed Administrator.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—George H. Owen has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Willis H. Kinsey, of Liverpool township, under bond of $2,000. James Hilbert, George E. Davidson and Frank Crossall are the appraisers.

A WOMAN BEATEN

Rendered Unconscious by a Man's Blow She Afterward Has Him Arrested and Arraigned.

Having suffered a terrible beating at the hands of one who, upon previous occasions, had always treated her in a most courteous manner, Miss Emma Reed, of Third street, appeared in the court of Squire Daniel McLane Monday evening and had a warrant issued for the arrest of Benjamin Wyand. The papers were placed in the hands of Constable Powell yesterday afternoon and last evening Wyand was arraigned before the justice. To a charge of unlawfully striking, assaulting and threatening he pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs. Unable to produce the amount he was released on his own recognizance.

Miss Reed, in filing her affidavit, stated that Wyand called at her home on Sunday afternoon and for a short time everything went lovely, but for some unknown reason he became hilarious and wanted to clean the house or start an Indian war dance, presumably, states the justice, in celebration of Washington's birthday.

The actions of the man finally became so outrageous that Miss Reed ordered him to vacate the premises. Her rebuke was more than he could stand and in a cowardly manner struck her an awful blow under the left ear.

With a groan she sank to the floor unconscious and remained in that state for fully 20 minutes before restoratives had any effect. During the remainder of the day she suffered intensely, and it was thought that the injury would prove very serious. However, on the following morning, she had recovered and then made up her mind to have the man pay for his barbarous treatment.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

DISPUTE AT NEW CASTLE.

Robert Heap, manager of the New Castle China works, was in the city yesterday in conference with National President Hughes, concerning a dispute which has arisen between the kilnmen and the owners of the plant.

Where girls were formerly employed to flint the ware two experienced flinters from England have been employed. They do all the flinting in the kilnshed, the kilnmen carrying the saggers to the kiln. The trouble is a difference of opinion between the men and Manager Heap over the price that shall be paid for this sort of placing. The manager has offered the men 31 1/2 days and the workmen insist that it is not enough. Just what the outcome of the difficulty will be cannot be stated at this time.

WILL BUILD A THEATER.

Rumors which have been floating around Cohobon for several months to the effect that the Park hotel is to be changed ownership have been practically verified by T. C. Rittenhouse, the present owner. The project is to remodel and erect a handsome modern theater in connection with it on the lot in the rear. A large arcade or foyer is to lead through the entire building, something after the style of all modern theaters. Samuel Weller, of Zanesville, the millionaire potter, is the promoter. Mr. Weller already owns a handsome opera house and hotel in Zanesville, and if he decides to take hold of the proposition its success is assured.

A BUSINESS CHANGE.

J. E. Ferrall, who has been manager of the Potters' Protective association, a financial and collection agency which serves the pottery and glass manufacturers, has disposed of his interest to W. A. Tebbutt and Walter B. Hill. The latter will become the manager of the concern and the offices will be moved at once to W. B. Hill's law office on Broadway. The quarters in the post office building now occupied by the concern will be taken by the executive committee of the United States Potters' association, now located in the rooms of the Potters' club.

NOW INCORPORATED.

The Standard Fire Brick company, capital $100,000, organized under the laws of New Jersey, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, has qualified to do business in Ohio. Empire is headquarters in this state. Twenty thousand dollars of the capital will be used at Empire and Irondale. The property of the company outside this state is valued at $80,000. B. H. Taylor is president and H. W. McAttee secretary, both of Pittsburgh; Fred G. Porter, of Empire, is general manager.

KNOWLES PLANT BUSY.

T. V. Anderson, of the E. M. Knowles China company, said today: "It is a mistake to assume that our pottery is not busy. We are running full, and have been since the first of the year. The only embarrassment we have had was to secure enough workmen. The outlook has seldom been more favorable."

NO. 12 MET.

Jiggermen's local No. 12 held its regular meeting last night which was largely attended. Nominations were made for delegates to the coming national convention to be held at Wheeling in May. The local is entitled to six delegates and a full representation will be sent. Quite a number of names were placed in nomination.

MOULDMAKER ENGAGED.

John Monroe, of New Castle, has been engaged by the Cameron Pottery company as one of its mouldmakers and will begin his duties as soon as this part of the building is ready for occupancy. At present he is visiting friends in Sebring.

WILL SEEK HEALTH.

J. B. Ward, presser at the French, Sebring, has been a constant sufferer from rheumatism for some time past, and is thinking of taking a visit to the mineral springs at Mt. Clemens, Mich., in the hope of its proving beneficial.

CUT HIS THUMB.

Theodore Bruegel, jiggerman at the French, Sebring, accidentally cut his thumb severely with the tool and will consequently be off duty for several days.

AMONG THE WORKMEN.

Harry Boehmer, jumbo jiggerman at the French, Sebring, is among the sick. Clifford McKay, batter-out at the Sebring, spent Sunday with friends in this city.

John Graham, dipper at the Oliver, Sebring, is confined to his home there with sickness.

Robert Pringle, Robert Roach and

Edward Price, three well known Wellsville operatives, have accepted positions as kilnmen at the Oliver, Sebring.

LENTEN SERVICES

Which will be Impressively Observed from the Present Until Easter.

The Lenten services began today in St. Stephen's church. The order of the services will be as follows:

Sunday—7:30 a. m., holy communion; 11 a. m., morning service and sermon; 7:30 p. m., choral service and sermon.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday—7:30 p. m., choral service and sermon; Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday—10:30 a. m., morning prayer and address.

Ash Wednesday—10:30 a. m., holy communion and penitential office; 7:30 p. m., evening service and sermon.

Holy Week—Each day at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Good Friday—10:30 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Easter Sunday—6 a. m., sunrise communion; 10:30 a. m., morning service and holy communion; 3 p. m., children's Easter exercises; 8 p. m., choral evensong.

Confirmation classes Wednesday and Sunday after evening services.

The Lenten services will begin today at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church and will be impressively observed until after Easter. The first service will be this evening at 8 o'clock.

GREAT REVIVAL

IN PROGRESS

A Connellsville Paper Tells of the Excellent Work Being Done By Rev. W. H. Gladden.

Rev. W. H. Gladden, late pastor of the First M. P. church in this city, is certainly prospering, and doing the excellent work for which he is noted, in his present field of labor. The Connellsville Daily Courier says:

"Sunday, February 22, 1903, will be remembered for a long time by the congregation of the First Methodist Protestant church, Apple street, and Rev. W. H. Gladden, pastor, for it was a religious storm center throughout the day. Large congregations attended every service, the evening audience being especially large. During the day 36 persons confessed their Savior ranging in age from 10 years to 75 years. Thirty were received into the fellowship of the church and there were postscript scenes about the altar which have rarely been witnessed in Connellsville. Rev. Mr. Gladden is planning for still larger results, and a great week is before these people."

In a personal note to the editor Mr. Gladden sends regards to everybody in East Liverpool and adds: "Congratulations upon the splendid growth of the News Review, and also to Chief Thompson upon his nomination for mayor."

Veteran Dead.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Col. James Madison Cutts, who for 21 years has been employed in the war department, died here last night. He served as captain of the 11th infantry in the civil war, and on General Burnside's staff. He was twice breveted for gallant and meritorious conduct and received from congress a medal of honor.

TO WORKING GIRLS

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE
Every working girl who is not well is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice; it is freely given, and has restored thousands to health.

Miss Paine's Experience.

"I want to thank you for what you have done for me, and recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all girls whose work keeps them standing on their feet in the store. The doctor said I must stop work; he did not seem to realize that a girl cannot afford to stop working. My back ached, my appetite was poor, I could not sleep, and menstruation was scanty and very painful. One day when suffering I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and found that it helped me. I continued its use, and soon found that my menstrual periods were free from pain and natural; everyone is surprised at the change in me, and I am well, and cannot be too grateful for what you have done for me."—Miss JANET PAINE, 350 West 125th St., New York City. —$500 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Take no substitute, for it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that cures.

SCARCITY OF HOUSES

STILL CONTINUES

Building Operations the Coming Season Promise to Afford Some Relief.

The scarcity of houses in this city still continues. Notwithstanding the fact that in the past year several hundred new dwellings were erected in the city it is almost an impossibility to secure a desirable location for rent. The greater part of the new dwellings have been built in the East End. The great number of new homes built in Chester would also have a tendency to meet the demand, but still it is greater than the supply. It is expected that the coming year will witness the erection of more new dwellings than ever before in an equal period in the history of the city. Last season at least 200 houses were built in the East End and easily that number were completed in Chester.

At the present time the contractors have more work engaged in Chester than they did during the entire season passed. It is thought that within a year houses will be so numerous that no one will find great difficulty in finding locations, and that the present high rents will be reduced considerably.

No Settlement in Sight.

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 25.—Further conferences were held yesterday between the officers of the Santa Fe and the trainmen, but no settlement of the wage problem was made. It is reported that the company announced that it is willing to grant an advance of 15 per cent in the wages of conductors and trainmen. This was refused by the men, who insist on a 20 per cent increase. After the difference shall be settled here it is the plan of the national officers of the trainmen's organization to confer with the Denver and Rio Grande management to obtain an increase in wages there.

WEIGH YOURSELF BEFORE USING

Weigh yourself before commencing to use Mi-o-na, the great flesh-forming food. The wonderful safe of this preparation since first introduced in East Liverpool and the remarkable results following its use, have made Will Reed such an enthusiastic believer in the great value of Mi-o-na that he gives his personal guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na will not make thin people fat, cure indigestion and restore health.

This is a strong guarantee, but Druggist Will Reed has seen so many of his customers who a few weeks ago looked like walking skeletons, become plump and well, solely through the use of Mi-o-na that he feels he cannot say too much to induce people to try it. This marvelous flesh-forming food is assimilated as soon as it is taken into the stomach, makes good, rich blood, tones up the weakened digestive organs, helps the food to digest and makes permanent cures in the worst cases of indigestion.

REALM OF SPORTS

SEBRING TO HAVE A WRESTLING MATCH

Albert Reibe, a Jiggerman, to Have a Go With Mont Caris, of Alliance.

Sebring does not lack in the way of sports and athletic amusements, says the Sebring News. It has its base ball team, its football team and bowling teams, and no organized lot of boys enjoy themselves to any greater extent than they, when in an earnest contest for supremacy over a friendly competitor, on the diamond, gridiron or alley.

The season has gone for the former and by the way of diversion from the latter, a wrestling match has been arranged. The participants in this are Albert Reibe, a jiggerman at the Sebring, and Mont Caris, of Alliance. Albert believes that Mont will have to go down, while on the other hand Mont holds an altogether different view of the matter and thinks himself a trifle better than he is given credit for being. However that may be, we are soon going to find out, and the contest is going to be an interesting one. Just where it is going to occur has not yet been decided, but it is believed it will take place in Sebring. Following is a verbatim copy of the contract:

Feb. 17, 1903.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to wrestle, catch as catch can, barring all strangle holds, full Nelson and flying falls, to be held on Wednesday, March 25, 1903. Winner to take all of purse.

Referee, Chas. Bates. Mont Caris is to throw Albert Reibe, three (3) times in 1 hour; 3 points down.

MONT CARIS, ALBERT REIBE.

LISBON HORSES

A Number of Good Ones Owned There Some With Fine Turt Records.

Horse matters at Lisbon are very brisk and a lively season is anticipated. L. J. Bolton has one of the best mares in town in a chestnut by George Steese 2:21 1/4, dam by Allie Wilkes 2:15. She has been several miles in 2:29 and in the hands of an amateur.

Sheriff Leonard has a good pacer by L. C. Martin that worked miles in 2:25 last fall, and will be raced this year. R. W. Taylor exchanged the trotting mare Grace Napoleon 2:14 1/4, for a high-class coach horse recently. Commonwealth 2:18 1/4, pacing, 2:23 1/4, trotting, had his leg broken a few days ago by being kicked, and it became necessary to kill him.

T. V. Gaskill formerly in the horse business in Lisbon, is now engaged in gold mining in Alaska, and says that when he strikes it rich he will invest in a nice stock farm and a string of fast ones.

Chas. McClain's mare, Maud O., raced good last year, and should take a fast record this season.

TREATING A COBRA WITH BROKEN JAW

Dangerous Operation Was Successfully Performed While Serpent Was Sleeping.

Under skillful treatment at the New York Zoological Gardens in Bronx Park, a deadly cobra which recently broke his jaw in a fit of violent rage, is on the road to recovery.

The dressing on the head has been renewed with difficulty. As the reptile's sting is death, the application of a dressing is most perilous. The cobra was slumbering when Curator Ditmars cautiously opening the big door, thrust in a long wooden pole with two prongs. Pressing this down on the cobra's head he held it a prisoner until Keeper Snyder got inside. The reptile, now thoroughly aroused, agitated its tail frantically, but Snyder held its head firmly to the floor while Ditmars removed the old dressing and replaced it with a new one. The operation took ten minutes. As the two men slipped away and slammed the doors the reptile made a vicious lunge towards them.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

In the bowling contest at Indianapolis, Seaburg, of the Columbians, rolled a 22-pound ball.

Zacharias E. Simmons, aged seventy-eight years, died at Lexington, Ky. He was the original owner of George Wilkes and was noted as a breeder of trotting horses.

John W. Gates, the Chicago stock speculator, will likely try his hand at the racing game. He has been associated for a number of years with John A. Drake, the Chicago turfman.

Tom Jenkins, the ex-champion wrestler of America, and McLeod, the present champion, are again matched to meet on the mat for the championship. The match may take place in Cleveland.

Bill Bradley, third baseman of the Cleveland, has been granted a leave of absence, and will not leave with the team. He is going to work hard the coming primaries for one of his old-time ball players, Andrew Kelly, who is a candidate for councilmanic honors.

How To Tell A Swindle.

If a man tells you he can make 25 per cent out of your money for you and don't tell you how, set it down as a swindle. If he offers you something for nothing, set it down as a swindle. If he tells you he can cure you of disease, and don't tell you how, set it down as a swindle. If you will exercise your own judgment, your own reason—just use a little common sense at all times, it is the safest guide. We tell you Life Plant cures rheumatism, Eczema, Catarrh, Asthma, Scrofula and all blood diseases, and we tell you why. It does it because it purifies the blood, drives out the impurities and thus removes the cause of disease. There is no other way. Now that's common sense. The blood is the life. Keep the blood pure, full of life, and the whole system will be renewed with new energy. Read this. It tells what Life Plant will do. It's from your neighbor:

Mr. J. C. Luken, of Tippecanoe, Ohio, says: "I have been greatly relieved of Nervousness, stomach and kidney trouble by the use of Life Plant. As a family medicine to keep the blood in order and tone up the system and prevent sickness, I think it stands at the head of the list."

Life Plant Renew's Life. An excellent tonic for the aged. It keeps the blood young, and insures a healthy and ripe old age. A whole month's treatment for $1.00.

Rev. W. H. Gladden, late pastor of the First M. P. church in this city, is certainly prospering, and doing the excellent work for which he is noted, in his present field of labor. The Connellsville Daily Courier says:

"Sunday, February 22, 1903, will be remembered for a long time by the congregation of the First Methodist Protestant church, Apple street, and Rev. W. H. Gladden, pastor, for it was a religious storm center throughout the day. Large congregations attended every service, the evening audience being especially large. During the day 36 persons confessed their Savior ranging in age from 10 years to 75 years. Thirty were received into the fellowship of the church and there were pentecostal scenes about the altar which have rarely been witnessed in Connellsville. Rev. Mr. Gladden is planning for still larger results, and a great week is before these people."

In a personal note to the editor Mr. Gladden sends regards to everybody in East Liverpool and adds: "Congratulations upon the splendid growth of the News Review, and also to Chief Thompson upon his nomination for mayor."

UNCLAIMED LETTERS

Veteran Dead.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Col. James Madison Cutts, who for 21 years has been employed in the war department, died here last night. He served as captain of the 11th infantry in the civil war, and on General Burnside's staff. He was twice breveted for gallant and meritorious conduct and received from congress a medal of honor.

TO WORKING GIRLS

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE
Every working girl who is not well is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice; it is freely given, and has restored thousands to health.

Miss Paine's Experience.

"I want to thank you for what you have done for me, and recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all girls whose work keeps them standing on their feet in the store. The doctor said I must stop work; he did not seem to realize that a girl cannot afford to stop working. My back ached, my appetite was poor, I could not sleep, and menstruation was scanty and very painful. One day when suffering I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and found that it helped me. I continued its use, and soon found that my menstrual periods were free from pain and natural; everyone is surprised at the change in me, and I am well, and cannot be too grateful for what you have done for me."—Miss JANET PAINE, 530 West 125th St., New York City. — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Take no substitute, for it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that cures.

SCARCITY OF HOUSES STILL CONTINUES

Building Operations the Coming Season Promise to Afford Some Relief.

The scarcity of houses in this city still continues. Notwithstanding the fact that in the past year several hundred new dwellings were erected in the city it is almost an impossibility to secure a desirable location for rent. The greater part of the new dwellings have been built in the East End. The great number of new homes built in Chester would also have a tendency to meet the demand, but still it is greater than the supply. It is expected that the coming year will witness the erection of more new dwellings than ever before in an equal period in the history of the city. Last season at least 200 houses were built in the East End and easily that number were completed in Chester.

At the present time the contractors have more work engaged in Chester than they did during the entire season passed. It is thought that within a year houses will be so numerous that no one will find great difficulty in finding locations, and that the present high rents will be reduced considerably.

No Settlement in Sight.

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 25.—Further conferences were held yesterday between the officers of the Santa Fe and the trainmen, but no settlement of the wage problem was made. It is reported that the company announced that it is willing to grant an advance of 15 per cent in the wages of conductors and trainmen. This was refused by the men, who insist on a 20 per cent increase. After the difference shall be settled here it is the plan of the national officers of the trainmen's organization to confer with the Denver and Rio Grande management to obtain an increase in wages there.

WEIGH YOURSELF BEFORE USING

Weigh yourself before commencing to use Mi-o-na, the great flesh-forming food. The wonderful safe of this preparation since first introduced in East Liverpool and the remarkable results following its use, have made Will Reed such an enthusiastic believer in the great value of Mi-o-na that he gives his personal guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na will not make thin people fat, cure indigestion and restore health.

This is a strong guarantee, but Druggist Will Reed has seen so many of his customers who a few weeks ago looked like walking skeletons, become plump and well, solely through the use of Mi-o-na that he feels he cannot say too much to induce people to try it.

This marvelous flesh-forming food is assimilated as soon as it is taken into the stomach, makes good, rich blood, tones up the weakened digestive organs, helps the food to digest and makes permanent cures in the worst cases of indigestion.

REALM OF SPORTS

SEBRING TO HAVE A WRESTLING MATCH

Albert Reibe, a Jiggerman, to Have a Go With Mont Caris, of Alliance.

Sebring does not lack in the way of sports and athletic amusements, says the Sebring News. It has its base ball team, its football team and bowling teams, and no organized lot of boys enjoy themselves to any greater extent than they, when in an earnest contest for supremacy over a friendly competitor, on the diamond, gridiron or alley.

The season has gone for the former and by the way of diversion from the latter, a wrestling match has been arranged. The participants in this are Albert Reibe, a jiggerman at the Sebring, and Mont Caris, of Alliance. Albert believes that Mont will have to go down, while on the other hand Mont holds an altogether different view of the matter and thinks himself a trifle better than he is given credit for being. However that may be, we are soon going to find out, and the contest is going to be an interesting one. Just where it is going to occur has not yet been decided, but it is believed it will take place in Sebring. Following is a verbatim copy of the contract:

Feb. 17, 1903.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to wrestle, catch as catch can, barring all straddle holds, full Nelson and flying falls, to be held on Wednesday, March 25, 1903. Winner to take all of purse.

Referee, Chas. Bates.
Mont Caris is to throw Albert Reibe, three (3) times in 1 hour; 3 points down.

MONT CARIS,
ALBERT REIBE.

LISBON HORSES

A Number of Good Ones Owned There Some With Fine Turf Records.

Horse matters at Lisbon are very brisk and a lively season is anticipated. L. J. Bolton has one of the best mares in town in a chestnut by George Steese 2:21¼, dam by Allie Wilkes 2:15. She has been several miles in 2:20 and in the hands of an amateur.

Sheriff Leonard has a good pacer by L. C. Martin that worked miles in 2:25 last fall, and will be raced this year. R. W. Taylor exchanged the trotting mare Grace Napoleon 2:14¼, for a high-class coach horse recently. Commonwealth 2:18½, pacing, 2:23¼, trotting, had his leg broken a few days ago by being kicked, and it became necessary to kill him.

U. V. Gaskill formerly in the horse business in Lisbon, is now engaged in gold mining in Alaska, and says that when he strikes it rich he will invest in a nice stock farm and a string of fast ones.

Chas. McClain's mare, Maud O., raced good last year, and should take a fast record this season.

TREATING A COBRA WITH BROKEN JAW

Dangerous Operation Was Successfully Performed While Serpent Was Sleeping.

Under skillful treatment at the New York Zoological Gardens in Bronx Park, a deadly cobra which recently broke his jaw in a fit of violent rage, is on the road to recovery.

The dressing on the head has been renewed with difficulty. As the reptile's sting is death, the application of a dressing is most perilous. The cobra was slumbering when Curator Ditmars cautiously opening the big door, thrust in a long wooden pole with two prongs. Pressing this down on the cobra's head he held it a prisoner until Keeper Snyder got inside. The reptile, now thoroughly aroused, agitated its tail frantically, but Snyder held its head firmly to the floor while Ditmars removed the old dressing and replaced it with a new one. The operation took ten minutes. As the two men slipped away and slammed the doors the reptile made a vicious lunge towards them.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

In the bowling contest at Infilapopolis, Seaburg, of the Columbians, rolled a 22-pound ball.

Zacharias E. Simmons, aged seventy-eight years, died at Lexington, Ky. He was the original owner of George Wilkes and was noted as a breeder of trotting horses.

John W. Gates, the Chicago stock speculator, will likely try his hand at the racing game. He has been associated for a number of years with John A. Drake, the Chicago turfman.

Tom Jenkins, the ex-champion wrestler of America, and McLeod, the present champion, are again matched to meet on the mat for the championship. The match may take place in Cleveland.

Bill Bradley, third baseman of the Cleveland, has been granted a leave of absence, and will not leave with the team. He is going to work hard the coming primaries for one of his old-time ball players, Andrew Kelly, who is a candidate for councilmanic honors.

How To Tell A Swindle.

If a man tells you he can make 25 per cent out of your money for you and don't tell you how, set it down as a swindle. If he offers you something for nothing, set it down as a swindle. If he tells you he can cure you of disease, and don't tell you how, set it down as a swindle. If you will exercise your own judgment, your own reason—just use a little common sense at all times, it is the safest guide. We tell you Life Plant cures Rheumatism, Eczema, Catarrh, Asthma, Scrofula and all blood diseases, and we tell you why. It does it because it purifies the blood, drives out the impurities and thus removes the cause of disease. There is no other way. Now that's common sense. The blood is the Life. Keep the blood pure, full of life, and the whole system will be renewed with new energy. Read this. It tells what Life Plant will do. It's from your neighbor:

Mr. J. C. Lukens, of Tippecanoe, Ohio, says: "I have been greatly relieved of Nervousness, Stomach and Kidney trouble by the use of Life Plant. As a family medicine to keep the blood in order and tone up the system and prevent sickness, I think it stands at the head of the list."

Tippecanoe, March 1st, 1903.

CATARRH THIRTY YEARS.

The Remarkable Experience of a Prominent Statesman—Congressman Meekison Gives Peru-na a High Endorsement.

Congressman Meekison of Ohio.

Hon. David Meekison is well known not only in his own State, but throughout America. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress by a very large majority, and is the acknowledged leader of his party in his section of the State.

Only one flaw marred the otherwise complete success of this rising statesman. Catarrh with its insidious approach and tenacious grasp, was his only unconquered foe. For thirty years he waged unsuccessful warfare against this personal enemy. At last Peru-na came to the rescue. He writes:

"I have used several bottles of Peru-na and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison, Member of Congress.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

A SINGULAR CASE IN DIVORCE COURT

Man Who Has Two Wives Living and One Dead Is the Defendant.

WIFEGOT WIDOW'S PENSION

Representing Her Husband as Dead. He Proved Himself Alive And Gave Her Money With Which to Institute Divorce Proceedings.

Alliance, Feb. 25.—The filing of a divorce case at Troy, O., in which James S. Reamer, of Alliance, is made the defendant, disclosed the fact that Reamer is living with his third wife at Alliance, while wife No. 1 is living at Piqua, Miami county.

The summons in the divorce case and a copy of the petition was received at the sheriff's office in Canton Saturday and Monday morning was served by Deputy Crabaugh. The only charge in the petition is that the husband has been wilfully absent for more than 20 years. When the summons was served, Reamer refused to discuss the situation, but later when confronted by a newspaper man he told a remarkable story.

Twenty-one years ago he left his wife for reasons best known to themselves. They had been married two or three years and had one child. After their separation a second was born, of which the wife asks custody. He is a son 19 years old.

Reamer had applied for divorce after their separation and claims that he had paid his money to a lawyer and thought he had secured the decree. He went to Kent and about 18 years ago married a wife there, with whom he lived for several years until her death. Three sons were born, who are living with the father at Alliance.

After wife No. 2 had died he went to Alliance and married Bessie Miller and they have a daughter 5 years old, and live happily together in spite of the fact that the husband is 65 years old and the wife but 25.

The first intimation that Reamer had that anything was wrong was when he learned that his wife had represented to the pension authorities that he was dead and that seven years ago she had been granted a widow's pension with $2,000 back pay. Knowing that this would interfere with his pension chances he went to see her and accused her of wilfully misrepresenting the facts in order to secure money from the government. She insisted that she had not heard from him for so many years that she thought he was dead.

Wife No. 1 then informed him that he had never been divorced and an examination of the records showed this to be true. He gave her $200 with which to pay the costs of a divorce case and the suit was the outgrowth of this agreement.

Reamer stated that as soon as the wife secured this divorce he would have the marriage ceremony performed again between him and Bessie Miller. He insists that he has done nothing wrong willingly, as he thought he had been divorced. As evidence of this he points to the fact that he always went under his true name and never attempted any deception.

Reamer and his present wife feel keenly the embarrassment of the situation, but propose to remain true to each other and remarry as soon as the legal impediments are removed by the divorce courts.

Reamer is a sewing machine agent and has a small notion store in Alliance and has always been considered a reputable man.

Hoisted American Flag.

Panama, Feb. 25.—On the occasion of the celebration of Washington's birthday, General Sarria, commander of the Colombian forces on the isthmus, sent United States Consul General Gudgeon a copy of the general order of February 22 in which the general expressed the admiration which Colombia has for "the great republic, the leader of progress and liberty." In addition the American flag was hoisted at the headquarters of the general staff and at all the military posts, while at night a regimental band serenaded Mr. Gudgeon, who held a reception which was attended by the governor and other high civil and military officials.

EAST END

GOOD PROGRESS MADE

On Grading Work for C. & P. Double Track—Complaints of Cruelty to Horses.

The grading work still continues on the C. & P. double track in the East End. Considerable complaint is again heard about the treatment given the horses by the teamsters employed in this work. This morning the ground was frozen and but few of the teams were rough shod. Several were noticed to fall at different times, and some of the horses were not shod at all.

It has been threatened several times to have the humane society look after the alleged mistreatment of the horses by the laborers, and it is probable that the society will be called upon to take a hand in the affair before the work is finished. However, it is being rapidly done, and it is expected work will be completed in a comparatively short time.

UNSETTLED BETS

Some of the People Who Wagered Money on the Primaries Still Protesting.

There are still a few election bets in the East End which have not been collected. Considerable discussion has been indulged in by interested parties concerning the bets made in regard to second place for mayor. Some claim that the bets made between supporters of Nice and Marshall should be paid, just according to the way the wagers were worded when made. If a Nice man wanted to bet that Nice would beat Marshall it is claimed by some that he loses, as he failed to defeat Marshall.

The reverse is also claimed to be true in regard to the other end of the bet. The most satisfactory way of deciding the bets, however, is to abide by the decision of the central committee and call all bets off that were made on second place.

Princes of the Orient.

The regular meeting of the Princes of the Orient will be held tonight at the P. H. C. hall. There are four candidates to be initiated into the mysteries of the order. The two who will receive the most painstaking care in their initiation, however, are Messrs. M. J. McGarry and C. P. Rothwell, both candidates for prosecuting attorney before the coming Republican county primary. The members are anticipating another enjoyable session tonight.

Fell And Broke His Hand.

W. C. Smith, owner of a restaurant on Railroad street, met with a severe accident yesterday. While crossing the railroad tracks he slipped and fell in order to avoid falling on his face he threw his right hand forward and fell on it. The force of the fall was so great that two bones in his hand were broken. The injury was very painful, but nothing serious will result from it.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD

Steubenville will hold Republican primaries March 14.

The Hanoverton Record, published by L. B. Benjamin, has given up the ghost.

Mrs. Eliza J. Campbell, who died in Steubenville, was 77 years old and a native of Hancock county, W. Va.

The village of New Waterford has issued bonds to the amount of $700, with which to purchase a fine engine.

When arraigned at Steubenville Dr. H. Negley Teeters pleaded guilty to the charge of causing the death of Grace Goodlin, by a criminal operation. Judge Robert D. Updegraff, of Cleveland, died suddenly while attending Plymouth church in Cleveland. He was born in Mt. Pleasant, Jefferson county.

Dominick Jabbi, a 14-year-old boy, shot his brother John three times at Wheeling in a quarrel over possession of a piece of jewelry worth a quarter of a dollar.

William Colley, of Frankfort Springs, Pa., committed suicide at his home by shooting. His wife, who has been dangerously ill in the Southside hospital, Pittsburg, is reported recovering.

Jay E. Brown, aged 24, who died recently at Fairlawn, near Pasadena, Cal., was a former student of Buchtel college and had several relatives in this county. He was a grandson of John Brown, of Ossawatimie.

Cod liver oil—even the thought of it is sickening. Not if it's Hagee's Cod Liver Oil—the only cod liver oil without the cod fish taste and smell. Hagee's is a revelation in both taste and tonic goodness. For wasted conditions or thin, weak blood it is unequalled.

Suffrage for Both Sexes.

The Hague, Feb. 25.—The Democratic-Liberal party introduced in the states general yesterday a bill to amend the constitution of the Netherlands so as to extend suffrage to all men and women over 21 years of age, with the exception of lunatics. The bill also provides that the electorate shall be the same for both chambers.

Scald head is an eczema of the scalp—very severe sometimes, but it can be cured. Doan's Ointment, quick and permanent in its results. At any drug store, 50 cents.

Good coffee, a bit of sausage and a plate of Mrs. Austin's Buckwheat cakes make a perfect breakfast.

QUESTION OF COLOR.

Race Problem Takes Up Major Portion of Time of Senate Yesterday.

FILIBUSTERING IN THE HOUSE.

Philippine Currency Bill Is Passed, With Senate Measure Relating to the Islands—Election Case Withdrawn Until Thursday.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The Indianola, Miss., postoffice case occupied the major portion of the time of the senate yesterday. Mr. Tillman spoke for three hours in continuation of his remarks begun Monday on the race question and was followed by Mr. Carmack, of Tennessee.

During the morning hours several bills and resolutions were passed and consideration was given the bill to further provide for the safe keeping of public money on deposit in national banks. The agricultural appropriation bill also was considered, and the committee amendments agreed to, except the statehood rider, which was passed over.

On motion of Mr. Cullom (Rep., Ill.) it was agreed that hereafter unless otherwise ordered the senate shall meet at 11 o'clock. The senate then at 5:55 went into executive session and at 6 o'clock adjourned.

In the House. The house yesterday passed the Philippine currency bill, accepting the senate bill so far as it relates to the islands. The committee amendment striking out the international monetary conference was agreed to. The contested election case of Wagoners, Butler was under consideration for a time and the Democrats began a filibuster which they threaten to continue if the case is pressed. The case was withdrawn with an agreement that it is not to come up until Thursday.

When the reading had proceeded for 10 minutes Mr. Underwood (Ala.) made the point that no quorum was present. The speaker was able to count only 155 members in the hall, but after a call of the house a quorum appeared.

When again the reading had proceeded for more than an hour (the leaders on the respective sides meantime having been in conference and come to an agreement) the further reading was dispensed with. The minority was given until tonight to file their views and it was agreed that the case would not be called up today.

Mr. Fowler then moved that the house go into committee of the whole to resume further consideration of the currency bill and after some delay the motion was carried 136 to 57. Mr. Prince (Ill.) resumed his speech begun on Saturday last.

On the conclusion of his remarks the house at 5:15 p. m. adjourned.

A Prisoner in Her House.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a curse to have the disease, it is a curse to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, thickening of the skin, eruptions or blotches, a sore in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old foggies" treatment—here are of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood comes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. ## CATARRH THIRTY YEARS.

The Remarkable Experience of a Prominent Statesman—Congressman Meekison Gives Peru-na a High Endorsement.

Congressman Meekison of Ohio.

Hon. David Meekison is well known not only in his own State, but throughout America. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress by a very large majority, and is the acknowledged leader of his party in his section of the State. Only one flaw marred the otherwise complete success of this rising statesman. Catarrh with its insidious approach and tenacious grasp, was his only unvanquished foe. For thirty years he waged unsuccessful warfare against this personal enemy. At last Peru-na came to the rescue. He writes:

"I have used several bottles of Peru-na and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison, Member of Congress.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

A SINGULAR CASE IN DIVORCE COURT

Man Who Has Two Wives Living and One Dead Is the Defendant.

WIFECOT WIDOW'S PENSION

Representing Her Husband as Dead.
He Proved Himself Alive And Gave Her Money With Which to Institute Divorce Proceedings.

Alliance, February 25.—The filing of a divorce case at Troy, O., in which James S. Reamer, of Alliance, is made the defendant, disclosed the fact that Reamer is living with his third wife at Alliance, while wife No. 1 is living at Piqua, Miami county.

The summons in the divorce case and a copy of the petition was received at the sheriff's office in Canton Saturday and Monday morning was served by Deputy Crabbaugh. The only charge in the petition is that the husband has been wilfully absent for more than 20 years. When the summons was served, Reamer refused to discuss the situation, but later when confronted by a newspaper man he told a remarkable story.

Twenty-one years ago he left his wife for reasons best known to themselves. They had been married two or three years and had one child. After their separation a second was born, of which the wife asks custody. He is a son 19 years old.

Reamer had applied for divorce after their separation and claims that he had paid his money to a lawyer and thought he had secured the decree. He went to Kent and about 18 years ago married a wife there, with whom he lived for several years until her death. Three sons were born, who are living with the father at Alliance.

After wife No. 2 had died he went to Alliance and married Bessie Miller and they have a daughter 5 years old, and live happily together in spite of the fact that the husband is 65 years old and the wife but 25.

The first intimation that Reamer had that anything was wrong was when he learned that his wife had represented to the pension authorities that he was dead and that seven years ago she had been granted a widow's pension with $2,000 back pay. Knowing that this would interfere with his pension chances he went to see her and accused her of wilfully misrepresenting the facts in order to secure money from the government. She insisted that she had not heard from him for so many years that she thought he was dead.

Wife No. 1 then informed him that he had never been divorced and an examination of the records showed this to be true. He gave her $200 with which to pay the costs of a divorce case and the suit was the outgrowth of this agreement.

Reamer stated that as soon as the wife secured this divorce he would have the marriage ceremony performed again between him and Bessie Miller. He insists that he has done nothing wrong willingly, as he thought he had been divorced. As evidence of this he points to the fact that he always went under his true name and never attempted any deception.

Reamer and his present wife feel keenly the embarrassment of the situation, but propose to remain true to each other and remarry as soon as the legal impediments are removed by the divorce courts.

Reamer is a sewing machine agent and has a small notion store in Alliance and has always been considered a reputable man.

Hoisted American Flag.
Panama, Feb. 25.—On the occasion of the celebration of Washington's birthday, General Sarria, commander of the Colombian forces on the isthmus, sent United States Consul General Gudgeon a copy of the general order of February 22 in which the general expressed the admiration which Colombia has for "the great republic, the leader of progress and liberty." In addition the American flag was hoisted at the headquarters of the general staff and at all the military posts, while at night a regimental band serenaded Mr. Gudgeon, who held a reception which was attended by the governor and other high civil and military officials.

EAST END GOOD PROGRESS MADE

On Grading Work for C. & P. Double Track—Complaints of Cruelty to Horses.

The grading work still continues on the C. & P. double track in the East End. Considerable complaint is again heard about the treatment given the horses by the teamsters employed in this work. This morning the ground was frozen and but few of the teams were rough shod. Several were noticed to fall at different times, and some of the horses were not shod at all.

It has been threatened several times to have the humane society look after the alleged mistreatment of the horses by the laborers, and it is probable that the society will be called upon to take a hand in the affair before the work is finished. However, it is being rapidly done, and it is expected work will be completed in a comparatively short time.

UNSETTLED BETS

Some of the People Who Wagered Money on the Primaries Still Protesting.

There are still a few election bets in the East End which have not been collected. Considerable discussion has been indulged in by interested parties concerning the bets made in regard to second place for mayor. Some claim that the bets made between supporters of Nice and Marshall should be paid, just according to the way the wagers were worded when made. If a Nice man wanted to bet that Nice would beat Marshall it is claimed by some that he loses, as he failed to defeat Marshall.

The reverse is also claimed to be true in regard to the other end of the bet. The most satisfactory way of deciding the bets, however, is to abide by the decision of the central committee and call all bets off that were made on second place.

Princes of the Orient.

The regular meeting of the Princes of the Orient will be held tonight at the P. H. C. hall. There are four candidates to be initiated into the mysteries of the order. The two who will receive the most painstaking care in their initiation, however, are Messrs. M. J. McGarry and C. P. Rothwell, both candidates for prosecuting attorney before the coming Republican county primary. The members are anticipating another enjoyable session tonight.

Fell And Broke His Hand.

W. C. Smith, owner of a restaurant on Railroad street, met with a severe accident yesterday. While crossing the railroad tracks he slipped and fell in order to avoid falling on his face he threw his right hand forward and fell on it. The force of the fall was so great that two bones in his hand were broken. The injury was very painful, but nothing serious will result from it.

A SINGULAR CASE IN DIVORCE COURT

WIFECOT WIDOW'S PENSION

Representing Her Husband as Dead. He Proved Himself Alive And Gave Her Money With Which to Institute Divorce Proceedings.

Alliance, February 25.—The filing of a divorce case at Troy, O., in which James S. Reamer, of Alliance, is made the defendant, disclosed the fact that Reamer is living with his third wife at Alliance, while wife No. 1 is living at Piqua, Miami county.

Reamer had applied for divorce after their separation and claims that he had paid his money to a lawyer and thought he had secured the decree. He went to Kent and about 18 years ago married a wife there, with whom he lived for several years until her death. Three sons were born, who are living with the father at Alliance.

After wife No. 2 had died he went to Alliance and married Bessie Miller and they have a daughter 5 years old, and live happily together in spite of the fact that the husband is 65 years old and the wife but 25.

The first intimation that Reamer had that anything was wrong was when he learned that his wife had represented to the pension authorities that he was dead and that seven years ago she had been granted a widow's pension with $2,000 back pay. Knowing that this would interfere with his pension chances he went to see her and accused her of wilfully misrepresenting the facts in order to secure money from the government. She insisted that she had not heard from him for so many years that she thought he was dead.

Wife No. 1 then informed him that he had never been divorced and an examination of the records showed this to be true. He gave her $200 with which to pay the costs of a divorce case and the suit was the outgrowth of this agreement.

Reamer stated that as soon as the wife secured this divorce he would have the marriage ceremony performed again between him and Bessie Miller. He insists that he has done nothing wrong willingly, as he thought he had been divorced. As evidence of this he points to the fact that he always went under his true name and never attempted any deception.

Reamer and his present wife feel keenly the embarrassment of the situation, but propose to remain true to each other and remarry as soon as the legal impediments are removed by the divorce courts.

Reamer is a sewing machine agent and has a small notion store in Alliance and has always been considered a reputable man.

Hoisted American Flag.

Panama, Feb. 25.—On the occasion of the celebration of Washington's Birthday, General Sarria, commander of the Colombian forces on the isthmus, sent United States Consul General Gaudier a copy of the general order of February 22 in which the general expressed the admiration which Colombia has for "the great republic, the leader of progress and liberty." In addition the American flag was hoisted at the headquarters of the general staff and at all the military posts, while at night a regimental band serenaded Mr. Gaudier, who held a reception which was attended by the governor and other high civil and military officials.

EAST END

GOOD PROGRESS MADE

On Grading Work for C. & P. Double Track—Complaints of Cruelty to Horses.

The grading work still continues on the C. & P. double track in the East End. Considerable complaint is again heard about the treatment given the horses by the teamsters employed in this work. This morning the ground was frozen and but few of the teams were rough shod. Several were noticed to fall at different times, and some of the horses were not shod at all.

It has been threatened several times to have the humane society look after the alleged mistreatment of the horses by the laborers, and it is probable that the society will be called upon to take a hand in the affair before the work is finished. However, it is being rapidly done, and it is expected work will be completed in a comparatively short time.

UNSETTLED BETS

Some of the People Who Wagered Money on the Primaries Still Protesting.

There are still a few election bets in the East End which have not been collected. Considerable discussion has been indulged in by interested parties concerning the bets made in regard to second place for mayor. Some claim that the bets made between supporters of Nice and Marshall should be paid, just according to the way the wagers were worded when made. If a Nice man wanted to bet that Nice would beat Marshall it is claimed by some that he loses, as he failed to defeat Marshall.

The reverse is also claimed to be true in regard to the other end of the bet. The most satisfactory way of deciding the bets, however, is to abide by the decision of the central committee and call all bets off that were made on second place.

Princes of the Orient.

The regular meeting of the Princes of the Orient will be held tonight at the P. H. C. hall. There are four candidates to be initiated into the mysteries of the order. The two who will receive the most painstaking care in their initiation, however, are Messrs. M. J. McGarry and C. P. Rothwell, both candidates for prosecuting attorney before the coming Republican county primary. The members are anticipating another enjoyable session tonight.

Fell And Broke His Hand.

W. C. Smith, owner of a restaurant on Railroad street, met with a severe accident yesterday. While crossing the railroad tracks he slipped and fell in order to avoid falling on his face he threw his right hand forward and fell on it. The force of the fall was so great that two bones in his hand were broken. The injury was very painful, but nothing serious will result from it.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

James A. Copeland, of Jewett, was a visitor in the East End yesterday.

Miss Kate Stamm has returned from a visit with friends at Meekins town.

Rev. G. W. Orcutt is again able to be out after a slight attack of the grip.

A dance will be given tonight at the Larkins hall by a club of young East End persons.

Mrs. Edwina Rogers left this morning for Colebrook to attend the wedding of her sister.

The jiggersmen at Laughlin No. 2 were off duty again today on account of an over-supply of ware.

Thomas Harshey and wife left this morning for Beaver, Pa. where they will remain a short time the guests of relatives.

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOOD

Stuebenville will hold Republican primaries March 14.

The Hanoverian Record, published by L. B. Benjamin, has given up the ghost.

Mrs. Eliza J. Campbell, who died in Steubenville, was 77 years old and a native of Hancock county, W. Va.

The village of New Waterford has issued bonds to the amount of $700, with which to purchase a fine engine. When arraigned at Steubenville Dr. H. Negley Teeters pleaded guilty to the charge of causing the death of Grace Goodlin, by a criminal operation. Judge Robert D. Updegraff, of Cleveland, died suddenly while attending Plymouth church in Cleveland. He was born in Mt. Pleasant, Jefferson county.

Dominick Jabbi, a 14-year-old boy, shot his brother John three times at Wheeling in a quarrel over possession of a piece of jewelry worth a quarter of a dollar.

William Colley, of Frankfort Springs, Pa., committed suicide at his home by shooting. His wife, who has been dangerously ill in the Southside hospital, Pittsburg, is reported recovering.

Jay E. Brown, aged 24, who died recently at Fairlawn, near Pasadena, Cal., was a former student of Buchtel college and had several relatives in this county. He was a grandson of John Brown, of Ossawatimie.

Cod liver oil—even the thought of it is sickening. Not if it's Hagge's Cordial of Cod Liver Oil—the only cod liver oil without the cod fish taste and smell. Hagge's is a revelation in both taste and tonic goodness. For wasted conditions or thin, weak blood it is unequalled.

Suffrage for Both Sexes.

The Hague, Feb. 25.—The Democratic-Liberal party introduced in the states general yesterday a bill to amend the constitution of the Netherlands so as to extend suffrage to all men and women over 21 years of age, with the exception of lunatics. The bill also provides that the electorates shall be the same for both chambers.

QUESTION OF COLOR.

Race Problem Takes Up Major Portion of Time of Senate Yesterday.

FILIBUSTERING IN THE HOUSE.

Philippine Currency Bill Is Passed, With Senate Measure Relating to the Islands—Election Case Withdrawn Until Thursday.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The Indianola, Miss., postoffice case occupied the major portion of the time of the senate yesterday. Mr. Tillman spoke for three hours in continuation of his remarks begun Monday on the race question and was followed by Mr. Carmack, of Tennessee.

During the morning hours several bills and resolutions were passed and consideration was given the bill to further provide for the safe keeping of public money on deposit in national banks. The agricultural appropriation bill also was considered, and the committee amendments agreed to, except the statehood rider, which was passed over.

On motion of Mr. Cullom (Rep., Ill.) it was agreed that hereafter unless otherwise ordered the senate shall meet at 11 o'clock. The senate then at 5:55 went into executive session and at 6 o'clock adjourned.

In the House. The house yesterday passed the Philippine currency bill, accepting the senate bill so far as it relates to the islands. The committee amendment striking out the international monetary conference was agreed to. The contested election case of Wagoners vs. Butler was under consideration for a time and the Democrats began a filibuster which they threaten to continue if the case is pressed. The case was withdrawn with an agreement that it is not to come up until Thursday.

When the reading had proceeded for 10 minutes Mr. Underwood (Ala.) made the point that no quorum was present. The speaker was able to count only 155 members in the hall, but after a call of the house a quorum appeared.

When again the reading had proceeded for more than an hour (the leaders on the respective sides meantime having been in conference and come to an agreement) the further reading was dispensed with. The minority was given until tonight to file their views and it was argued that the case would not be called up today.

Mr. Fowler then moved that the house go into committee of the whole to resume further consideration of the currency bill and after some delay the motion was carried 136 to 57. Mr. Prince (Ill.) resumed his speech begun on Saturday last.

On the conclusion of his remarks the house at 5:15 p. m. adjourned.

A Prisoner in Her House.

Mrs. W. H. Lavha, of 1091 Agnes avenue, Kansas City, Mo., has for several years been troubled with severe hoarseness and at times a hard cough, which she says, "Would keep me in doors for days. I was prescribed for by physicians with no noticeable results. A friend gave me a part of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with instructions to closely follow the directions and I wish to state that after the first day I could notice a decided change for the better, and at this time after using it for two weeks have no hesitation in saying I realize that I am entirely cured. From this time on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will be in my house constantly." This remedy is for sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; no while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itches of the skin, eruptions of blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "cold cure" treatment—beats of mineral poisons—because of Quacks and fake. DR. KENNEDY & KERGAN'S TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1903.

It will be welcome news to the people of East Liverpool that the long-standing dispute between the Pennsylvania company and the city over the improvements contemplated by the railroad is likely soon to be settled.

and settled in the manner that the people desire. This city is the most important one on the line of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh between the terminals of the road, and it is but proper that heed should be given its present and future needs. A freight station nearer to the business center and gates at much traveled street crossings are so much needed that the duty of the railroad company to establish them is plain. The former will be a public convenience, greatly facilitating the reception and delivery of the enormous and fast increasing freight tonnage of the city. The latter are demanded for the safety of the public and the protection of human life. Whether it be that the prospect of competition—which is a certainty of the future, as surely as the growth and expansion of the city and its industries is a certainty—has influenced the railroad officials in their expressed willingness to make concessions, the disposition to do the fair thing will be hailed with popular approval. Council, by taking the position that the city was not disposed to give valuable privileges for nothing, and adhering firmly to that stand, has shown commendable regard for the public interest.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it reliable and giving perfect satisfaction. It takes away that tired feeling, gives energy and puts the blood in good condition." Miss EFFIE COLSON, 1535 10th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

terests, and brought the railroad company to a realization of the fact that it has a body of men to deal with who mean business and who hold that the city's convenience and welfare are a prime consideration when aid is to be lent to a corporation asking valuable privileges.

A passenger station for the East End is needed a trifle more than one down town. But it is nevertheless a fact that the old East Liverpool depot is antiquated and out of date, and should be made to disappear in the march of improvement which the railroad company promises.

The bright spring days now with us are a reminder that it will soon be warm enough for the railroad promoters to begin work on those long projected lines that are to reach East Liverpool. Here's hoping that the opportunity will be embraced.

President Castro, of Venezuela, is certainly earning his salary. Hardly had European allies withdrawn their warships from in front of him until native enemies began firing in the rear.

A missionary has discovered that polygamy is openly practiced in Connecticut. It is hardly necessary to go to Darkest Africa or Bulgaria to find fields for missionary effort.

A new fire station on the Northside will be a boon to that populous and rapidly growing section of the city. Adequate protection against fire has been sadly lacking there.

Surrey, England, has a woman's society of man batters. It is said there is not a handsome woman in it. Why should there be?

Jim Tillman still lingers in jail. It is the right place for such a walking arsenal.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Rebecca O'Hanlon.

Mrs. Rebecca O'Hanlon, widow of the late Dr. C. P. O'Hanlon, died at her home in East Fairfield at the age of 57 years. Mrs. O'Hanlon was formerly Miss Rebecca Tarr and was born and lived all of her life in Fairfield township. She was married in 1853 to Dr. C. P. O'Hanlon, who died some 20 years ago. Her death was due to a stroke of paralysis. Three children are left to mourn her death: Mrs. Mary Darnley, of Cleveland; William O'Hanlon, of Steubenville, and Edward O'Hanlon, of Toronto.

Mrs. C. E. Sneed, of Freedom, Pa., is visiting friends in this city.

Attorney M. J. McGarry has returned from a business trip to Lisbon.

Mrs. J. T. Elliott left this afternoon for Toronto to visit a week with relatives.

Mrs. John C. Owen, of Sixth street, who has been quite sick, is able to be out again.

Miss Ella Brownfield, of Calcutta street, is seriously ill with nervous prostration.

Mrs. Charles Pilgrim, of Third street, has recovered from her recent serious illness.

Miss Essie Cohen, of Cleveland, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. F. I. Livingston, Fourth street.

W. C. Havener, of Thompson avenue, has left for an extended western trip for an eastern shoe house.

Mrs. J. W. Gorrell and three daughters, who are ill at their home on Elm street, continue to improve.

Mrs. Joseph Beardman, of Wall street, who is ill with typhoid fever, is getting along nicely and today was reported much improved.

John W. Albright, who has been confined to his home on Avondale street, is reported better today, although still unable to leave the house.

Dr. J. H. Davis was called to McKeesport, Pa., yesterday to assist in an operation at the McKeesport hospital. He returned home this morning.

CONFESSES TO HOTEL ROBBERIES

Bell Boys Went Into the Business in Methodical Manner—"Graft" Was Fine.

New York, Feb. 25.—The police announced yesterday that they had secured a confession from Louis F. Messier, the 18-year-old bell boy who was arrested Monday charged with robbing hotels. The confession shows that Messier and Cullen, another bell boy who was arrested with Messier, had planned to rob hotels all over the country.

Maps and diagrams of the interior of hotels, the names of prominent guests who made a habit of stopping in them and a synopsis written in short hand under the name of each hotel describing its plan, were found on both the prisoners. A diagram of the route of the coronation procession of King Edward with the names of prominent Americans present and lists of the jewelry worn by them at the celebration was also found in a trunk in the prisoners' rooms. In his confession Messier is said to have told the police that the "graft" in America had been so good that the trip to Europe had been abandoned. The third bell boy was discharged by the magistrate. He is now assisting the police in looking for a woman who, it is alleged, disposed of the stolen jewelry. It is said that Messier and Cullen secured $10,000 in property from hotels and clubs in New York.

Murdered Whole Family. Frankfort, Ind., Feb. 25.—Earl Woods, the 17-year-old son of a prominent farmer, seven miles west of this city, last evening murdered his father, shot and fatally wounded his mother and sister, and then committed suicide. The motive for the boy's bloody crime is not known. After the shooting the young man went to the home of a neighbor and said that robbers had entered his home and killed his father, mother and sister, and that he escaped after a running battle with the desperados. He apparently was greatly excited and said he was organizing a posse to pursue his father's slayers. He stopped at another house and told the same story. When he was questioned concerning the shooting he became confused and resented the inquisitiveness of the men to whom he told the story. He started away and disappeared behind a barn, when a shot was heard. An investigation discovered the youthful murderer dying with a bullet through his breast.

Baseball Schedules Arranged. Chicago, Feb. 25.—Playing schedules satisfactory to both sides, were arranged at yesterday's meeting of the committees representing the American and National baseball leagues and the magnates left for home last night. There are several conflicting dates in the schedules, but they were made by choice in order to avoid long railroad journeys between games. The schedules call for 140 games in each league. The National playing season will open April 15 and the American in both leagues will close September 20, 27 or 28.

Should Be Granted. Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 25.—A large delegation of temperance workers, women and men, waited on the government yesterday and asked for a bill next session to prohibit the manufacture, importation and sale of cigarettes or cigarette papers and cigarette wrappers.

Fell Under the Train. Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 25.—Dr. W. E. B. Davis, one of the most prominent physicians in the southern states, was run over by a passenger train and instantly killed yesterday. He was making professional calls and reaching the crossing, found it blocked. He left his buggy to hold his horse by the reins, and stumbling, fell under the train.

FEEDING A MILLION MOUTHS

There are a million little mouths in your skin ready to absorb whatever comes to them. What kind of soap do you feed them? We seldom reckon with the powers of absorption exercised by the pores of the skin, and yet it is possible for these little mouths to take in four quarts of water in twenty-four hours. No wonder impure toilet and bath soaps are so apt to produce skin diseases.

You can trust the soaps we sell you. We hand none but worthy brands, and by buying in quantities we are able to make low prices on them.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Money Market Effects Operators, But Consideration by Senate of Aldrich Financial Bill Eases Situation.

New York, Feb. 25.—The minds of operators in stocks yesterday were manifestly turned upon the money market outlook. The significant upward movement in St. Louis and San Francisco and in Wabash preferred had very little sympathetic effect upon the general tone of the market. The influence of the weak bank statement on Saturday and of the development of yesterday in money proved more than sufficient to overcome any sympathetic effect from these manifestations of strength. But in the afternoon, when it was announced that the senate had taken up the consideration of the Aldrich financial bill, a substantial recovery set in, and a large proportion of the earlier losses was recovered. The whole movement was largely professional but was a fair demonstration of the importance attached in the financial community to everything that promises relief from the threatened financial stringencies of the coming fall. In this connection any assurance, such as provided by the Aldrich bill, against withdrawals from the money market by the government in the collection of surplus revenue, is considered of prime importance. The market closed quite active and firm.

There was some breadth to the bond market but the largest activity was in St. Louis and San Francisco fundings 4s and Wabash debentures. The general tone was irregular. Total sale par value $4,612,000.

Money on call steady at 3; prime mercantile paper 4 1/2 @ 5 1/4; sterling exchange fairly steady.

United States coupon 3s advanced 1/4 per cent on the last call.

Board Lacking in Patriotism. Ballston, N. Y., Feb. 25.—The Ballston high school class of 1903, 14 girls and boys, were refused admission to the school yesterday. They became insubordinate Monday afternoon because there was no observance of Washington's birthday and giving the class yell and shouting "Washington" left the school room. The board of education ordered the suspension of the entire class and the refusal to admit them yesterday morning followed pending further action by the board.

Cannot Collect. St. Louis, Feb. 25.—On the plea that the turf cooperative investment companies are simply gambling schemes and that all investors are partners in the business and must have known the nature of the business, the first attachment suit of the many filed against John J. Ryan & Co., was dismissed by Justice Kleiber yesterday. The suit was to recover money invested.

THE NEW UNDERWEAR.

Corsets For Stout People—Full Corset Covers.

The corset should be tolerably high in the back, but slope off gradually until it is quite low in the front. The front should be straight. This type of a corset if properly arranged draws in below the waist and sets out at the top, and, although the actual measurement of the waist is increased yet the figure looks smaller and the back and sides of the corset fit as closely as ever.

DANCING GOWNS OF WHITE CREPE DE CHINE.

The new corset covers generally all show a very full blouse in front.

Petticoats of heavy black moire wear well and are serviceable for cool weather. They are fitted bell shape, with no extra fullness.

The newest stockings match the gowns with which they are worn and are very much embroidered.

The picture shows a dancing gown of white crepe de chine. It has the latest thing in skirts, wide folds from waist to hem, beaded by fagoting.

EVENING DRESSES.

Sequined Effects Popular—The Wide Bertha.

Sequined gowns are quite popular this winter. One gown of white net had exquisite designs in mauve sequins and steel beads. Another, seen at the same dressmaker's, was in black and steel with incrustations of Paris lace and beautiful tiger lilies in black and white velvet.

The new veillings of white lisse with velvet patches are charming worn with black velvet toques having a drooping feather in white or black and white.

GOWN OF BLACK CHANTILLY LACE.

and a wisp of lace at the back caught with a pretty ornament in paste or steel.

The wide bertha and the fichu are in the height of style, but they are so arranged that they give a square appearance to the shoulders instead of the slope which, so alluring where it suits, makes some women appear so terribly dowdy.

The evening dress shown is of black chantilly lace over white chiffon and silk.

TEN PIECES OF SHEET MUSIC FOR $1.00.
Is This Old Music?
NO!

10 pieces of copyright music, latest popular pieces of the day, for $1.00.

Why, you ask, do we make this offer, do we buy this music so cheap that we can afford to sell it 10 pieces for $1.00.

NO!

The reason, in order to keep up to date we have standing orders with the leading publishers for from 1 to 10 copies of each new issue. These are sent us soon as they are off the press. In 10 years we have accumulated more music than our limited space will allow, our shelves are running over. We must make more room or reduce our stock. We decide to sell 10 pieces for $1.00, or sent prepaid to any address for $1.10.

This music we have in stock and will not include the last copy of any one piece. Our clerks will not be allowed to play over music in this offer. We will, however, allow you to select three pieces that we have in stock, we will give you seven more either instrumental or vocal of our own selection, copyright music. Ordinarily these 10 pieces would cost you at least $2.50.

While this offer is not something for nothing it is very close to it. Offer for 30 days only.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1903.

It will be welcome news to the people of East Liverpool that the long-standing dispute between the Pennsylv-vania company and the city over the improvements contemplated by the railroad is likely soon to be settled, and settled in the manner that the people desire. This city is the most important one on the line of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh between the terminals of the road, and it is but proper that heed should be given its present and future needs. A freight station nearer to the business center and gates at much traveled street crossings are so much needed that the duty of the railroad company to establish them is plain. The former will be a public convenience, greatly facilitating the reception and delivery of the enormous and fast increasing freight tonnage of the city. The latter are demanded for the safety of the public and the protection of human life.
Whether it be that the prospect of competition—which is a certainty of the future, as surely as the growth and expansion of the city and its industries is a certainty—has influenced the railroad officials in their expressed willingness to make concessions, the disposition to do the fair thing will be hailed with popular approval.
Council, by taking the position that the city was not disposed to give valuable privileges for nothing, and adhering firmly to that stand, has shown commendable regard for the public interests, and brought the railroad company to a realization of the fact that it has a body of men to deal with who mean business and who hold that the city's convenience and welfare are a prime consideration when aid is to be lent to a corporation asking valuable privileges.

A passenger station for the East End is needed a trifle more than one down town. But it is nevertheless a fact that the old East Liverpool depot is antiquated and out of date, and should be made to disappear in the march of improvement which the railroad company promises.

The bright spring days now with us are a reminder that it will soon be warm enough for the railroad promoters to begin work on those long projected lines that are to reach East Liverpool. Here's hoping that the opportunity will be embraced.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Rebecca O'Hanlon.

Mrs. Rebecca O'Hanlon, widow of the late Dr. C. P. O'Hanlon, died at her home in East Fairfield at the age of 57 years. Mrs. O'Hanlon was formerly Miss Rebecca Tarr and was born and lived all of her life in Fairfield township. She was married in 1853 to Dr.
C. P. O'Hanlon, who died some 20 years ago. Her death was due to a stroke of paralysis. Three children are left to mourn her death: Mrs. Mary Darnley, of Cleveland; William O'Han-lon, of Steubenville, and Edward O'Hanlon, of Toronto.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS

Mrs. J. H. Conway, of Chester, is among the sick.

Miss Marie Johns is quite ill at her home, Market street.

Mrs. C. E. Sneed, of Freedom, Pa., is visiting friends in this city.

Attorney M. J. McGarry has returned from a business trip to Lisbon.

Mrs. J. T. Elliott left this afternoon for Toronto to visit a week with relatives.

Mrs. John C. Owen, of Sixth street who has been quite sick, is able to be out again.

Miss Ella Brownfield, of Calcutta street, is seriously ill with nervous prostration.

Mrs. Charles Pilgrim, of Third street, has recovered from her recent serious illness.

Miss Essie Cohen, of Cleveland, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. F. I. Livingston, Fourth street.

W. C. Hayener, of Thompson avenue, has left for an extended western trip for an eastern shoe house.

Mrs. J. W. Gorrell and three daughters, who are ill at their home on Elm street, continue to improve.

Mrs. Joseph Beardman, of Wall street, who is ill with typhoid fever, is getting along nicely and today was reported much improved.

John W. Albright, who has been confined to his home on Avondale street, is reported better today, although still unable to leave the house.

Dr. J. H. Davis was called to Mc-Keesport, Pa., yesterday to assist in an operation at the McKeesport hospital. He returned home this morning.

CONFESSES TO HOTEL ROBBERIES

Bel Boys Went into the Business in Methodical Manner—"Graft" Was Fine.

New York, Feb. 25.—The police announced yesterday that they had secured a confession from Louis F.
Messier, the 18-year-old bell boy who was arrested Monday charged with robbing hotels. The confession shows that Messier and Cullen, another bell boy who was arrested with Messier, had planned to rob hotels all over the country.

Maps and diagrams of the interior of hotels, the names of prominent guests who made a habit of stopping in them and a synopsis written in short hand under the name of each hotel describing its plan, were found on both the prisoners. A diagram of the route of the coronation procession of King Edward with the names of prominent Americans present and lists of the jewelry worn by them at the celebration was also found in a trunk in the prisoners' rooms. In his confession Messier is said to have told the police that the "graft" in America had been so good that the trip to Europe had been abandoned.
The third bell boy was discharged by the magistrate. He is now assisting the police in looking for a woman who, it is alleged, disposed of the stolen jewelry. It is said that Messier and Cullen secured $10,000 in property from hotels and clubs in New York.

Murdered Whole Family.

Frankfort, Ind., Feb. 25.—Earl Woods, the 17-year-old son of a prominent farmer, seven miles west of this city, last evening murdered his father, shot and fatally wounded his mother and sister, and then committed suicide. The motive for the boy's bloody crime is not known. After the shooting the young man went to the home of a neighbor and said that robbers had entered his home and killed his father, mother and sister, and that he escaped after a running battle with the desperados. He apparently was greatly excited and said he was organizing a posse to pursue his father's slayers. He stopped at another house and told the same story. When he was questioned concerning the shooting he became confused and presented the incoherence of the men to whom he told the story. He started away and disappeared behind a barn, when a shot was heard. An investigation discovered the youthful mur-derer dying with a bullet through his breast.

Baseball Schedules Arranged.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Playing schedules satisfactory to both sides, were arranged at yesterday's meeting of the committees representing the American and National baseball leagues and the magnates left for home last night. There are several conflicting dates in the schedules, but they were made by choice in order to avoid long railroad journeys between games. The schedules call for 140 games in each league. The National playing season will open April 15 and the American in both leagues will close September 20, 27 or 28.

Should Be Granted.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 25.—A large delegation of temperance workers, women and men, waited on the government yesterday and asked for a bill next session to prohibit the manufacture, importation and sale of cigarettes or cigarette papers and cigarette wrappers.

Fell Under the Train.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 25.—Dr. W.
E. B. Davis, one of the most prominent physicians in the southern states, was run over by a passenger train and instantly killed yesterday. He was making professional calls and reaching the crossing, found it blocked. He left his buggy to hold his horse by the reins, and stumbling, fell under the train.

FEEDING A MILLION MOUTHS

There are a million little mouths in your skin ready to absorb whatever comes to them. What kind of soap do you feed them?
We seldom reckon with the powers of absorption exercised by the pores of the skin, and yet it is possible for these little mouths to take in four quarts of water in twenty-four hours. No wonder impure toilet and bath soaps are so apt to produce skin diseases.

You can trust the soaps we sell you. We had none but worthy brands, and by buying in quantities we are able to make low prices on them.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Money Market Effects Operators, But Consideration by Senate of Aldrich Financial Bill Eases Situation.

New York, Feb. 25.—The minds of operators in stocks yesterday were manifestly turned upon the money market outlook. The significant upward movement in St. Louis and San Francisco and in Washash preferred had very little sympathetic effect upon the general tone of the market. The influence of the weak bank statement on Saturday and of the development of yesterday in money proved more than sufficient to overcome any sympathetic effect from these manifestations of strength. But in the afternoon, when it was announced that the senate had taken up the consideration of the Aldrich financial bill, a substantial recovery set in, and a large proportion of the earlier losses was recovered. The whole movement was largely professional but was a fair demonstration of the importance attached in the financial community to everything that promises relief from the threatened financial stringency of the coming fall. In this connection any assurance, such as provide by the Aldrich bill, against withdrawals from the money market by the government in the collection of surplus revenue, is considered of prime importance. The market closed quite active and firm.

There was some breadth to the bond market but the largest activity was in St. Louis and San Francisco fundings 4s and Washash debenture
Bs. The general tone was irregular.
Total sale par value $4,612,000.

Money on call steady at 2; prime mercantile paper 1 1/2 to 5/8; sterling exchange fairly steady.

United States coupon 3s advanced 1/4 per cent on the last call.

Board Lacking in Patriotism.

Baltimore, N. Y., Feb. 25.—The Baltimore high school class of 1903, 14 girls and boys, were refused admission to the school yesterday. They became insubordinate Monday afternoon because there was no observance of Washington's birthday and giving the class yell and shouting "Washington." left the school room. The board of education ordered the suspension of the entire class and the refusal to admit them yesterday morning followed pending further action by the board.

Cannot Collect.

St. Louis, Feb. 25.—On the plea that the bank cooperative investment companies are simply gambling schemes and that all investors are partners in the business and must have known the nature of the business, the first attachment suit of the many filed against John J. Ryan & Co., was dismissed by Justice Kleiber yesterday. The suit was to recover money invested.

THE NEW UNDERWEAR.

Corsets For Stout People—Full Corset Covers.

The corset should be tolerably high in the back, but slope off gradually until it is quite low in the front.
The front should be straight. This type of a corset if properly arranged draws in below the waist and sets out at the top, and, although the actual measurement of the waist is increased

DANCING GOWN OF WHITE CREPE DE CHINE.

yet the figure looks smaller and the back and sides of the corset fit as closely as ever.

The new corset covers generally all show a very full blouse in front.

Petticoats of heavy black moire wear well and are serviceable for cool weather. They are fitted bell shape, with no extra fullness.

The newest stockings match the gowns with which they are worn and are very much embroidered.

The picture shows a dancing gown of white crepe de chine. It has the latest thing in skirts, wide folds from waist to hem, beaded by fanning.

EVENING DRESSES.

Sequined Effects Popular—The Wide Bertha.

Sequined gowns are quite popular this winter. One gown of white net had exquisite designs in native sequins and steel beads. Another, seen at the same dressmaker's, was in black and steel with incrustations of Paris lace and beautiful tiger lilies in black and white velvet.

The new veilings of white lisse with velvet patches are charming worn with black velvet toques having a drooping feather in white or black and white

GOWN OF BLACK CHANTILLY LACE.

and a wisp of lace at the back caught with a pretty ornament in paste or steel.

The wide bertha and the fichu are in the height of style, but they are so arranged that they give a square appearance to the shoulders instead of the slope which, so alluring where it suits, makes some women appear so terribly dowdy.

The evening dress shown is of black chantilly lace over white chiffon and silk.

TEN PIECES OF SHEET MUSIC FOR $1.00.

Is This Old Music?

NO!

10 pieces of copyright music, latest popular pieces of the day, for $1.00.

Why, you ask, do we make this offer, do we buy this music so cheap that we can afford to sell it 10 pieces for $1.00.

NO!

The reason, in order to keep up to date we have standing orders with the leading publishers for from 1 to 10 copies of each new issue.
These are sent us soon as they are off the press. In 10 years we have accumulated more music than our limited space will allow, our shelves are running over. We must make more room or reduce our stock. We decide to sell 10 pieces for $1.00, or sent prepaid to any address for $1.10.

This music we have in stock and will not include the last copy of any one piece. Our clerks will not be allowed to play over music in this offer. We will, however, allow you to select three pieces that we have in stock, we will give you seven more either instrumental or vocal of our own selection, copyright music. Ordinarily these 10 pieces would cost you at least $2.50.

While this offer is not something for nothing it is very close to it.
Offer for 30 days only.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1903.

It will be welcome news to the people of East Liverpool that the long-standing dispute between the Pennsylvania company and the city over the improvements contemplated by the railroad is likely soon to be settled, and settled in the manner that the people desire. This city is the most important one on the line of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh between the terminals of the road, and it is but proper that heed should be given its present and future needs. A freight station nearer to the business center and gates at much traveled street crossings are so much needed that the duty of the railroad company to establish them is plain. The former will be a public convenience, greatly facilitating the reception and delivery of the enormous and fast increasing freight tonnage of the city. The latter are demanded for the safety of the public and the protection of human life. Whether it be that the prospect of competition—which is a certainty of the future, as surely as the growth and expansion of the city and its industries is a certainty—has influenced the railroad officials in their expressed willingness to make concessions, the disposition to do the fair thing will be hailed with popular approval. Council, by taking the position that the city was not disposed to give valuable privileges for nothing, and adhering firmly to that stand, has shown commendable regard for the public interests, and brought the railroad company to a realization of the fact that it has a body of men to deal with who mean business and who hold that the city's convenience and welfare are a prime consideration when aid is to be lent to a corporation asking valuable privileges.

It purifies and enriches the blood, cures pimples, eczema and all eruptions, tired, languid feelings, loss of appetite and general debility.

A passenger station for the East End is needed a trifle more than one down town. But it is nevertheless a fact that the old East Liverpool depot is antiquated and out of date, and should be made to disappear in the march of improvement which the railroad company promises.

The bright spring days now with us are a reminder that it will soon be warm enough for the railroad promoters to begin work on those long projected lines that are to reach East Liverpool. Here's hoping that the opportunity will be embraced.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Rebecca O'Hanlon.

Mrs. Rebecca O'Hanlon, widow of the late Dr. C. P. O'Hanlon, died at her home in East Fairfield at the age of 57 years. Mrs. O'Hanlon was formerly Miss Rebecca Tarr and was born and lived all of her life in Fairfield township. She was married in 1853 to Dr. C. P. O'Hanlon, who died some 20 years ago. Her death was due to a stroke of paralysis. Three children are left to mourn her death: Mrs. Mary Darnley, of Cleveland; William O'Hanlon, of Steubenville, and Edward O'Hanlon, of Toronto.

You notice the large watch sign of the Wade Jewelry Co. has been removed to Fifth street, near the Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. J. H. Conway, of Chester, is among the sick.

Miss Marie Johns is quite ill at her home, Market street.

Mrs. C. E. Sneed, of Freedom, Pa., is visiting friends in this city.

Attorney M. J. McGarry has returned from a business trip to Lisbon.

Mrs. J. T. Elliott left this afternoon for Toronto to visit a week with relatives.

Mrs. John C. Owen, of Sixth street who has been quite sick, is able to be out again.

Miss Ella Brownfield, of Calcutta street, is seriously ill with nervous prostration.

Mrs. Charles Pilgrim, of Third street, has recovered from her recent serious illness.

Miss Essie Cohen, of Cleveland, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. F. I. Livingston, Fourth street.

W. C. Havenor, of Thompson avenue, has left for an extended western trip for an eastern shoe house.

Mrs. J. W. Gorrell and three daughters, who are ill at their home on Elm street, continue to improve.

Mrs. Joseph Beardman, of Wall street, who is ill with typhoid fever, is getting along nicely and today was reported much improved.

John W. Albright, who has been confined to his home on Avondale street, is reported better today, although still unable to leave the house.

Dr. J. H. Davis was called to McKeesport, Pa., yesterday to assist in an operation at the McKeesport hospital. He returned home this morning.

CONFESSES TO HOTEL ROBBERIES

Bell Boys Went Into the Business in Methodical Manner—"Graft" Was Fine.

New York, Feb. 25.—The police announced yesterday that they had secured a confession from Louis F. Messier, the 18-year-old bell boy who was arrested Monday charged with robbing hotels. The confession shows that Messier and Cullen, another bell boy who was arrested with Messier, had planned to rob hotels all over the country.

Maps and diagrams of the interior of hotels, the names of prominent guests who made a habit of stopping in them and a synopsis written in short hand under the name of each hotel describing its plan, were found on both the prisoners. A diagram of the route of the coronation procession of King Edward with the names of prominent Americans present and lists of the jewelry worn by them at the celebration was also found in a trunk in the prisoners' rooms. In his confession Messier is said to have told the police that the "graft" in America had been so good that the trip to Europe had been abandoned. The third bell boy was discharged by the magistrate. He is now assisting the police in looking for a woman who, it is alleged, disposed of the stolen jewelry. It is said that Messier and Cullen secured $10,000 in property from hotels and clubs in New York.

Murdered Whole Family.

Frankton, Ind., Feb. 25.—Earl Woods, the 17-year-old son of a prominent farmer, seven miles west of this city, last evening murdered his father, shot and fatally wounded his mother and sister, and then committed suicide. The motive for the boy's bloody crime is not known. After the shooting the young man went to the home of a neighbor and said that robbers had entered his home and killed his father, mother and sister, and that he escaped after a running battle with the desperados. He apparently was greatly excited and said he was organizing a posse to pursue his father's slayers. He stopped at another house and told the same story. When he was questioned concerning the shooting he became confused and presented the inquisitiveness of the men to whom he told the story. He started away and disappeared behind a barn, when a shot was heard. An investigation discovered the youthful murderer dying with a bullet through his breast.

Baseball Schedules Arranged.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Playing schedules satisfactory to both sides, were arranged at yesterday's meeting of the committees representing the American and National baseball leagues and the magnates left for home last night. There are several conflicting dates in the schedules, but they were made by choice in order to avoid long railroad journeys between games. The schedules call for 149 games in each league. The National playing season will open April 15 and the American in both leagues will close September 29, 27 or 28.

Should Be Granted.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 25.—A large delegation of temperance workers, women and men, waited on the government yesterday and asked for a bill next session to prohibit the manufacture, importation and sale of cigarettes or cigarette papers and cigarette wrappers.

Fell Under the Train.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 25.—Dr. W. E. B. Davis, one of the most prominent physicians in the southern states, was run over by a passenger train and instantly killed yesterday. He was making professional calls and reaching the crossing, found it blocked. He left his buggy to hold his horse by the reins, and stumbling, fell under the train.

FEEDING A MILLION MOUTHS

There are a million little mouths in your skin ready to absorb whatever comes to them. What kind of soap do you feed them? We seldom reckon with the powers of absorption exercised by the pores of the skin, and yet it is possible for these little mouths to take in four quarts of water in twenty-four hours. No wonder impure toilet and bath soaps are so apt to produce skin diseases.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Money Market Effects Operators, But Consideration by Senate of Aldrich Financial Bill Eases Situation.

New York, Feb. 25.—The minds of operators in stocks yesterday were manifestly turned upon the money market outlook. The significant upward movement in St. Louis and San Francisco and in Wabash preferred had very little sympathetic effect upon the general tone of the market. The influence of the weak bank statement on Saturday and of the development of yesterday in money proved more than sufficient to overcome any sympathetic effect from these manifestations of strength. But in the afternoon, when it was announced that the senate had taken up the consideration of the Aldrich financial bill, a substantial recovery set in, and a large proportion of the earlier losses was recovered. The whole movement was largely professional but was a fair demonstration of the importance attached in the financial community to everything that promises relief from the threatened financial stringency of the coming fall. In this connection any assurance, such as provided by the Aldrich bill, against withdrawal from the money market by the government in the collection of surplus revenue, is considered of prime importance. The market closed quite active and firm.

There was some breadth to the bond market but the largest activity was in St. Louis and San Francisco fundings 4s and Wabash debentures. The general tone was irregular. Total sale par value $4,612,000.

Board Lacking in Patriotism.

Ballston, N. Y., Feb. 25.—The Ballston high school class of 1903, 14 girls and boys, were refused admission to the school yesterday. They became insubordinate Monday afternoon because there was no observance of Washington's birthday and giving the class yell and shouting "Washington" left the school room. The board of education ordered the suspension of the entire class and the refusal to admit them yesterday morning followed pending further action by the board.

Cannot Collect.

St. Louis, Feb. 25.—On the plea that the trust cooperative investment companies are simply gambling schemes and that all investors are partners in the business and must have known the nature of the business, the first attachment suit of the many filed against John J. Ryan & Co. was dismissed by Justice Kleiber yesterday. The suit was to recover money invested.

THE NEW UNDERWEAR.

Corsets For Stout People—Full Corset Covers.

The corset should be tolerably high in the back, but slope off gradually until it is quite low in the front. The front should be straight. This type of a corset if properly arranged draws in below the waist and sets out at the top, and, although the actual measurement of the waist is increased yet the figure looks smaller and the back and sides of the corset fit as closely as ever.

The new corset covers generally all show a very full blouse in front. Petticoats of heavy black moire wear well and are serviceable for cool weather. They are fitted bell shape, with no extra fullness.

The newest stockings match the gowns with which they are worn and are very much embroidered.

The picture shows a dancing gown of white crepe de chine. It has the latest thing in skirts, wide folds from waist to hem, headed by fagoting.

EVENING DRESSES.

Sequined Effects Popular—The Wide Berthas.

Sequined gowns are quite popular this winter. One gown of white net had exquisite designs in mauve sequins and steel beads. Another, seen at the same dressmaker's, was in black and steel with incrustations of Paris lace and beautiful tiger lilies in black and white velvet.

and a wisp of lace at the back caught with a pretty ornament in paste or steel.

The wide berth and the fichu are in the height of style, but they are so arranged that they give a square appearance to the shoulders instead of the slope which, so alluring where it suits, makes some women appear so terribly dowdy.

The evening dress shown is of black chantilly lace over white chiffon and silk.

TEN PIECES OF SHEET MUSIC FOR $1.00.

Is This Old Music?
NO!

10 pieces of copyright music, latest popular pieces of the day, for $1.00.

Why, you ask, do we make this offer, do we buy this music so cheap that we can afford to sell it 10 pieces for $1.00.

NO!

The reason, in order to keep up to date we have standing orders with the leading publishers for from 1 to 10 copies of each new issue. These are sent us soon as they are off the press. In 10 years we have accumulated more music than our limited space will allow, our shelves are running over. We must make more room or reduce our stock. We decide to sell 10 pieces for $1.00, or sent prepaid to any address for $1.10.

This music we have in stock and will not include the last copy of any one piece. Our cloths will not be allowed to play over music in this offer. We will, however, allow you to select three pieces that we have in stock, we will give you seven more either instrumental or vocal of our own selection, copyright music. Ordinarily these 10 pieces would cost you at least $2.50.

While this offer is not something for nothing it is very close to it. Offer for 30 days only.

ROBBED THE MAYOR'S COOP

Chicken Thieves Take Valuable Fowls Belonging to Wellsville's Executive.

Mayor W. L. Fogo, who is quite a fancier of chickens and who owns quite a large flock, has been robbed several times during the past few months and he stated last evening that no less than 15 of his best roosters and hens are now missing.

On Monday evening he was robbed of the best pullets he ever owned. He will prosecute the thief if located, to the fullest extent of the law.

A Trip to Massachusetts.

At a special meeting of the Wellsville board of water works trustees Monday evening, Secretary Taylor reported to the board that he had received a telephone message from a representative of the Deane Steam Pump company, requesting the board to go to Andover, Mass., to see a Deane pump in operation, at the expense of the company. The board decided to accept the offer and left the city this morning. They will first inspect Epping Carpenter pumps in Pittsburg and then proceed to Andover.

Filed an Affidavit.

Otto Hill, who hails from "down yander," but who is now residing in Wellsville strolled into the mayor's office last evening and filed an affidavit against Kenney Bradley, also from down the river, charging him with being drunk and disorderly and using profane language. The accused has not yet been located. Hill claims that Bradley made an attempt to raise a ruck house in a boarding house in the West End.

No Meeting Held.

Mayor Fogo, president of the board of health, Secretary Taylor and Health Officer Tarr were the only members of the board who put in an appearance last evening at the meeting. As this was not a quorum, no meeting could be held. Another attempt will be made to hold a meeting this evening.

Notice of the withdrawal of the statehood rider from the appropriation bills will be given today.

SOUTH SIDE

MILL WILL START IN A SHORT TIME

RUMORS OF SHUT-DOWN ARE DECLARED BASELESS.

Trouble with the Machinery Soon to Be Repaired And a Steady Run Assured.

The expressed fear that the Chester tin mill, which has been having difficulty with its machinery for the past two or three weeks, might lead to an indefinite shut down, which has been much discussed in the town, is without foundation, according to the mill officials. The News Review yesterday published some of the talk that has been current in many quarters in Chester. Today, it is glad to be assured on the highest authority, that there is no ground for the fears expressed by those who were interviewed, and that the mill will resume in full in a few days and continue its operations steadily, having ample orders to insure a long run.

J. C. King, of the mill management, said this morning: "You cannot state too strongly that there is no danger of a shut down or a suspension. The mill will resume in full in a few days, a week at the farthest, and will run steadily in all departments. There has been trouble with the machinery, but the full cause has been ascertained and will now soon be remedied. Three weeks ago there was a break in the connecting rod on the low pressure cylinder. In fixing it, it was necessary to stop a day. A careful examination was then made of the cylinders. This had not been possible before, as the mill had been in operation steadily for a year. It was found that the cylinder was all right, but that one end of the shaft had dropped down about an inch from the wear of the metal.

"There was nothing wrong with the foundation, as has been reported. Wearing for some time, the spur wheels had ground the bearing so that it was not true. Raised to the proper position, this threw the gears into a different bearing causing a hammering and endangering the teeth. The only way to remedy this was to grind down and fix the teeth to make them true and even. In a few days, certainly not later than a week, the repairs will be completed, and the mill started for a steady run, with ample orders ahead."

Chester merchants and others who have been worried are greatly elated and encouraged by this assurance of the mill management.

TALK OF DEFEATING THE BOND ISSUE

A Few People Only Are Opposed to Having the Streets Improved And Paid For.

There appears to be considerable effort on the part of only a few persons in Chester to throw cold water on the attempt to issue more bonds for street paving purposes. There is but little doubt, in the minds of the great majority of persons interested, that the attempt to defeat the bond issue will fail. The town would be held responsible for the debt incurred already, whether the bond issue were carried or not. A town cannot repudiate its just debts any more than a state can. If the bond issue were voted down the town would be compelled to pay for the work already done even though it was unfinished, as the contractor has the warrant of the town calling for the amount already due less a certain per cent agreed upon to remain unpaid till the paving was completed.

At the next meeting of council that body will vote on an ordinance to issue bonds to the amount of $22,000 for street paving purposes. It will be necessary to leave the question again to the votes of the people and they will decide whether they shall be issued or not. It is urged that many have been dissatisfied with the work and do not want to issue bonds for the completion of the contract. On the other hand it is urged with good reason that with the work left as it is now it would be a great deal worse than if no work had been done at all. The argument that half a loaf is better than none does not hold good in such a case. At the election last summer for the purpose of deciding whether the bonds should be issued there was no opposition at all.

While there may be a few votes against the proposition at the present time there is little likelihood of any serious opposition. The good of the town demands that the work be completed. To do this it will be necessary to issue these bonds. The council will go ahead with the arrangements as quickly as possible and arrange for the election immediately.

The contractor, E. A. Freshwater will begin work again in about a month and will make an effort to finish the work entirely before fall. This will meet the approval of the entire population of the town, as they have been in great need for years of a good street through the town. When the paving is completed there will be few towns in the state that will be able to show a street finished as well as that proposed for Chester.

In Joyous Occasion—City Crowded

With Strangers, But Exodus Begins.

Battleships and Cruisers Will Leave.

New Orleans, Feb. 25.—The carnival closed last night in a blaze of glory. In point of attendance of strangers it has been the most successful ever held while the pageants were on a scale of great artistic splendor. The parade last night was by the Mystic Krewe of Comus. Its title was "A Leaf from the Mahabharata," and it illustrated in 29 superb floats the great epic poem of the Hindus.

The culminating society event of the season was the ball of Comus at the French opera house. The curtain rose upon a picturesque tableau revealing Comus on a throne of light and the masked krewe grouped on either side. Comus chose for his queen Miss Myrtle Stauffer. Miss Alice Roosevelt was present and again was the object of special attention. Admiral and Mrs. Schley and General Joseph Wheeler and his daughters were among the guests.

Rex held his ball, which was really a democratic reception, in Washington artillery hall, temporarily converted into a carnival palace. There was a great crush of the king's subjects. Miss Ingersoll-Mingo was chosen queen of the carnival and several society girls served as her attendants. After midnight there was an exchange of visits between Comus and Rex and their courts.

The period of sackcloth and ashes comes today. There will be a general exodus of visitors and the railroads have made special preparations to handle the heavy travel.

The French cruiser, Tage, which has been here for several weeks, will leave today for Jamaica, going thence to Martinique. Admiral River and his officers were attendants at the Comus ball last night. The battleship Texas which was brilliantly illuminated last night in honor of the king, also is expected to sail this week.

Charles Grether Hanged.

Steubenville, Pa., Feb. 25.—Charles Grether was hanged here yesterday for the murder of Constable Strunk in September, 1901. Strunk had gone to Grether's home to arrest him for robbery, when the latter shot the officer dead. Grether was convicted of murder in the first degree. Since his incarceration he has twice broken jail and the sheriff, who conducted the execution yesterday, is under indictment for allowing Grether to escape.

Buying Iron from Germany.

Berlin, Feb. 25.—The prices of iron are rising as a result of the American demand. An order for 25,000 tons has just been placed with the Rhine-Westphalian syndicate for shipment to the United States at 50 cents per ton higher than the syndicate demanded at the beginning of the month. The order could not be filled for April and had to be postponed until June.

LADRONES LEAVE MONTALBAN.

Troops Fail to Overtake Insurgents. San Miguel Advises Adherents to Let Americans Alone.

Manila, Feb. 25.—General San Miguel's force of insurgent ladrones has abandoned Montalban, 16 miles from here, and probably has fled to the Morong mountains. Reports from Rosoboso indicate the presence of ladrones in that vicinity. Reinforcements for the government troops reached Montalban too late and failed to overtake the retreating ladrones. San Miguel has about 300 men with him. It is not believed that they can subsist for any length of time in the mountains. The government is preparing to occupy the valleys and passes and force San Miguel to fight or disband his followers.

Later reports indicate that only 15 of the government troops (scouts and constabulary) were captured Saturday and Sunday when the ladrones surrounded the towns of Calinta and Tay-Tay, 11 miles from Manila. These men, as called February 22, were subsequently released by the ladrones after they had given up their arms. Detachments of constabulary and scouts encountered bands of the enemy on Saturday and a series of skirmishes ensued. The government forces were victorious.

San Miguel has issued a manifesto directing his adherents to avoid a conflict with the Americans and to content themselves with harassing the police.

Volcano Active.

Mexico City, Feb. 25.—The news of a violent eruption last Saturday of the volcano of Coima is confirmed. This volcano has been in eruption frequently during recent years. The eruption was violent and startling, but not more so than those of former years. Much alarm was felt by those in the vicinity. Stones of great size were ejected and flames shot high into the sky. When the first alarm was over, showers of ashes and finely pulverized rock began to fall. This alarmed the inhabitants of the district, who feared being buried under the debris. Yesterday's advisers reported the volcano becoming quiet, but it is feared it may burst forth again. There are many Americans in the vicinity.

Cubans Celebrate Anniversary.

Havana, Feb. 25.—The eighth anniversary of the uprising at Balra, which was the beginning of the Cuban revolution against Spanish rule, finally resulted in Cuba's freedom, was gaily celebrated in Havana yesterday. The day was also the climax of the carnival season, rain having previously interfered with the festivities. Business was suspended and the streets and building everywhere decorated with flags.

Unnatural Father.

Ironton, O., Feb. 25.—Sheriff Gilson and several deputies yesterday took Samuel Yeager from here to the Steubenville jail. Precaution was taken to guard him against mob violence, public feeling against the man being extremely bitter. Mrs. Yeager charges her husband with being the cause of her 15-year-old daughter's disgrace. Both mother and daughter appeared against him in Squire Paisley's court.

Foul Play Suspected.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Feb. 25.—Chris Whitman of Covington, Ky., a roustabout on the towboat Dave Wood, came ashore here yesterday to go to a hospital. He had $80 in cash. He was found dead this morning sitting in a chair in a hotel office, with only $12 in his pockets. The coroner suspects foul play and will hold an autopsy.

Wang Militiamen Discharged.

Schenectady, N. Y., Feb. 25.—The building trades council representing all men employed in any of the building trades, has made a demand upon Shafer & Barry, the employers of William Potter, the expelled militiaman, for his discharge. The demand has been refused and the building trades council has decided that when the spring building season opens, all union carpenters, painters, masons, lathers, plasterers, etc., will refuse to work on any building on which Potter has been employed. It is expected that the result will be to tie up building operations. Over 3,000 men are involved.

ROBBED THE MAYOR'S COOP

Chicken Thieves Take Valuable Fowls Belonging to Wellsville's Executive.

Mayor W. L. Fogo, who is quite a fancier of chickens and who owns quite a large flock, has been robbed several times during the past few months and he stated last evening that no less than 15 of his best roosters and hens are now missing.

On Monday evening he was robbed of the best pullets he ever owned. He will prosecute the thief if located, to the fullest extent of the law.

A Trip to Massachusetts.

At a special meeting of the Wellsville board of water works trustees Monday evening, Secretary Taylor reported to the board that he had received a telephone message from a representative of the Deane Steam Pump company, requesting the board to go to Andover, Mass., to see a Deane pump in operation, at the expense of the company. The board decided to accept the offer and left the city this morning. They will first inspect Epping Carpenter pumps in Pittsburg and then proceed to Andover.

Filed an Affidavit.

Otto Hill, who hails from "down yander," but who is now residing in Wellsville, strolled into the mayor's office last evening and filed an affidavit against Kenney Bradley, also from down the river, charging him with being drunk and disorderly and using profane language. The accused has not yet been located. Hill claims that Bradley made an attempt to raise rough house in a boarding house in the West End.

No Meeting Held.

Mayor Fogo, president of the board of health, Secretary Taylor and Health Officer Tarr were the only members of the board who put in an appearance last evening at the meeting. As this was not a quorum, no meeting could be held. Another attempt will be made to hold a meeting this evening.

The order of business in the senate for the remainder of this session has been quite definitely decided on. Appropriation bills will be given the right of way and the Pan-American canal treaty will be considered while the appropriation bills are in conference. There will be an effort made to get through other bills, including Senator Aldrich's bond deposit bill. Notice of the withdrawal of the statehood rider from the appropriation bills will be given today.

SOUTH SIDE

MILL WILL START IN A SHORT TIME

RUMORS OF SHUT-DOWN ARE DECLARED BASELESS.

Trouble With the Machinery Soon to Be Repaired And a Steady Run Assured.

The expressed fear that the Chester tin mill, which has been having difficulty with its machinery for the past two or three weeks, might lead to an indefinite shut down, which has been much discussed in the town, is without foundation, according to the mill officials. The News Review yesterday published some of the talk that has been current in many quarters in Chester. Today, it is glad to be assured on the highest authority, that there is no ground for the fears expressed by those who were interviewed, and that the mill will resume in full in a few days and continue its operations steadily, having ample orders to insure a long run.

J. C. King, of the mill management, said this morning: "You cannot state too strongly that there is no danger of a shut down or a suspension. The mill will resume in full in a few days, a week at the farthest, and will run steadily in all departments. There has been trouble with the machinery, but the full cause has been ascertained and will now soon be remedied. Three weeks ago there was a break in the connecting rod on the low pressure cylinder. In fixing it, it was necessary to stop a day. A careful examination was then made of the cylinders. This had not been possible before, as the mill had been in operation steadily for a year. It was found that the cylinder was all right, but that one end of the shaft had dropped down about an inch from the wear of the metal.

"There was nothing wrong with the foundation, as has been reported. Wearing for some time, the spur wheels had ground the bearing so that it was not true. Raised to the proper position, this threw the gears into a different bearing causing a hammering and endangering the teeth. The only way to remedy this was to grind down and fix the teeth to make them true and even. In a few days, certainly not later than a week, the repairs will be completed, and the mill started for a steady run, with ample orders ahead."

Chester merchants and others who have been worried are greatly elated and encouraged by this assurance of the mill management.

TALK OF DEFEATING THE BOND ISSUE

A Few People Only Are Opposed to Having the Streets Improved And Paid For.

There appears to be considerable fort on the part of only a few persons in Chester to throw cold water on the attempt to issue more bonds for street paving purposes. There is but little doubt in the minds of the great majority of persons interested, that the attempts to defeat the bond issue will fail. The town would be held responsible for the debt incurred already, whether the bond issue were carried or not. A town cannot repudiate its just debts any more than a state can. If the bond issue were voted down the town would be compelled to pay for the work already done even though it was unfinished, as the contractor has the warrant of the town calling for the amount already due less a certain per cent agreed upon to remain unpaid till the paving was completed.

At the next meeting of council that body will vote on an ordinance to issue bonds to the amount of $22,000 for street paving purposes. It will be necessary to leave the question again to the votes of the people and they will decide whether they shall be issued or not. It is urged that many have been dissatisfied with the work and do not want to issue bonds for the completion of the contract. On the other hand it is urged with good reason that with the work left as it is now it would be a great deal worse than if no work had been done at all. The argument that half a loaf is better than none does not hold good in such a case. At the election last summer for the purpose of deciding whether the bonds should be issued there was no opposition at all.

While there may be a few votes against the proposition at the present time there is little likelihood of any serious opposition. The good of the town demands that the work be completed. To do this it will be necessary to issue these bonds. The council will go ahead with the arrangements as quickly as possible and arrange for the election immediately.

The contractor, E. A. Freshwater will begin work again in about a month and will make an effort to finish the work entirely before fall. This will meet the approval of the entire population of the town, as they have been in great need for years of a good street through the town. When the paving is completed there will be few towns in the state that will be able to show a street finished as well as that proposed for Chester.

MOVING THE POSTOFFICE

Project of Locating It in the Upper End of Chester Now Under Discussion.

There is some talk of the postoffice of Chester being moved to the upper end of town. One of the owners of a new business room being erected there has agreed to donate a space 15 feet square in the front of his store room, or any amount of floor space desired in the rear of the building if the department will locate the postoffice in that end of the town. He agrees to let the office be located in his room without any rent.

It is not known whether the offer will be accepted. As the department does not pay the rent for the fourth-class offices, that is left with the discretion of the postmaster. However, the department has the real say, but usually follows the recommendations of the postmaster in charge.

In preparation for the religious revival to be held in Wellsville commencing Sunday evening, cottage prayer meetings were held throughout the town last evening. The subject was, "Souls: Their Value, Danger and Means of Salvation." The meetings were held at the following homes:

James Robinson, Eighteenth and Main streets; Mr. Vernillion, Nicholson's addition on Nineteenth street; George M. Clark, Highland avenue; J. W. Russell, Eleventh and Front streets; F. F. Burbeck, Eleventh and Short streets; Mrs. A. H. Grim, Eleventh and Short streets; Charles Adams, 1209 Commerce street; M. L. Worstell, 1202 Main street; Mrs. Hamilton, Fourteenth and Main streets; Philip Fraser, Fourteenth and Hill side; W. S. Burnett, Main street, between Ninth and Eleventh streets; J. S. Forbes, Eleventh and Commerce streets; Robert Wilcoxon, Tenth and Center streets; J. R. Junkin, Tenth and Commerce streets; Jacob Seriff, Tenth street; F. M. Hawley, Fourth street; Charles Andrews, Eighth street; Mrs. Lena McFall, Commerce street near Eighth; J. W. Duncan, 706 Coal street; J. G. Keating, West End; Frank Hill, West End; John A. Johnson, Broadway, near Fifth; A. B. Apple, Main street, near Fifth; Mrs. Ann Henderson, Main and Fifth; Mrs. St. Clair, Broadway and Third; Mrs. Stewart, Main street.

ROBBED THE MAYOR'S COOP

Chicken Thieves Take Valuable Fowls Belonging to Wellsville's Executive.

Mayor W. L. Fogo, who is quite a fan of chickens and who owns quite a large flock, has been robbed several times during the past few months and he stated last evening that no less than 15 of his best roosters and hens are now missing.

On Monday evening he was robbed of the best pullets he ever owned. He will prosecute the thief if located, to the fullest extent of the law.

A Trip to Massachusetts.

At a special meeting of the Wellsville board of water works trustees Monday evening, Secretary Taylor reported to the board that he had received a telephone message from a representative of the Deane Steam Pump company, requesting the board to go to Andover, Mass., to see a Deane pump in operation, at the expense of the company. The board decided to accept the offer and left the city this morning. They will first inspect the pump in operation in Andover.

Filed an Affidavit.

Otto Hill, who hails from "down yander," but who is now residing in Wellsville, strolled into the mayor's office last evening and filed an affidavit against Kenney Bradley, also from down the river, charging him with being drunk and disorderly and using profane language. The accused has not yet been located. Hill claims that Bradley made an attempt to raise a ruck house in a boarding house in the West End.

No Meeting Held.

Mayor Fogo, president of the board of health, Secretary Taylor and Health Officer Tapp were the only members of the board who put in an appearance last evening at the meeting. As this was not a quorum, no meeting could be held. Another attempt will be made to hold a meeting this evening.

The order of business in the senate for the remainder of this session has been quite definitely decided on. Appropriation bills will be given the right of way and the Pan-American canal treaty will be considered while the appropriation bills are in conference. There will be an effort made to get through other bills, including Senator Aldrich's bond deposit bill. Notice of the withdrawal of the statehood rider from the appropriation bills will be given today.

SOUTH SIDE

MILL WILL START

IN A SHORT TIME

RUMORS OF SHUT-DOWN ARE DECLARED BASELESS.

Trouble With the Machinery Soon to Be Repaired And a Steady Run Assured.

The expressed fear that the Chester tin mill, which has been having difficulty with its machinery for the past two or three weeks, might lead to an indefinite shut down, which has been much discussed in the town, is without foundation, according to the mill officials. The News Review yesterday published some of the talk that has been current in many quarters in Chester. Today, it is glad to be assured on the highest authority, that there is no ground for the fears expressed by those who were interviewed, and that the mill will resume in full in a few days and continue its operations steadily, having ample orders to insure a long run.

J. C. King, of the mill management, said this morning: "You cannot state too strongly that there is no danger of a shut down or a suspension. The mill will resume in full in a few days, a week at the farthest, and will run steadily in all departments. There has been trouble with the machinery, but the full cause has been ascertained and will now soon be remedied. Three weeks ago there was a break in the connecting rod on the low pressure cylinder. In fixing it, it was necessary to stop a day. A careful examination was then made of the cylinders. This had not been possible before, as the mill had been in operation steadily for a year. It was found that the cylinder was all right, but that one end of the shaft had dropped down about an inch from the wear of the metal.

"There was nothing wrong with the foundation, as has been reported. Wearing for some time, the spur wheels had ground the bearing so that it was not true. Raised to the proper position, this threw the gears into a different bearing causing a hammering and endangering the teeth. The only way to remedy this was to grind down and fix the teeth to make them true and even. In a few days, certainly not later than a week, the repairs will be completed, and the mill started for a steady run, with ample orders ahead."

Chester merchants and others who have been worried are greatly elated and encouraged by this assurance of the mill management.

TALK OF DEFEATING THE BOND ISSUE

A Few People Only Are Opposed to Having the Streets Improved And Paid For.

There appears to be considerable fort on the part of only a few persons in Chester to throw cold water on the attempt to issue more bonds for street paving purposes. There is but little doubt, in the minds of the great majority of persons interested, that the attempt to defeat the bond issue will fail. The town would be held responsible for the debt incurred already, whether the bond issue were carried or not. A town cannot repudiate its just debts any more than a state can. If the bond issue were voted down the town would be compelled to pay for the work already done even though it was unfinished, as the contractor has the warrant of the town calling for the amount already due less a certain per cent agreed upon to remain unpaid till the paving was completed.

At the next meeting of council that body will vote on an ordinance to issue bonds to the amount of $22,000 for street paving purposes. It will be necessary to leave the question again to the votes of the people and they will decide whether they shall be issued or not. It is urged that many have been dissatisfied with the work and do not want to issue bonds for the completion of the contract. On the other hand it is urged with good reason that with the work left as it is now it would be a great deal worse than if no work had been done at all. The argument that half a loaf is better than none does not hold good in such a case. At the election last summer for the purpose of deciding whether the bonds should be issued there was no opposition at all.

While there may be a few votes against the proposition at the present time there is little likelihood of any serious opposition. The good of the town demands that the work be completed. To do this it will be necessary to issue these bonds. The council will go ahead with the arrangements as quickly as possible and arrange for the election immediately.

The contractor, E. A. Freshwater, will begin work again in about a month and will make an effort to finish the work entirely before fall. This will meet the approval of the entire population of the town, as they have been in great need for years of a good street through the town. When the paving is completed there will be few towns in the state that will be able to show a street finished as well as that proposed for Chester.

RIVAL KINGS EXCHANGE VISITS.

Many Prominent People Participated In Joyous Occasion—City Crowded With Strangers, But Exodus Begins. Battleships and Cruisers Will Leave.

New Orleans, Feb. 25.—The carnival closed last night in a blaze of glory. In point of attendance of strangers it has been the most successful ever held while the pageants were on a scale of great artistic splendor. The parade last night was by the Mystic Krewe of Comus. Its title was "A Leaf from the Mahabharata," and it illustrated in 20 superb floats the great epic poem of the Hindus.

The culminating society event of the season was the ball of Comus at the French opera house. The curtain rose upon a picturesque tableau revealing Comus on a throne of light and the masked krewes grouped on either side. Comus chose for his queen Miss Myrtle Stauffer. Miss Alice Roosevelt was present and again was the object of special attention. Admiral and Mrs. Schley and General Joseph Wheeler and his daughters were among the guests.

Rex held his ball, which was really a democratic reception, in Washington artillery hall, temporarily converted into a carnival palace. There was a great crush of the king's subjects. Miss Ingersoll's Minge was chosen queen of the carnival and several society girls served as her attendants. After midnight there was an exchange of visits between Comus and Rex and their courts.

The period of sackcloth and ashes comes today. There will be a general exodus of visitors and the railroads have made special preparations to handle the heavy travel. The French cruiser, Tage, which has been here for several weeks, will leave today for Jamaica, going thence to Martinique. Admiral River and his officers were attendants at the Comus ball last night. The battle-ship Texas which was brilliantly illuminated last night in honor of the king, also is expected to sail this week.

Stroudsburg, Pa., Feb. 25.—Charles Grether was hanged here yesterday for the murder of Constable Strunk in September, 1901. Strunk had gone to Grether's home to arrest him for robbery, when the latter shot the officer dead. Grether was convicted of murder in the first degree. Since his incarceration he has twice broken jail and the sheriff, who conducted the execution yesterday, is under indictment for allowing Grether to escape.

Buying Iron from Germany. Berlin, Feb. 25.—The prices of iron are rising as a result of the American demand. An order for 25,000 tons has just been placed with the Rhine-Westphalian syndicate for shipment to the United States at 50 cents per ton higher than the syndicate demanded at the beginning of the month. The order could not be filled for April and had to be postponed until June.

LADRONES LEAVE MONTALBAN.

Troops Fail to Overtake Insurgents. San Miguel Advises Adherents to Let Americans Alone.

Manila, Feb. 25.—General San Miguel's force of insurgent ladrones has abandoned Montalban, 16 miles from here, and probably has fled to the Morong mountains. Reports from Boscoboso indicate the presence of ladrones in that vicinity. Reinforcements for the government troops reached Montalban too late and failed to overtake the retreating ladrones. San Miguel has about 300 men with him. It is not believed that they can subsist for any length of time in the mountains. The government is preparing to occupy the valleys and passes and force San Miguel to fight or disband his followers.

Later reports indicate that only 15 of the government troops (scouts and constabulary) were captured Saturday and Sunday when the ladrones surrounded the towns of Calinta and Tay-Tay, 11 miles from Manila. These men, as called February 22, were subsequently released by the ladrones after they had given up their arms.

Detachments of constabulary and scouts encountered bands of the enemy on Saturday and a series of skirmishes ensued. The government forces were victorious.

San Miguel has issued a manifesto directing his adherents to avoid a conflict with the Americans and to content themselves with harassing the police.

Volcano Active.

Mexico City, Feb. 25.—The news of a violent eruption last Saturday of the volcano of Conima is confirmed. This volcano has been in eruption frequently during recent years. The eruption was violent and startling, but not more so than those of former years. Much alarm was felt by those in the vicinity. Stones of great size were ejected and flames shot high into the sky. When the first alarm was over, showers of ashes and finely pulverized rock began to fall. This alarmed the inhabitants of the district, who feared being buried under the debris. Yesterday's activities reported the volcano becoming quiet, but it is feared it may burst forth again. There are many Americans in the vicinity.

Cubans Celebrate Anniversary. Havana, Feb. 25.—The eighth anniversary of the uprising at Balra, which was the beginning of the Cuban revolution against Spanish rule, finally resulted in Cuba's freedom, was gaily celebrated in Havana yesterday. The day was also the climax of the carnival season, rain having previously interfered with the festivities. Business was suspended and the streets and building everywhere decorated with flags.

Unnatural Father.

Irondale, O., Feb. 25.—Sheriff Gilson and several deputies yesterday took Samuel Yeager from here to the Steubenville jail. Precaution was taken to guard him against mob violence, public feeling against the man being extremely bitter. Mrs. Yeager charges her husband with being the cause of her 15-year-old daughter's disgrace. Both mother and daughter appeared against him in Squire Paisley's court.

Foul Play Suspected.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Feb. 25.—Chris Whitman of Covington, Ky., a roustabout on the towboat Dave Wood, came ashore here yesterday to go to a hospital. He had $80 in cash. He was found dead this morning sitting in a chair in a hotel office, with only $12 in his pockets. The coroner suspects foul play and will hold an autopsy.

Interesting Features of Medicine

By George Thomas Palmer, M. D.

X.—Imagination as a Cause and Cure of Disease.

PHYSICIANS have so far recognized the part which imagination plays as an etiological factor among patients that they have given to diseases of imaginative origin a distinct name. Imagined or fancied disease is known as hypochondriasis, and there are doubtless many conditions treated as real which should come under this class. Hypochondriasis must not be confused with malingering, which is a purely voluntary feigning of disease, for in the former there is certainly a very real disease element which forces the belief in the malady upon the patient. If the condition complained of is not genuine, there is certainly a functional disease of the brain.

There has always been a great deal of humor in the anecdotes of medical students reading over their first texts on medicine and developing the symptoms of the diseases of which they read. This is not the invention of the wit, but is experienced by many a sensible young man. This tendency is the means by which patent medicine vendors hook their prey. They issue "family doctor books" outlining the symptoms of serious diseases. "Do you suffer from a sense of weariness?" they ask. "Do you awaken with an unpleasant taste in your mouth? Do your feet and hands go to sleep? Are your eyes ever puffy in the morning? Have you been guilty of any moral indiscretions in past years?" "Yes, yes," the victim cries. Then he reads, "If so, the course lies toward the madhouse, an early death, diseased mind! Your only salvation lies in Quaker's Quaker Quassia; price, $3; sent in sealed wrapper."

Dr. Gibier.
 [Prominent follower of the Pasteur method of inoculation for rabies.]

It may seem trite to introduce this instance in detail, but it is one of the most striking examples of the effect of imagination. The one who reads the advertisement realizes that he has had these symptoms (every living man has), and he concludes that he has that disease. He is entirely convinced of it and buys a bottle of the patent medicine. Seeing as months go by that the results are not so black as predicted, he does not lose faith in the patent medicine almanac, but acquires great faith in the nostrum and writes a testimonial, with all sincerity, telling of his wonderful cure. That this is not exaggerated more than one honest patent medicine maker can testify.

It is well known among physicians that a clean wound made by the surgeon's knife does not cause pain lasting after the operation. This is shown from the fact that many patients rendered unconscious by accidents which make amputations necessary are unconscious of the fact that the operation has taken place after regaining consciousness. However, as soon as they realize what has happened they often complain of intense pain. Here is where imagination has the upper hand. The use of a hypodermic injection of plain water under the pretext of its being morphine will often cause immediate relief. Here is an example of a case in which imagination cures.

Just where real disease begins and imagination ends is a very difficult matter to determine and one which calls into play all of the tact and ingenuity of the physician, for a hint at imagination as the foundation of the patient's ailment is always resented. There are cases, however, known as chronic invalidism, beginning with some real disease of a chronic nature. At last a cure may be effected, but the patient has become an invalid by habit and continues to feel so long after every trace of disease has disappeared. He feels every pain of which he is accustomed to complain as truly as though it really existed. For such a condition imagination is the surest and best remedy, and wise is the doctor who in such cases treats the mind rather than the body. These are the cases upon which the various faith cures thrive, and faith cure is the proper therapy.

Cases are reported of those who have long been crippled being carried to a man like Dowie. He, laying on his hand, orders the patient to arise and walk, with the result of immediate cure. These are the ones who have at one time been really crippled and have recovered, but have gone through life imagining that they were still helpless. It is the faith in the alleged power of the charlatan which prompts the effort which discloses the fact that power is regained.

Imagination as a cure of disease has necessarily been considered in a way in another chapter, but imagination is used outside the ranks of the fakirs. It is a potent element in the treatment of regular physicians. It is the power of imagination which produces results with those inert medicinal preparations known as placebos. A successful country doctor told me that he had three kinds of placebo tablets, pink, white and blue, all simply made of sugar of milk and utterly inert. He had been giving a patient the white tablets until the patient complained that the medicine given was not strong enough. Expressing his disapproval of such powerful drugs, the physician produced a blue pill and gave it with a great deal of ceremony. The result was immediate and gratifying in the extreme, although, as I have said, the white and blue tablets were equally inert.

There are a great many cases coming under the doctor's care in which he would prefer to give no medicine at all, either because there is no disease justifying it or because the disease is self limiting and tends to spontaneous cure. It is a fact generally recognized that in most cases drugs must be given to act upon the imagination of the patient, and for this purpose it makes practically no difference what it is so long as it does no harm.

Some time ago in a surgical clinic I saw a demonstration of the power of imagination which was interesting. A woman had been placed upon the table preparatory to an operation without anesthesia. The operator instructed her to compose herself. "It will be over in a moment," he said. With this he drew his finger nail over the location for incision. The woman uttered a scream and was fairly convulsed with pain. She could not be convinced that the incision had not been made until she was permitted to see the spot. She had suffered all the pain of the operation when nothing had been done to cause the slightest discomfort. This same patient had applied for operation to have a needle removed from her thigh, in which it had been accidentally lodged some weeks before and which she claimed, caused her great inconvenience. A slight skin incision was made by the operator and immediately sewed up. The needle was not found, and yet the recovery was complete.

So it may be seen that there is a great deal in the idea of mind over-coming matter. It is evidenced every day in general practice. The physician who has the entire confidence of the patient is always able to accomplish more than the man in whom the patient does not have so much faith, and the great specialist who is credited with the accomplishment of wonders is capable of doing as much by the mental impression he makes upon the patient as by his drugs.

The real indications for the use of electricity are exceedingly small. The real cures which can be accomplished by it are few, and yet in those cases in which imagination is an element there is nothing so potent. The very fact that there is always a degree of mystery about the workings of electricity, the fact that we have never learned exactly what it is, adds to its curative power when acting upon the mind.

It may be safely said that all of those conditions which can be caused by emotions or abnormal mental action—by pleasure, sorrow, worry, surprise—may also be caused by action of the imagination, and influences which will act upon and produce these same emotions are the best means of cure.

Upon good authority we hear of some great surprise or joy opening the eyes of the blind, of some alarm or fear giving strength to crippled limbs, to great emotion ending an apparently hopeless disease.

Pasteur's Method of Inoculation For Rabies.

Can it be that such emotions have joggled the lagging brain cells into action again, or must we accept it as the mental impetus which overcomes the imaginative disease?

The hypochondriacal conditions which are products of imagination or mental wandering and which are increasing with the high mental strain of modern civilization must be met by mental suggestion, which is the direction of the imagination into channels which are normal rather than pathological.

Impersonated His Father.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 25.—John Page, an inmate of the soldiers' home in Noroton, who was charged with having obtained a pension by impersonating his father, who served in the civil war, was yesterday sentenced in the United States district court to three years in state prison.

Strike Becoming Serious.

Denver, Col., Feb. 25.—The strike of the shop employees of the Colorado and Southern railway company threatens to become serious. The blacksmiths in Denver went out some days ago. They were joined Monday by the machinists here, and yesterday the boiler-makers in the Denver shops and the machinists, boiler-makers and wipers in Trinidad were called out. The strikers in Denver now number 195 and in Trinidad 125. The employees at Cheyenne have been ordered out, but have not as yet obeyed. Union recognition seems to be the most important question at issue.

Controls Valuable Water Power.

Quebec, Quebec, Feb. 25.—James L. Newton, Watertown, N. Y., closed a deal yesterday with the provincial government, through which he became owner of two water powers on the Pentecost river in the lower St. Lawrence and adjoining land for $13,500. These water powers are 70 and 54 feet high and are considered very valuable property, as they are situated in a great lumbering district. Mr. Newton intends forming a syndicate to manufacture pulp and timber and will commence operations as soon as navigation opens.

NEW YORK POSTOFFICE

Committee Recommends Buildings Be Erected Over Underground Railways.

WOULD SAVE TIME AND EXPENSE

Mails Could Be Delivered to Railroads

Through Pneumatic Tubes—Very Few Sites Offered Commission—Negotiations With Railroads.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The cabinet among other topics yesterday considered the report of the committee created by congress to acquire a site for a postoffice building in New York city. The commission was composed of three members of the cabinet, and after the president and his advisors had heard the report read it was transmitted to the house of representatives by Secretary Shaw. The salient feature of the report is a recommendation that postoffice buildings be erected over the underground railway tracks of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railways in New York city. The commission says that very few sites were offered to it and that of the many suggested condemnation proceedings would be necessary in all cases in order to secure title. The commission says it has to suggest a wholly new project, namely, the location of the postoffice buildings over the tracks of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railway system. It says by this means the half hour now lost in transporting the mails from the railroads to the postoffice would be saved and also the expense of the wagons now engaged in this transportation, as pneumatic tubes would be used.

The commission reports that negotiations already have been entered into with the two railroad companies. The commission recommends that congress extend its powers so as to enable it to purchase a site offered by the Pennsylvania Railway company, on Eighth avenue, extending from 31st to 33rd street, where the terminal is to be located, the price named to the government being $2,000,000; also to secure a site and to erect a postoffice building over the tracks of the New York Central railroad or adjacent to the new station to be built by that company. It is estimated that a building can be erected for about $3,000,000. An appropriation of $2,000,000 for the purchase of the Pennsylvania site is recommended. The request says that owing to the rise in values since the location of the railroads, a site opposite the present one will cost $5,000,000. The Pennsylvania road in its proposal reserves the right to use for station purposes only all the space under a plane of 20 feet below the curb line of the adjoining streets. The New York Central road yesterday sent a communication to the commission making a proposition for the sale of a site over its tracks approximately located where the present station now stands. The proposition in its present form is not altogether satisfactory to the commission. The Pennsylvania road is expected to begin the excavation of the Eighth avenue site at once and if that site is turned over to the government on July 1, 1904, as proposed by the Pennsylvania road, the postoffice there may be in operation about July 1, 1905. Senator Platt, of New York, yesterday offered an amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $2,000,000 toward the erection of a new postoffice building in New York, his purpose being to carry out the commission's recommendations.

Agreeing on Wages.

Manistee, Mich., Feb. 25.—Representatives of the Lake Lumber Carriers' association and the International Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers' association are in session here to agree on wages for lumber loading on Lakes Huron and Michigan this year. Secretary Randall heads the vessel owners and President Daniel J. Keefe is the principal representative of the longshoremen. The loading scale was fixed at 52½ cents an hour. This is the same as that of last year and is something of a surprise in view of the fact that a few days ago the Lake Superior longshoremen affected an agreement at 55 cents. The Manistee conference will today consider the scale for unloading.

Arrested on Suspicion.

Helena, Mont., Feb. 25.—The police have arrested John J. Jackson, a negro, on suspicion of being wanted in Washington, D. C., for a murder committed December 24 last. He is said to answer the description sent out by Washington authorities offering a reward for his arrest. Jackson asserts he can prove an alibi.

New Cause for Strike.

Torington, Conn., Feb. 25.—Because the officials of the Turner & Seymour Manufacturing company refused to discharge a man who owed the foundry workers union $5.50, 119 men in the foundry department of the company went on strike yesterday. At present the strike has not affected the other departments of the company.

NEW YORK POSTOFFICE

Committee Recommends Buildings Be Erected Over Underground Railways.

Mails Could Be Delivered to Railroads Through Pneumatic Tubes—Very Few Sites Offered Commission—Negotiations With Railroads.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The cabinet among other topics yesterday considered the report of the committee created by congress to acquire a site for a postoffice building in New York city. The commission was composed of three members of the cabinet, and after the president and his advisors had heard the report read it was transmitted to the house of representatives by Secretary Shaw. The salient feature of the report is a recommendation that postoffice buildings be erected over the underground railway tracks of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railways in New York city. The commission says that very few sites were offered to it and that of the many suggested condemnation proceedings would be necessary in all cases in order to secure title. The commission says it has to suggest a wholly new project, namely, the location of the postoffice buildings over the tracks of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railway system. It says by this means the half hour now lost in transporting the mails from the railroads to the postoffice would be saved and also the expense of the wagons now engaged in this transportation, as pneumatic tubes would be used.

The commission reports that negotiations already have been entered into with the two railroad companies. The commission recommends that congress extend its powers so as to enable it to purchase a site offered by the Pennsylvania Railway company, on Eighth avenue, extending from 31st to 33rd street, where the terminal is to be located, the price named to the government being $2,000,000; also to secure a site and to erect a postoffice building over the tracks of the New York Central railroad or adjacent to the new station to be built by that company. It is estimated that a building can be erected for about $2,000,000. An appropriation of $2,000,000 for the purchase of the Pennsylvania site is recommended. The request says that owing to the rise in values since the location of the railroads, a site opposite the present one will cost $6,000,000. The Pennsylvania road in its proposal reserves the right to use for station purposes only all the space under a plane of 20 feet below the curb line of the adjoining streets. The New York Central road yesterday sent a communication to the commission making a proposition for the sale of a site over its tracks approximately located where the present station now stands. The proposition is satisfactory to the commission. The Pennsylvania road is expected to begin the excavation of the Eighth avenue site at once and if that site is turned over to the government on July 1, 1904, as proposed by the Pennsylvania road, the postoffice there may be in operation about July 1, 1905. Senator Platt, of New York, yesterday offered an amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $2,000,000 toward the erection of a new postoffice building in New York, his purpose being to carry out the commission's recommendations.

Agreeing on Wages. Manistee, Mich., Feb. 25.—Representatives of the Lake Lumber Carriers' association and the International Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers' association are in session here to agree on wages for lumber loading on Lakes Huron and Michigan this year. Secretary Rensselaers heads the vessel owners and President Daniel J. Keefe is the principal representative of the longshoremen. The loading scale was fixed at 52 1/2 cents an hour. This is the same as that of last year and is something of a surprise in view of the fact that a few days ago the Lake Superior longshoremen affected an agreement at 55 cents. The Manistee conference will today consider the scale for unloading.

X.—Imagination as a Cause and Cure of Disease.

PHYSICIANS have so far recognized the part which imagination plays as an etiological factor among patients that they have given to diseases of imaginative origin a distinct name. Imagined or fancied disease is known as hypochondriasis, and there are doubtless many conditions treated as real which should come under this class. Hypochondriasis must not be confused with malingering, which is a purely voluntary feigning of disease, for in the former there is certainly a very real disease element which forces the belief in the malady upon the patient. If the condition complained of is not genuine, there is certainly a functional disease of the brain.

There has always been a great deal of humor in the anecdotes of medical students reading over their first texts on medicine and developing the symptoms of the diseases of which they read. This is not the invention of the wit, but is experienced by many a sensible young man. This tendency is the means by which patent medicine vendors hook their prey. They issue "family doctor books" outlining the symptoms of serious diseases. "Do you suffer from a sense of weariness?" they ask. "Do you awaken with an unpleasant taste in your mouth? Do your feet and hands go to sleep? Are your eyes ever puffy in the morning? Have you been guilty of any moral indiscretions in past years?" "Yes, yes," the victim cries. Then he reads, "If so, the course lies toward the madhouse, an early death, diseased mind! Your only salvation lies in Quackem's Quaker Quassia; price, $3; sent in sealed wrapper."

Dr. Gibier.

[Prominent follower of the Pasteur method of inoculation for rabies.]

It may seem trite to introduce this instance in detail, but it is one of the most striking examples of the effect of imagination. The one who reads the advertisement realizes that he has had these symptoms (every living man has), and he concludes that he has that disease. He is entirely convinced of it and buys a bottle of the patent medicine. Seeing as months go by that the results are not so black as predicted, he does not lose faith in the patent medicine almanac, but acquires great faith in the nostrum and writes a testimonial, with all sincerity, telling of his wonderful cure. That this is not exaggerated more than one honest patent medicine maker can testify.

It is well known among physicians that a clean wound made by the surgeon's knife does not cause pain lasting after the operation. This is shown from the fact that many patients rendered unconscious by accidents which make amputations necessary are unconscious of the fact that the operation has taken place after regaining consciousness. However, as soon as they realize what has happened they often complain of intense pain. Here is where imagination has the upper hand. The use of a hypodermic injection of plain water under the pretext of its being morphine will often cause immediate relief. Here is an example of a case in which imagination cures.

Just where real disease begins and imagination ends is a very difficult matter to determine and one which calls into play all of the tact and ingenuity of the physician, for a hint at imagination as the foundation of the patient's ailment is always resented. There are cases, however, known as chronic invalidism, beginning with some real disease of a chronic nature. At last a cure may be effected, but the patient has become an invalid by habit and continues to feel so long after every trace of disease has disappeared. He feels every pain of which he is accustomed to complain as truly as though it really existed. For such a condition imagination is the surest and best remedy, and wise is the doctor who in such cases treats the mind rather than the body. These are the cases upon which the various faith cures thrive, and faith cure is the proper therapy.

Cases are reported of those who have long been crippled being carried to a man like Dowie. He, laying on his hand, orders the patient to arise and walk, with the result of immediate cure. These are the ones who have at one time been really crippled and have recovered, but have gone through life imagining that they were still helpless. It is the faith in the alleged power of the charlatan which prompts the effort which discloses the fact that power is regained.

Imagination as a cure of disease has necessarily been considered in a way in another chapter, but imagination is used outside the ranks of the fakirs. It is a potent element in the treatment of regular physicians. It is the power of imagination which produces results with those inert medicinal preparations known as placebos. A successful country doctor told me that he had three kinds of placebo tablets, pink, white and blue, all simply made of sugar of milk and utterly inert. He had been giving a patient the white tablets until the patient complained that the medicine given was not strong enough. Expressing his disapproval of such powerful drugs, the physician produced a blue pill and gave it with a great deal of ceremony. The result was immediate and gratifying in the extreme, although, as I have said, the white and blue tablets were equally inert.

There are a great many cases coming under the doctor's care in which he would prefer to give no medicine at all, either because there is no disease justifying it or because the disease is self limiting and tends to spontaneous cure. It is a fact generally recognized that in most cases drugs must be given to act upon the imagination of the patient, and for this purpose it makes practically no difference what it is so long as it does no harm.

Some time ago in a surgical clinic I saw a demonstration of the power of imagination which was interesting. A woman had been placed upon the table preparatory to an operation without anesthesia. The operator instructed her to compose herself. "It will be over in a moment," he said. With this he drew his finger nail over the location for incision. The woman uttered a scream and was fairly convulsed with pain. She could not be convinced that the incision had not been made until she was permitted to see the spot. She had suffered all the pain of the operation when nothing had been done to cause the slightest discomfort. This same patient had applied for operation to have a needle removed from her thigh, in which it had been accidentally lodged some weeks before and which, she claimed, caused her great inconvenience. A slight skin incision was made by the operator and immediately sewed up. The needle was not found, and yet the recovery was complete.

So it may be seen that there is a great deal in the idea of mind over matter. It is evidenced every day in general practice. The physician who has the entire confidence of the patient is always able to accomplish more than the man in whom the patient does not have so much faith, and the great specialist who is credited with the accomplishment of wonders is capable of doing as much upon the mental impression he makes upon the patient as by his drugs.

The real indications for the use of electricity are exceedingly small. The real cures which can be accomplished by it are few, and yet in those cases in which imagination is an element there is nothing so potent. The very fact that there is always a degree of mystery about the workings of electricity, the fact that we have never learned exactly what it is, adds to its curative power when acting upon the mind.

It may be safely said that all of those conditions which can be caused by emotions or abnormal mental action—by pleasure, sorrow, worry, surprise—may also be caused by action of the imagination, and influences which will act upon and produce these same emotions are the best means of cure.

Upon good authority we hear of some great surprise or joy opening the eyes of the blind, of some alarm or fear giving strength to crippled limbs, to great emotion ending an apparently hopeless disease.

Can it be that such emotions have joggled the lagging brain cells into action again, or must we accept it as the mental impetus which overcomes the imaginative disease?

The hypochondriacal conditions which are products of imagination or mental wandering and which are increasing with the high mental strain of modern civilization must be met by mental suggestion, which is the direction of the imagination into channels which are normal rather than pathological. (Copyright, 1902, by Lewis D. Sampson.)

Strike Becoming Serious.

Denver, Col., Feb. 25.—The strike of the shop employees of the Colorado and Southern railway company threatens to become serious. The blacksmiths in Denver went out some days ago. They were joined Monday by the machinists here, and yesterday the boiler-makers in the Denver shops and the machinists, boiler-makers and wipers in Trinidad were called out. The strikers in Denver now number 195 and in Trinidad 125. The employees at Cheyenne have been ordered out, but have not as yet obeyed. Union recognition seems to be the most important question at issue.

These water powers are 70 and 64 feet high and are considered very valuable property, as they are situated in a great lumbering district. Mr. Newton intends forming a syndicate to manufacture pulp and timber and will commence operations as soon as navigation opens.

Interesting Features of Medicine

By George Thomas Palmer, M. D.

X.—Imagination as a Cause and Cure of Disease.

PHYSICIANS have so far recognized the part which imagination plays as an etiological factor among patients that they have given to diseases of imaginative origin a distinct name. Imagined or fancied disease is known as hypochondriasis, and there are doubtless many conditions treated as real which should come under this class. Hypochondriasis must not be confused with malingering, which is a purely voluntary feigning of disease, for in the former there is certainly a very real disease element which forces the belief in the malady upon the patient. If the condition complained of is not genuine, there is certainly a functional disease of the brain.

There has always been a great deal of humor in the anecdotes of medical students reading over their first texts on medicine and developing the symptoms of the diseases of which they read. This is not the invention of the wit, but is experienced by many a sensible young man. This tendency is the means by which patent medicine vendors hook their prey. They issue "family doctor books" outlining the symptoms of serious diseases. "Do you suffer from a sense of weariness?" they ask. "Do you awaken with an unpleasant taste in your mouth? Do your feet and hands go to sleep? Are your eyes ever puffy in the morning? Have you been guilty of any moral indiscretions in past years?" "Yes, yes," the victim cries. Then he reads, "If so, the course lies toward the madhouse, an early death, diseased mind! Your only salvation lies in Quacken's Quaker Quassia; price, $3; sent in sealed wrapper."

It may seem trite to introduce this instance in detail, but it is one of the most striking examples of the effect of imagination. The one who reads the advertisement realizes that he has had these symptoms (every living man has), and he concludes that he has that disease. He is entirely convinced of it and buys a bottle of the patent medicine. Seeing as months go by that the results are not so black as predicted, he does not lose faith in the patent medicine almanac, but acquires great faith in the nostrum and writes a testimonial, with all sincerity, telling of his wonderful cure. That this is not exaggerated more than one honest patent medicine maker can testify.

It is well known among physicians that a clean wound made by the surgeon's knife does not cause pain lasting after the operation. This is shown from the fact that many patients rendered unconscious by accidents which make amputations necessary are unconscious of the fact that the operation has taken place after regaining consciousness. However, as soon as they realize what has happened they often complain of intense pain. Here is where imagination has the upper hand. The use of a hypodermic injection of plain water under the pretext of its being morphine will often cause immediate relief. Here is an example of a case in which imagination cures.

Just where real disease begins and imagination ends is a very difficult matter to determine and one which calls into play all of the tact and ingenuity of the physician, for a hint at imagination as the foundation of the patient's ailment is always resented. There are cases, however, known as chronic invalidism, beginning with some real disease of a chronic nature. At last a cure may be effected, but the patient has become an invalid by habit and continues to feel so long after every trace of disease has disappeared. He feels every pain of which he is accustomed to complain as truly as though it really existed. For such a condition imagination is the surest and best remedy, and wise is the doctor who in such cases treats the mind rather than the body. These are the cases upon which the various faith cures thrive, and faith cure is the proper therapy.

Cases are reported of those who have long been crippled being carried to a man like Dowie. He, laying on his hand, orders the patient to arise and walk, with the result of immediate cure. These are the ones who have at one time been really crippled and have recovered, but have gone through life imagining that they were still helpless. It is the faith in the alleged power of the charlatan which prompts the effort which discloses the fact that power is regained.

Imagination as a cure of disease has necessarily been considered in a way in another chapter, but imagination is used outside the ranks of the fakirs. It is a potent element in the treatment of regular physicians. It is the power of imagination which produces results with those inert medicinal preparations known as placebos. A successful country doctor told me that he had three kinds of placebo tablets, pink, white and blue, all simply made of sugar of milk and utterly inert. He had been giving a patient the white tablets until the patient complained that the medicine given was not strong enough. Expressing his disapproval of such powerful drugs, the physician produced a blue pill and gave it with a great deal of ceremony. The result was immediate and gratifying in the extreme, although, as I have said, the white and blue tablets were equally inert.

There are a great many cases coming under the doctor's care in which he would prefer to give no medicine at all, either because there is no disease justifying it or because the disease is self limiting and tends to spontaneous cure. It is a fact generally recognized that in most cases drugs must be given to act upon the imagination of the patient, and for this purpose it makes practically no difference what it is so long as it does no harm.

Some time ago in a surgical clinic I saw a demonstration of the power of imagination which was interesting. A woman had been placed upon the table preparatory to an operation without anesthesia. The operator instructed her to compose herself. "It will be over in a moment," he said. With this he drew his finger nail over the location for incision. The woman uttered a scream and was fairly convulsed with pain. She could not be convinced that the incision had not been made until she was permitted to see the spot. She had suffered all the pain of the operation when nothing had been done to cause the slightest discomfort. This same patient had applied for operation to have a needle removed from her thigh, in which it had been accidentally lodged some weeks before and which, she claimed, caused her great inconvenience. A slight skin incision was made by the operator and immediately sewed up. The needle was not found, and yet the recovery was complete.

So it may be seen that there is a great deal in the idea of mind over matter. It is evidenced every day in general practice. The physician who has the entire confidence of the patient is always able to accomplish more than the man in whom the patient does not have so much faith, and the great specialist who is credited with the accomplishment of wonders is capable of doing as much by the mental impression he makes upon the patient as by his drugs.

The real indications for the use of electricity are exceedingly small. The real cures which can be accomplished by it are few, and yet in those cases in which imagination is an element there is nothing so potent. The very fact that there is always a degree of mystery about the workings of electricity, the fact that we have never learned exactly what it is, adds to its curative power when acting upon the mind.

It may be safely said that all of those conditions which can be caused by emotions or abnormal mental action—by pleasure, sorrow, worry, surprise—may also be caused by action of the imagination, and influences which will act upon and produce these same emotions are the best means of cure.

Upon good authority we hear of some great surprise or joy opening the eyes of the blind, of some alarm or fear giving strength to crippled limbs, to great emotion ending an apparently hopeless disease.

Can it be that such emotions have jogged the lagging brain cells into action again, or must we accept it as the mental impetus which overcomes the imaginative disease?

The hypochondriacal conditions which are products of imagination or mental wandering and which are increasing with the high mental strain of modern civilization must be met by mental suggestion, which is the direction of the imagination into channels which are normal rather than pathological.

Impersonated His Father.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 25.—John Page, an inmate of the soldiers' home in Noroton, who was charged with having obtained a pension by impersonating his father, who served in the civil war, was yesterday sentenced in the United States district court to three years in state prison.

Strike Becoming Serious.

Denver, Col., Feb. 25.—The strike of the shop employees of the Colorado and Southern railway company threatens to become serious. The blacksmiths in Denver went out some days ago. They were joined Monday by the machinists here, and yesterday the boiler-makers in the Denver shops and the machinists, boiler-makers and wipers in Trinidad were called out. The strikers in Denver now number 195 and in Trinidad 125. The employees at Cheyenne have been ordered out, but have not as yet obeyed. Union recognition seems to be the most important question at issue.

Controls Valuable Water Power.

Quebec, Quebec, Feb. 25.—James L. Newton, Watertown, N. Y., closed a deal yesterday with the provincial government, through which he became owner of two water powers on Pentecost river in the lower St. Lawrence and adjoining land for $13,500. These water powers are 70 and 54 feet high and are considered very valuable property, as they are situated in a great lumbering district. ## NEW YORK POSTOFFICE

Committee Recommends Buildings Be Erected Over Underground Railways.

WOULD SAVE TIME AND EXPENSE

Mails Could Be Delivered to Railroads Through Pneumatic Tubes—Very Few Sites Offered Commission—Negotiations With Railroads.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The cabinet among other topics yesterday considered the report of the committee created by congress to acquire a site for a postoffice building in New York city. The commission was composed of three members of the cabinet, and after the president and his advisors had heard the report read it was transmitted to the house of representatives by Secretary Shaw. The salient feature of the report is a recommendation that postoffice buildings be erected over the underground railway tracks of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railways in New York city. The commission says that very few sites were offered to it and that of the many suggested condemnation proceedings would be necessary in all cases in order to secure title. The commission says it has to suggest a wholly new project, namely, the location of the postoffice buildings over the tracks of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railway system. It says by this means the half hour now lost in transporting the mails from the railroads to the postoffice would be saved and also the expense of the wagons now engaged in this transportation, as pneumatic tubes would be used.

The commission reports that negotiations already have been entered into with the two railroad companies. The commission recommends that congress extend its powers so as to enable it to purchase a site offered by the Pennsylvania Railway company, on Eighth avenue, extending from 31st to 33rd street, where the terminal is to be located, the price named to the government being $2,000,000; also to secure a site and to erect a postoffice building over the tracks of the New York Central railroad or adjacent to the new station to be built by that company. It is estimated that a building can be erected for about $3,000,000. An appropriation of $2,000,000 for the purchase of the Pennsylvania site is recommended. The request says that owing to the rise in values since the location of the railroads, a site opposite the present one will cost $5,000,000. The Pennsylvania road in its proposal reserves the right to use for station purposes only all the space under a plane of 20 feet below the curb line of the adjoining streets. The New York Central road yesterday sent a communication to the commission making a proposition for the sale of a site over its tracks approximately located where the present station now stands. The proposition in its present form is not altogether satisfactory to the commission. The Pennsylvania road is expected to begin the excavation of the Eighth avenue site at once and if that site is turned over to the government on July 1, 1904, as proposed by the Pennsylvania road, the postoffice there may be in operation about July 1, 1905.

Senator Platt, of New York, yesterday offered an amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $2,000,000 toward the erection of a new postoffice building in New York, his purpose being to carry out the commission's recommendations.

Agreeing on Wages.

Manistee, Mich., Feb. 25.—Representatives of the Lake Lumber Carriers' association and the International Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers' association are in session here to agree on wages for lumber loading on Lakes Huron and Michigan this year. Secretary Russell heads the vessel owners and President Daniel J. Keefe is the principal representative of the longshoremen. The loading scale was fixed at 52½ cents an hour. This is the same as that of last year and is something of a surprise in view of the fact that a few days ago the Lake Superior longshoremen affected an agreement at 55 cents. The Manistee conference will today consider the scale for unloading.

Arrested on Suspicion.

Helena, Mont., Feb. 25.—The police have arrested John J. Jackson, a negro, on suspicion of being wanted in Washington, D. C., for a murder committed December 24 last. He is said to answer the description sent out by Washington authorities offering a reward for his arrest. Jackson asserts he can prove an alibi.

New Cause for Strike.

Torington, Conn., Feb. 25.—Because the officials of the Turner & Seymour Manufacturing company refused to discharge a man who owed the foundry workers union $5.50, 119 men in the foundry department of the company went on strike yesterday. At present the strike has not affected the other departments of the company.

Alcock's POROUS PLASTERS

EST. 1847.
Are a universal remedy for Pains in the Back (so frequent in the case of women). They give instantaneous relief. Wherever there is a pain apply a Plaster.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE

Rheumatism, Colds, Coughs Weak Chest, Weak Back Lumbago, Sciatica, &c., &c.

If you want the best results, the quickest and cleanest cure, use Alcock's Plasters. They are far superior to belladonna, which is the extract of deadly night shade, a virulent poison, and never should be used except by direction of a physician. Alcock's Plasters contain no poisons. They cure by absorption. Absolutely curative, perfectly harmless.

Read letter from Prof. Henry A. Mott, the eminent chemist.
"My investigation of Alcock's Porous Plaster shows it to contain valuable and essential ingredients not found in any other plaster, and I find it superior to and more efficient than any other plaster."

No. 228 Territorial Street, Benton Harbor, Mich.

"I am pleased to give my experience with Wine of Cardui as I am very grateful for its help. After my first baby was born I could not seem to regain my strength, although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband came home one evening with some Wine of Cardui and insisted that I take it for a week and see what it would do for me. As he seemed to have so much faith in it I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

hers, as are their ambitions, triumphs and defeats. Healthy women do not suffer miscarriage nor does a woman who is healthy suffer tortures at childbirth. It is the woman who is ailing—who has female weakness—who fears the ordeal of becoming a mother. Wine of Cardui builds up the womanly in a woman. It stops all unnatural drains and strains—irregularities which are responsible for barrenness and miscarriage. It makes a woman strong and healthy and able to pass through pregnancy and childbirth with little suffering. After the ordeal is passed the Wine prepares a woman for a speedy recovery to health and activity.

MOTHERHOOD is the noblest duty and highest privilege woman can achieve or aspire to. With-out this privilege women do not get all there is in life—too often they go through the world discontented, wrapped up in their own selfish cares and troubles. How different is the happy mother, watching her children grow into manhood and womanhood. A mother lives as many lives as she has children—their joys and sorrows are Wine of Cardui, in re-inforcing the organs of generation, has made mothers of women who had given up hope of ever becoming mothers. Wine of Cardui will cure almost any case of barrenness except cases of organic trouble. How can you refuse to take such a remedy that promises such relief from suffering? Wine of Cardui simply makes you a strong woman, and strong, healthy women do not suffer. They look forward to motherhood with joy.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers. They filter out the waste, or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits.

All druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Kidney Disease Kills.

Its Victims Numbered by the Hundreds of Thousands.

Kidney diseases should be attended to at once, for almost 90 per cent. of our unexpected deaths of to-day are from that cause. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the only cure known for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation. It is marvelous how it stops that pain in the back, relieves the necessity of urinating so often at night, drives away that scalding pain in passing water, corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer and shows its beneficial effects on the system in an incredibly short time.

George L. Smith, foreman of the Holley Manufacturing Company's Works, Lockport, N. Y., says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy with the most beneficial results. I was troubled with gravel and kidney complaint very severely, it bothered me a great deal, and have found great relief from its use, and cheerfully recommend it."

"Favorite Remedy" is the most successful medicine ever discovered for kidney, bladder, liver and blood diseases. Its record of cures has made it famous in medical circles everywhere. It is recognized as a specific. It purifies the blood and dissolves the excess of uric acid in it, clears up the urine, restores the kidneys and bladder to their normal condition, and gently moves the bowels.

It is for sale by all druggists in the New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles—less than a cent a dose.

Sample bottle—enough for trial, free by mail. Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y.

Rights of Telephone Companies.

Chambersburg, Pa., Feb. 25.—Judge Stewart yesterday rendered an opinion in which he holds that telephone companies do not have the right of eminent domain so far as going upon private land is concerned, or have they the right to build lines upon highways adjoining land without giving the land owners damages. The Pennsylvania Telephone company sought to obtain possession of two fields in Quincy township and Judge Stewart upheld the owners' refusal to grant permission.

The New Arabian Nights

By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

(Part I—Continued.)

The smoking room of the Suicide club was the same height as the cabinet into which it opened, but much larger, and papered from top to bottom with an imitation of oak wainscot. A large and cheerful fire and a number of gas jets illuminated the company. The prince and his follower made the number up to eighteen. Most of the party were smoking and drinking champagne. A feverish hilarity reigned, with sudden and rather gasty pauses.

"Is this a full meeting?" asked the prince.

"Middling," said the president. "By the way," he added, "if you have any money it is usual to offer some champagne. It keeps up a good spirit; and is one of my own little perquisites."

"Hammersmith," said Florizel, "I may leave the champagne to you."

And with that he turned away and began to go round among the guests. Accustomed to play the host in the highest circles, he charmed and dominated all whom he approached. There was something at once winning and authoritative in his address, and his extraordinary coolness gave him yet another distinction in this half-mad society. As he went from one to another he kept both his eyes and his ears open and soon began to gain a general idea of the people among whom he found himself. As in all other places of resort, one type predominated—people in the prime of youth, with every show of intelligence and sensibility in their appearance, but with little promise of strength or the quality that makes success. Few were much above thirty, and not a few were still in their teens. They stood, leaning on tables and shifting on their feet; sometimes they smoked extraordinarily fast and sometimes they let their cigars go out; some talked well, but the conversation of others was plainly the result of nervous tension and was equally without wit or purport. As each new bottle of champagne was opened there was a manifest improvement in gaiety. Only two were seated—one in a chair in the recess of the window, with his head hanging and his hands plunged deep into his trousers pockets, pale, visibly moist with perspiration, saying never a word, a very wreck of soul and body; the other sat on the divan close by the chimney and attracted notice by a trenchant dissimilarity from all the rest. He was probably upward of forty, but he looked fully ten years older. He and Florizel thought he had never seen a man more naturally hideous nor one more ravaged by disease and ruinous excitements. He was no more than skin and bone, was partly paralyzed and wore spectacles of such unusual power that his eyes appeared through the glasses greatly magnified and distorted in shape. Except the prince and the president, he was the only person in the room who preserved the composure of ordinary life.

There was little decency among the members of the club. Some boasted of the disgraceful actions, the consequences of which had reduced them to seek refuge in death, and the others listened without disapproval. There was a tacit understanding against moral judgments, and whoever passed the club doors enjoyed already some of the immunities of the tomb. They drank to each other's memories and to those of notable suicides in the past. They compared and developed their different views of death, some declaring that it was no more than blackness and cessation, others full of a hope that that very night they should be scaling the stars and commencing with the mighty dead.

"To the eternal memory of Baron Trenck, the type of suicides!" cried one. "He went out of a small cell into a smaller that he might come forth again to freedom."

"For my part," said a second, "I wish no more than a bandage for my eyes and cotton for my ears. Only they have no cotton thick enough in this world."

A third was for reading the mysteries of life in a future state, and a fourth professed that he would never have joined the club if he had not been induced to believe in Mr. Darwin.

"I could not bear," said this remarkable suicide, "to be descended from an ape."

Altogether the prince was disappointed by the bearing and conversation of the members.

"It does not seem to me," he thought, "a matter for so much disturbance. If a man has made up his mind to kill himself, let him do it, in God's name, like a gentleman. This flutter and big talk is out of place."

In the meanwhile Colonel Geraldine was a prey to the blackest apprehensions. The club and its rules were still a mystery, and he looked round the room for some one who should be able to set his mind at rest. In this survey his eye lighted on the paralytic person with the strong spectacles, and, seeing him so exceedingly tranquil, he brought the president, who was going in and out of the room under a pressure of business, to present him to the gentleman on the divan.

The functionary explained the needlessness of all such formalities within the club, but nevertheless presented Mr. Hammersmith to Mr. Malthus. Mr. Malthus looked at the colonel enviously and then requested him to take a seat upon his right.

"You are a newcomer," he said, "and wish information. You have come to the proper source. It is two years since I first visited this charming club."

The colonel breathed again. If Mr. Malthus had frequented the place for two years, there could be little danger for the prince in a single evening. But Geraldine was none the less astonished and began to suspect a mystification.

"What?" cried he. "Two years? I thought—but indeed I see I have been made the subject of a pleasantry."

"By no means," replied Mr. Malthus mildly. "My case is peculiar. I am not, properly speaking, a suicide at all, but, as it were, an honorary member. I rarely visit the club twice in two months. My infirmity and the kindness of the president have procured me these little immunities, for which, besides, I pay at an advanced rate. Even as it is, my luck has been extraordinary."

"I am afraid," said the colonel, "that I must ask you to be more explicit. You must remember that I am still most imperfectly acquainted with the rules of the club."

"An ordinary member who comes here in search of death, like yourself," replied the paralytic, "returns every evening until fortune favors him. He can even, if he is penniless, get board and lodging from the president; very fair, I believe, and clean, although, of course, not luxurious. That could hardly be, considering the exigency, if I may so express myself, of the subscription. And then the president's company is a delicacy in itself."

"Indeed," cried Geraldine, "he had not greatly prepossessed me?"

"Ah!" said Mr. Malthus. "You do not know the man—the drollest fellow! What stories, what cynicism! He knows life to admiration, and, between ourselves, is probably the most corrupt rogue in Christendom."

"And he also," asked the colonel, "is a permanency, like yourself, if I may say so without offense?"

"Indeed he is a permanency in a very different sense from me," replied Mr. Malthus. "I have been graciously spared, but I must go at last. Now, he never plays. He shuffles and deals for the club and makes the necessary arrangements. That man, my dear Mr. Hammersmith, is the very soul of ingenuity. For three years he has pursued in London his useful and, I think I may add, his artistic calling, and not so much as a whisper of suspicion has been once aroused. I believe him myself to be inspired. You doubtless remember the celebrated case six months ago of the gentleman who was accidentally poisoned in a chemist's shop. That was one of the least rich, one of the least racy, of his notions; but, then, how simple, and how safe!"

"You astound me," said the colonel. "Was that unfortunate gentleman one of the?" he was about to say "victims," but, bethinking himself in time, he substituted "members of the club?"

In the same flash of thought it occurred to him that Mr. Malthus himself had not at all spoken in the tone of one who is in love with death, and he added hurriedly:

"But I perceive I am still in the dark. You speak of shuffling and dealing. Pray, for what end? And, since you seem rather unwilling to die than otherwise, I must own that I cannot conceive what brings you here at all."

"You say truly that you are in the dark," replied Mr. Malthus, with more animation. "Why, my dear sir, this club is the temple of intoxication. If my enfeebled health could support the excitement more often, you may depend upon it I should be more often here. It requires all the sense of duty engendered by a long habit of ill health and careful regimen to keep me from excess in this, which is, I may say, my last dissipation. I have tried them all, sir," he went on, laying his hand on Geraldine's arm, "all, without exception, and I declare to you, upon my honor, there is not one of them that has not been grossly and untruthfully overrated. People trifle with love. Now, I deny that love is a strong passion. Fear is the strong passion. It is with fear that you must trifle if you wish to taste the intensest joys of living. Envy me—envy me, sir," he added, with a chuckle, "I am a coward!"

Geraldine could scarcely repress a movement of repulsion for this deplorable wretch, but he commanded himself with an effort and continued his inquiries.

"How, sir," he asked, "is the excitement so artfully prolonged, and where is there any element of uncertainty?"

"I must tell you how the victim for every evening is selected," returned Mr. Malthus, "and not only the victim, but another member, who is to be the instrument in the club's hands and death's high priest for that occasion."

"Heavens!" said the colonel. "Do they then kill each other?"

"No, I haven't been a day, you know. Have I an account, really?"

"Oh, drop it, Tim. What are you doing?"

"I am demonstrator in an automobile establishment."

"O-o-o! I understand!"—Motor World.

SCHOOL GIRLS.

'Tis a pretty age—that time in a girl's life when she has all the beauties of womanhood without the later lines of care and worry.

But here and there even among school girls appear pale and drawn faces.

Pale blood is at the bottom of the trouble and Scott's Emulsion can cure it.

Scott's Emulsion brings back the beauty to pale girls because it is blood food.

"The trouble of suicide is removed in that way," returned Malthus, with a loud.

"Merciful heavens!" ejaculated the colonel. "And may you—may I—may I be pitched upon this evening as the slayer of another man's body and immortal spirit? Can such things be possible among men born of women? Oh, infamy of infamies!"

He was about to rise in his horror when he caught the prince's eye. It was fixed upon him from across the room with a frowning and angry stare. In a moment Geraldine recovered his composure.

"After all," he added, "why not? And since you say the game is interesting, vogue la galere—I follow the club!"

Mr. Malthus had keenly enjoyed the colonel's amazement and disgust. He had the vanity of wickedness, and it pleased him to see another man give way to a generous movement while he felt himself in his entire corruption superior to such emotions.

"You now, after your first moment of surprise," said he, "are in a position to appreciate the delights of our society."

You can see how it combines the excitement of a gaming table, a duel and a Roman amphitheater. The pugnas did well enough—I cordially admire the refinement of their minds—but it has been reserved for a Christian country to attain this extreme, this quintessence, this absolute poignancy. You will understand how rapid are all amusements to a man who has acquired a taste for this one. The game we play," he continued, "is one of extreme simplicity. A full pack—but I perceive you are about to see the thing in progress. Will you lend me the help of your arm? I am, unfortunately, paralyzed."

Indeed just as Mr. Malthus was beginning his description another pair of folding doors was thrown open, and the whole club began to pass, not without some hurry, into the adjoining room. It was similar in every respect to the one from which it was entered, but somewhat differently furnished. The center was occupied by a long green table, at which the president sat shuffling a pack of cards with great particularity. Even with the stick and the colonel's arm Mr. Malthus walked with so much difficulty that every one was seated before this pair and the prince, who had waited for them, entered the apartment, and in consequence the three took seats close together at the lower end of the board.

"It is a pack of fifty-two," whispered Mr. Malthus. "Watch for the ace of spades, which is the sign of death, and the ace of clubs, which designates the official of the night. Happy, happy young men!" he added. "You have good eyes and can follow the game. Alas, I cannot tell an ace from a deuce across the table."

And he proceeded to equip himself with a second pair of spectacles.

"I must at least watch the faces," he explained.

BAD FIRE AT WINTER QUARTERS

Barnum and Bailey Circus Suffers Severe Loss—Elephants Cause Much Alarm.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 25.—Fire partly destroyed the new brick car barn at the winter quarters of the Barnum and Bailey circus here yesterday and burned a number of cars belonging to the circus. The loss is estimated at $100,000; insurance, $33,000. The fire was caused by a lamp falling to the floor in the midst of a quantity of benzine and other inflammable material. While the fire was at its height a cornice fell, carrying to the ground with it 12 men who were at work on the roof. The men were considerably bruised but were not otherwise injured.

Considerable excitement was occasioned during the removal of 14 elephants which were quartered in a building adjoining the car barns. It was necessary to remove the elephants through a door facing the burning building and across the tracks between rows of burning and smoking cars. In order to accomplish this safely the four keepers took one animal at a time until the entire herd was removed. The loud trumpeting of the elephants gave rise to a rumor that the animals had broken loose.

This rumor rapidly spread around the city and occasioned much alarm. The other animals, however, were at no time in danger. The fire was under control in about half an hour.

Six new Pullman cars valued at $13,000 each, and two new flat cars valued at $4,000, were entirely destroyed. More than 150 feet of the barns was burned to the ground and 10 stock cars, which were standing outside the barn, were considerably damaged.

Plow Works Damaged.

Racine, Wis., Feb. 25.—Fire last night in the plant of the J. I. Case plow company did damage to the extent of $100,000 before it was brought under control. The loss is covered by insurance. The fire is believed to have been started by spontaneous combustion in the paint shop. Five hundred men were employed in the part of the plant that was burned.

Wages Advanced.

St. Louis, Feb. 25.—An advance in the wages of the Mobile & Ohio firemen was granted yesterday by General Manager Clarke. Mr. Clarke also made concessions in regard to changes in certain rules objected to. The advance is said to be practically the same as allowed by the other lines in that territory.

DR. A. W. CHASE NERVE PILLS

A NERVE TONIC NEVER EQUALED

THIS SHAPES BOX—NO OTHER

Mrs. William Spencer, of No. 105 Granger St., Syracuse, N. Y., says: "I was always nervous, but of late years I could not sleep, was intensely nervous, ringing sounds in my ears and sharp noises in my head at night. My strength was away down and I was very dizzy and had to catch hold of something until it passed off. This condition certainly needed attention, as it was growing steadily worse. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills were called to my attention and I got a box. The results were splendid—the nerves became quiet—the noises and ringing in the head, together with the dizzy spells, disappeared completely and I began to sleep well again. The general strength came back and as a result I feel very well every way again. I am only too pleased to be able to say this."

Mrs. Randolph Knutti, of No. 59 Penn St., Salem, Ohio, says: "Day times I was always nervous—children's noises and little things upset and worried me. As a consequence I felt depressed and debilitated. I was told of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and got some and they acted finely. They made my nerves steady and strong and gave a splendid feeling of general strength and vigor. I don't worry or bother now about small things any more, and am very grateful for the change. As a nerve and general tonic I consider the medicine has no equal."

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers. They filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-worked in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble. If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free also pamphlet telling how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Cool Trust Weakens.

Columbus, O., Feb. 25.—There is every indication that the suit of the state to oust the leading coal companies of Ohio from their charters, for forming a combine, will be compromised today. It is expected that the coal companies will consent to a decree by the supreme court ordering them out of any combine to which they may be a party. They have had their representatives working for weeks with Governor Nash along this line. It is said that the coal companies have realized that the state has positive evidence against them and are glad to have the trust ordered dissolved, rather than to take the chance of losing their charters.

Kidney Disease Kills.

Its Victims Numbered by the Hundreds of Thousands.

Kidney diseases should be attended to at once, for almost 90 per cent. of our unexpected deaths of to-day are from that cause. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the only cure known for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation. Its marvelous how it stops that pain in the back, relieves the necessity of urinating so often at night, drives away that scalding pain in passing water, corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer and shows its beneficial effects on the system in an incredibly short time.

George L. Smith, foreman of the Holley Manufacturing Company's Works, Lockport, N. Y., says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy with the most beneficial results. I was troubled with gravel and kidney complaint very severely, it bothered me a great deal, and have found great relief from its use, and cheerfully recommend it." "Favorite Remedy" is the most successful medicine ever discovered for kidney, bladder, liver and blood diseases. Its record of cures has made it famous in medical circles everywhere. It is recognized as a specific. It purifies the blood and dissolves the excess of uric acid in it, clears up the urine, restores the kidneys and bladder to their normal condition, and gently moves the bowels.

It is for sale by all druggists in the New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles—less than a cent a dose. Sample bottle—enough for trial, free by mail. Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y.

Rights of Telephone Companies.
Chambersburg, Pa., Feb. 25.—Judge Stewart yesterday rendered an opinion in which he holds that telephone companies do not have the right of eminent domain so far as going upon private land is concerned, or have they the right to build lines upon highways adjoining land without giving the land owners damages. The Pennsylvania Telephone company sought to obtain possession of two fields in Quincy township and Judge Stewart upheld the owners' refusal to grant permission.

The New Arabian Nights

(Part I—Continued)

The smoking room of the Suicide club was the same height as the cabin into which it opened, but much larger, and papered from top to bottom with an imitation of oak wainscot. A large and cheerful fire and a number of gas jets illuminated the company. The prince and his follower made the number up to eighteen. Most of the party were smoking and drinking champagne. A feverish hilarity reigned, with sudden and rather ghastly pauses.

"Is this a full meeting?" asked the prince.
"Middle!" said the president. "By the way," he added, "if you have any money it is usual to offer some champagne. It keeps up a good spirit and is one of my own little perquisites."
"Hammersmith," said Florizel, "I may leave the champagne to you."

And with that he turned away and began to go round among the guests. Accustomed to play the host in the highest circles, he charmed and dominated all whom he approached. There was something at once winning and authoritative in his address, and his extraordinary coolness gave him yet another distinction in this half-mad society. As he went from one to another he kept both his eyes and his ears open and soon began to gain a general idea of the people among whom he found himself. As in all other places of resort, one type predominated—people in the prime of youth, with every show of intelligence and sensibility in their appearance, but with little promise of strength or the quality that makes success. Few were much above thirty, and not a few were still in their teens. They stood, leaning on tables and shifting on their feet; sometimes they smoked extraordinarily fast and sometimes they let their cigars go out; some talked well, but the conversation of others was plainly the result of nervous tension and was equally without wit or purport. As each new bottle of champagne was opened there was a manifest improvement in gaiety. Only two were seated—one in a chair in the recess of the window, with his head hanging and his hands plunged deep into his trousers pockets, pale, visibly moist with perspiration, saying never a word, a very wreck of soul and body; the other sat on the divan close by the chimney and attracted notice by a trenchant dissimilarity from all the rest. He was probably upward of forty, but he looked fully ten years older, and Florizel thought he had never seen a man more naturally hideous nor one more ravaged by disease and ruinous excitement. He was no more than skin and bone, was partly paralyzed and wore spectacles of such unusual power that his eyes appeared through the glasses greatly magnified and distorted in shape. Except the prince and the president, he was the only person in the room who preserved the composure of ordinary life.

There was little decency among the members of the club. Some boasted of the disgraceful actions, the consequences of which had reduced them to seek refuge in death, and the others listened without disapproval. There was a tacit understanding against moral judgments, and whoever passed the club doors enjoyed already some of the immunities of the tomb. They drank to each other's memories and to those of notable suicides in the past. They compared and developed their different views of death, some declaring that it was no more than blackness and cessation, others full of a hope that that very night they should be scaling the stars and commencing with the mighty dead.

"To the eternal memory of Baron Trenck, the type of suicides!" cried one. "He went out of a small cell into a smaller that he might come forth again to freedom!"
"For my part," said a second, "I wish no more than a bandage for my eyes and cotton for my ears. Only they have no cotton thick enough in this world."
A third was for reading the mysteries of life in a future state, and a fourth professed that he would never have joined the club if he had not been induced to believe in Mr. Darwin.

"I could not bear," said this remarkable suicide, "to be descended from an ape."
Although the prince was disappointed by the bearing and conversation of the members.
"It does not seem to me," he thought, "a matter for so much disturbance. If a man has made up his mind to kill himself, let him do it, in God's name, like a gentleman. This flutter and big talk is out of place."

In the meanwhile Colonel Geraldine was a prey to the blackest apprehensions. The club and its rules were still a mystery, and he looked round the room for some one who should be able to set his mind at rest. In this survey his eye lighted on the paralytic person with the strong spectacles, and, seeing him so exceedingly tranquil, he brought the president, who was going in and out of the room under a pressure of business, to present him to the gentleman on the divan.

The functionary explained the needlessness of all such formalities within the club, but nevertheless presented Mr. Hammersmith to Mr. Malthus.

Mr. Malthus looked at the colonel enviously and then requested him to take a seat upon his right.

"You are a newcomer," he said, "and wish information. You have come to the proper source. It is two years since I first visited this charming club."

The colonel breathed again. If Mr. Malthus had frequented the place for two years, there could be little danger for the prince in a single evening. But Geraldine was none the less astonished and began to suspect a mystification.

"What?" cried he. "Two years! I thought—but indeed I see I have been made the subject of a pleasant mystery." "By no means," replied Mr. Malthus mildly. "My case is peculiar. I am not, properly speaking, a suicide at all, but, as it were, an honorary member. I rarely visit the club twice in two months. My infirmity and the kindness of the president have procured me these little immunities, for which, besides, I pay at an advanced rate. Even as it is, my luck has been extraordinary."

"I am afraid," said the colonel, "that I must ask you to be more explicit. You must remember that I am still most imperfectly acquainted with the rules of the club."

"An ordinary member who comes here in search of death, like yourself," replied the paralytic, "returns every evening until fortune favors him. He can even, if he is penurious, get board and lodging from the president; very fair, I believe, and clean, although, of course, not luxurious. That could hardly be, considering the exigency, if I may so express myself, of the subscription. And then the president's company is a delicacy in itself."

"Indeed," cried Geraldine, "he had not greatly prepossessed me!" "Ah!" said Mr. Malthus. "You do not know the man—the drollest fellow! What stories, what cynicism! He knows life to admiration, and, between ourselves, is probably the most corrupt rogue in Christendom."

"And he also," asked the colonel, "is a permanency, like yourself, if I may say so without offense?" "Indeed he is a permanency in a very different sense from me," replied Mr. Malthus. "I have been graciously spared, but I must go last. Now, he never plays. He shuffles and deals for the club and makes the necessary arrangements. That man, my dear Mr. Hammersmith, is the very soul of ingenuity. For three years he has pursued in London his useful and, I think I may add, his artistic calling, and not so much as a whisper of suspicion has been once aroused. I believe him myself to be inspired. You doubtless remember the celebrated case six months ago of the gentleman who was accidentally poisoned in a chemist's shop. That was one of the least rich, one of the least racy, of his notions; but, then, how simple, and how safe!"

"You astound me," said the colonel. "Was that unfortunate gentleman one of the?" he was about to say "victims," but, bethinking himself in time, he substituted "members of the club?" In the same flash of thought it occurred to him that Mr. Malthus himself had not at all spoken in the tone of one who is in love with death, and he added hurriedly:

"But I perceive I am still in the dark. You speak of shuffling and dealing. Pray, for what end? And, since you seem rather unwilling to die than otherwise, I must own that I cannot conceive what brings you here at all."

"You say truly that you are in the dark," replied Mr. Malthus, with more animation. "Why, my dear sir, this club is the temple of intoxication. If my enfeebled health could support the excitement more often, you may depend upon it I should be more often here. It requires all the sense of duty engendered by a long habit of ill health and careful regimen to keep me from excess in this, which is, I may say, my last dissipation. I have tried them all, sir," he went on, laying his hand on Geraldine's arm, "all, without exception, and I declare to you, upon my honor, there is not one of them that has not been grossly and untruthfully overrated. People trifle with love. Now, I deny that love is a strong passion. Fear is the strong passion. It is with fear that you must trifle if you wish to taste the intensest joys of living. Envy me—envy me, sir," he added, with a chuckle. "I am a coward!"

Geraldine could scarcely repress a movement of repulsion for this deplorable wretch, but he commanded himself with an effort and continued his inquiries.

"How, sir," he asked, "is the excitement so artfully prolonged, and where is there any element of uncertainty?" "I must tell you how the victim for every evening is selected," returned Mr. Malthus, "and not only the victim, but another member, who is to be the instrument in the club's hands and death's high priest for that occasion." "Heavens!" said the colonel. "Do they then kill each other?"

SCHOOL GIRLS.

'Tis a pretty age—that time in a girl's life when she has all the beauties of womanhood without the later lines of care and worry.

But here and there even among school girls appear pale and drawn faces.

Pale blood is at the bottom of the trouble and Scott's Emulsion can cure it.

Scott's Emulsion brings back the beauty to pale girls because it is blood food.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 400 Pearl St., N. Y.

"The trouble of suicide is removed in that way," returned Malthus, with a smile.

"Merciful heavens!" ejaculated the colonel. "And may you—may I—may the—my friend, I mean—may any of us be pitched upon this evening as the slayer of another man's body and immortal spirit? Can such things be possible among men born of women? Oh, infamy of infamies!"

He was about to rise in his horror when he caught the prince's eye. It was fixed upon him from across the room with a frowning and angry stare. In a moment Geraldine recovered his composure.

"After all," he added, "why not? And since you say the game is interesting, vogue la galere—I follow the club!"

Mr. Malthus had keenly enjoyed the colonel's amazement and disgust. He had the vanity of wickedness, and it pleased him to see another man give way to a generous movement while he felt himself in his entire corruption superior to such emotions.

"You now, after your first moment of surprise," said he, "are in a position to appreciate the delights of our society. You can see how it combines the excitement of a gaming table, a duel and a Roman amphitheater. The pagans did well enough! I cordially admire the refinement of their minds—but it has been reserved for a Christian country to attain this extreme, this quintessence, this absolute poignancy. You will understand how rapid are all amusements to a man who has acquired a taste for this one. The game we play," he continued, "is one of extreme simplicity. A full pack—but I perceive you are about to see the thing in progress. Will you lend me the help of your arm? I am, unfortunately, paralyzed."

Indeed just as Mr. Malthus was beginning his description another pair of folding doors was thrown open, and the whole club began to pass, not without some hurry, into the adjoining room. It was similar in every respect to the one from which it was entered, but somewhat differently furnished. The center was occupied by a long green table, at which the president sat shuffling a pack of cards with great pantomime. Even with the stick and the colonel's arm Mr. Malthus walked with so much difficulty that every one was seated before this pair and the prince, who had waited for them, entered the apartment, and in consequence the three took seats close together at the lower end of the board.

"It is a pack of fifty-two," whispered Mr. Malthus. "Watch for the ace of spades, which is the sign of death, and the ace of clubs, which designates the official of the night. Happy, happy young men!" he added. "You have good eyes and can follow the game. Alas, I cannot tell an ace from a deuce across the table!" And he proceeded to equip himself with a second pair of spectacles. "I must at least watch the faces," he explained.

BAD FIRE AT WINTER QUARTERS

Barnum and Bailey Circus Suffers Severe Loss—Elephants Cause Much Alarm.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 25.—Fire partly destroyed the new brick car barn at the winter quarters of the Barnum and Bailey circus here yesterday and burned a number of cars belonging to the circus. The loss is estimated at $100,000; insurance, $32,000. The fire was caused by a lamp falling to the floor in the midst of a quantity of benzine and other inflammable material. While the fire was at its height a cornice fell, carrying to the ground with it 12 firemen who were at work on the roof. The men were considerably bruised but were not otherwise injured.

Considerable excitement was occasioned during the removal of 14 elephants which were quartered in a building adjoining the car barns. It was necessary to remove the elephants through a door facing the burning building and across the tracks between rows of burning and smoking cars. In order to accomplish this safely the four keepers took one animal out at a time until the entire herd was removed. The loud trumpeting of the elephants gave rise to a rumor that the animals had broken loose.

Plow Works Damaged.

Racine, Wis., Feb. 25.—Fire last night in the plant of the J. I. Case plow company did damage to the extent of $100,000 before it was brought under control. The loss is covered by insurance. The fire is believed to have been started by spontaneous combustion in the paint shop. Five hundred men were employed in the part of the plant that was burned.

Wages Advanced.

St. Louis, Feb. 25.—An advance in the wages of the Mobile & Ohio firemen was granted yesterday by General Manager Clarke. Mr. Clarke also made concessions in regard to the advance in certain rules objected to. The advance is said to be practically the same as allowed by the other lines in that territory.

Dr. A. W. CHASE NERVE PILLS

A NERVE TONIC NEVER EQUALLED

THIS SHAPE-BOX-NO OTHER

Mrs. William Spencer, of No. 105 Grand St., Syracuse, N. Y., says "I was always nervous, but of late years I could not sleep, was intensely nervous, ringing sounds in my ears and sharp noises in my head at night. My strength was away down and I was very dizzy and had to catch hold of something until it passed off. This condition certainly needed attention, as it was growing steadily worse. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills were called to my attention and I got a box. The results were splendid—the nerves became quiet—the noises and ringing in the head, together with the dizzy spells, disappeared completely and I began to sleep well again. The general strength came back and as a result I feel very well every way again. I am only too pleased to be able to say this."

Mrs. Randolph Knutti, of No. 59 Penn St., Salem, Ohio, says: "Day times I was always nervous—children's noises and little things upset and worried me. As a consequence I felt depressed and debilitated. I was told of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and got some and they acted finely. They made my nerves steady and strong and gave a splendid feeling of general strength and vigor. I don't worry or bother now about small things any more, and am very grateful for the change. As a nerve and general tonic I consider the medicine has no equal."

Initiatory Work—Peter Cooper council No. 772 will have initiatory work to do at its regular meeting tomorrow evening.

A Universal Creed—Rev. H. H. Moninger, of Steubenville, will preach tonight at the Christian church, subject "The Creed Upon Which All Churches Can Unite." Song service will be conducted by S. H. Cappa, of Louisville, Ky. He will also sing a solo.

Democratic Committee Meeting—Chairman J. J. Weisend, of the Democratic city central committee, has issued, through the local party organ, a call for a meeting of the committee for Friday evening. It is stated that a full municipal ticket will then be nominated.

Orders Conferred—Pilgrim commandery No. 55 held a special convocation last evening and conferred the Temple and Malta orders on three candidates. The membership of the commandery has now passed the 100 mark and there are a number of candidates awaiting the orders.

Why the Paper Was Late—An accident to the News Review press yesterday afternoon made the paper late in reaching a number of subscribers. The Tribune kindly came to its assistance and ran off the greater part of the edition on its press—a courtesy that was much appreciated by the News Review publishers and, doubtless also, by its patrons. In order to make the delay as brief as possible two pages were thrown out, and most subscribers received only a six-paper paper. The break has been repaired and things are expected to move as usual from this on.

Is the Cash System Right

Is it right that the customer paying cash should pay just as much for what they buy as the one who buys on credit? If you borrow money, you expect to pay interest on it, which is right, but how about the merchant who lends out his goods (or money) and instead of getting interest on same, he loses even the principal, who, do you think, pays for what he loses.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Miss Ashbaugh Entertains.

Miss Hattie Ashbaugh, of Franklin street, entertained last evening about 16 of her young friends. Some particularly amusing features of entertainment had been provided, among them a cake walk and peanut eating contests. The former was won by Will Gamble and his lady and the latter by Will Lutton. Dancing and music prolonged the games and a tempting luncheon was served.

Entertained Choir Boys.

Mrs. Edwin Weary last evening entertained the little choir boys of St. Stephen's church at her home on Fourth street. The event was a delightful one for the boys, who have done their work so faithfully in the choir. The evening was spent in games and other amusements, after which a dainty luncheon was served.

Plague Prohibits Handshaking.

Mazatlan, Mexico, Feb. 25.—There was one death from the plague yesterday, and that at the lazaretto. Four soldiers of the Eleventh infantry have been removed to the observation station, having shown symptoms of the plague. Signs have been placed in some of the business houses notifying the people that handshaking is prohibited during the prevalence of the plague.

Employees Will Receive Increase.

Johnstown, Pa., Feb. 25.—The Berwind-White coal company, which operates extensive bituminous mines at Windber, will increase the wages of every employee April 1. Although the exact amount of the increase is not stated, it is generally understood it will be 10 per cent. About 2,000 men will be affected.

At the Melodrama.

As the clatter of hoofs died away the beautiful heroine confronted the heavy villain.

"You have a black heart!" she hissed. "No, I think it is brown," chuckled the villain. "Anyway, the doctors told me I had a 'tobacco heart'."

With a loud laugh the heroine dashed over the cliff.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Paying and Going.

"Really, I must admit," said Mr. Borem, "I've been very slow about paying this bill, but—"

"Don't apologize," replied Miss Tyre-Dout, suppressing a yawn. "They say it's born in some people to pay as they go."—Philadelphia Ledger.

His Value.

"I'll wager she's thinking of me." "Shouldn't wonder, old chap. I offered her a penny for her thoughts, and she said they weren't worth it."—New York Journal.

Ready For Anything.

"If you don't pay me my salary," said the leading lady, "I shall denounce you from the stage."

"All right," answered the manager placidly. "Let's fix a date, and I'll advertise it. May be it would make a hit."—Washington Star.

Quick Transaction.

"What will you give me for this article?" asked the poet. "Thirty days," replied the editor, who was also the mayor.—Atlanta Constitution.

AN ABLE MAN

C. P. Rothwell the Logical Candidate For Prosecuting Attorney.

Good Reasons Why the East Palestine Man Should Be Honored With the Republican Nomination.

Attorney C. P. Rothwell, of East Palestine, has been in the city all week, and from expressions heard on every hand it is evident that he is making good headway with his canvass for prosecuting attorney. Especially is this true of the people among whom he has been working in East Liverpool. The gentleman is no stranger to the citizens of the southern end of the county, and when the result of the Republican primary election is announced March 28, it will be found that his friends have not forgotten him.

Mr. Rothwell has been a member of the Columbiana county bar for the past 21 years, and as such has earned a position among the foremost practitioners throughout this section of the state. For 15 years he was attorney for the town of East Palestine, and never in the history of the municipality was its affairs better looked after. His success in his chosen profession was so pronounced that from the early years of his career his practice has been among the largest of any individual attorney in the county. It can be truthfully said that he is one of the best and most successful lawyers in Columbiana county, and qualified in every way to fill the position to which he aspires.

Attorney Rothwell comes from the township of Unity, where he is perhaps the best known man and most substantial citizen in the entire community. Unity township has 1,000 Republicans within its borders, and its regular majority for the Republican ticket can always be depended upon. In 30 years the township has not been represented in any of the several offices at the county seat, and the claim of Mr. Rothwell to the support of the Republicans of the county can be justly considered a righteous one. His friends in Unity present his name to the Republicans of East Liverpool and the county as a candidate for prosecuting attorney, feeling that he is entitled and will receive the support of all fair-minded men who believe in a fair distribution of the county offices. 47-h

The Arizona Kicker

What It Has Accomplished In Seven Years

(Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.)

S EVEN years ago when we made our first appearance in the town of Giveadam Gulch we carried our spare shirt in a bundle and were forced to sleep under a wagon on the public square. We rose up breakfastless, but we had hope and ambition for fodder. The Kicker, which is now recognized the world over as the greatest family paper ever issued at any price, was started on $3 in cash and a barrel of stern determination. Predictions were made on every hand that it would be a failure, but the prophets shot wide of the mark. In four weeks it was on a paying basis and gaining, and its course has been upward and onward ever since.

Success brought us enemies. It wasn't a month before we had to throw our club away and run in debt for a gun. It took us two weeks to learn one end of that gun from the other, and we had only discovered what the trigger was for when Arkansas Pete entered our sanctum to fill us with lead. We gave him a surprise party and paid the funeral expenses.

While the name of Arkansas Pete was marked "No. 1" we earnestly hoped the list would end there. It didn't, however. Arizona Joe came along three months later and demanded our scalp. He was laid beside the other, and we pressed forward up the hill of ambition.

A little later came Major Calhoun. We refused the major a cash loan, and he tried to shoot the coin out of us. The three graves in a row began to have a business look, and while there were many to congratulate us, there were also those who harbored to remove us from the sphere we occupied.

Smith Taylor was the fourth gentleman who started out to pull a gun on us, but he was two seconds behind our time. He was postmaster at the time and had been using our exchanges for kindling wood instead of delivering them. It has been charged by our enemies that we "removed" Mr. Smith in order to get his place, but all such statements do us rank injustice. We have been postmaster for several years, and we expect to be for several years to come, but the government selected us entirely on account of our fitness for the position.

Montana Tom had the honor of being No. 5. We have always believed that he was told by certain people that we were retarding the interests of this territory and that he had a sort of Joan of Arc feeling in his breast when he entered our sanctum. His shooting was good, but not good enough. He lingered long enough to express his sorrow and ask to be planted with his boots on and then took his place in the line.

It was only after six wooden head-boards had been erected in memory of as many individuals that we bought an acre of ground in the suburbs of the town and turned it into a combined public park and a private editorial graveyard, the first and only affair of the sort in existence.

No man familiar with our career can say that we have gone gunning for victims. On the contrary, it is a well known fact that we have often been charged with a lack of industry in this respect. Had we set out to make a record the list would now number fifty instead of fourteen. We had nothing of the sort in view. On the contrary, all we desired was to be let alone. We may mention in this connection as an evidence of our dislike to "shed blood" that our esteemed contemporary has shot at us at least 500 times in the last five years and that on each and every occasion we could have cut short his career, but he is alive and well today.

The gentlemen whose gravestones are marked Nos. 7, 8, 9 and 10, respectively, were of no particular renown and were not greatly missed by the public when they had been laid to rest. They pulled their guns on us on the street and at the office for various causes, and we did not open fire until the action was demanded and justified. Nos. 11 and 12 belong to Colonel Hooper and Judge Hildebrand, respectively. They were good men, but impetuous. They wanted to take us by the neck because we differed with them in politics, and in their zeal they found homes where politics never enters.

Between Nos. 12 and 13 there was an interval of over two years. We had begun to hope that the list would end with No. 12 and that the time was close at hand when our guns could be hung up to rest when the Hon. Joe Bidwell took exception to an article on the decadence of truth in the west and called to pepper us. One of our guns happened to be handy, and the result was that Mr. Bidwell had to cancel many important engagements. We have always been sorry that he didn't give us a chance to run, as he was a man of push and ambition and thoroughly loyal to Arizona. His disappearance occurred just twenty-three months ago.

Again we were indulging in the hope that peace on earth would soon be an established fact and that we should have no further use for cartridges than to shoot jack rabbits when No. 14 was added to the list. Wednesday last as we sat in our sanctum Colonel Jim Hardbank rode up on his broncho and entered the office. For the past year he has urged us to abandon our idea of becoming governor of this territory and shove him into the place. We have not been able to see our way clear to do it, and in consequence we lost his friendship. He came into town Wednesday determined to remove us from this vale of tears. He had two guns, and his jaw was set. Brushing past those who feared he meant trouble and would have stopped him, he kicked open our door and began shooting. I do not wish to dwell on the affair. Unfortunately for the late deceased, we happened to be loading our guns preparatory to paying a call on a shyster lawyer, and it was only natural that we should shoot back. We were grazed by three of the colonel's bullets, but he dropped at our second and is now at rest forevermore.

While we earnestly and truly hope that No. 14 will be the last and that we no longer have an enemy on earth, we must add that any person dropping in on us with the intention of ridding Arizona of our presence has got to be lightning on the draw to get ahead of us. Our office hours are from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., and we never sit with our back to the door. M. QUAD.

The following letter will explain itself.

New York, Feb. 14, 1903.

Smith & Phillips Music Co.,
East Liverpool, O.

Gentlemen:—As we will in a short time celebrate our 50th year in the manufacture of the Gabler Piano we wish to secure for that event the oldest Gabler that can be obtained.

We hereby authorize you to make the following offer for us. We will give in even exchange a new style M Gabler Upright Piano, price $500.00 for the oldest Gabler Piano that may be found, either square, upright or grand.

The age of the piano will be determined by the factory number appearing upon the inside of the piano near the tuning pins.

Will you kindly make our offer generally known and advise us of the numbers of the pianos and their owners as they become known to you.

Very truly yours,

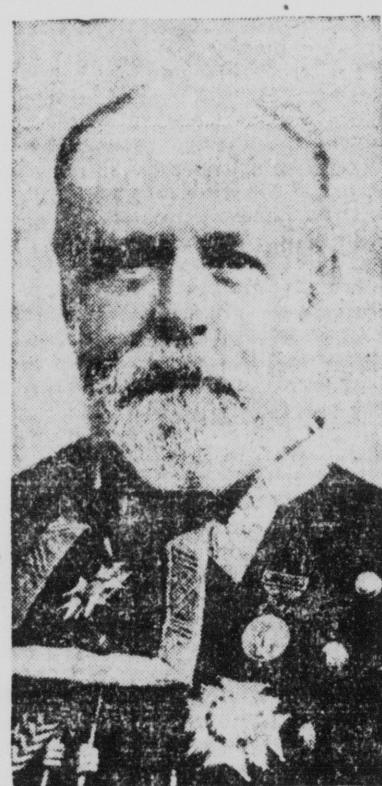

ERNEST GABLER & BROS.

CERVERA'S NEW HONORS.

How Spain Shows Its Respect For the Old Naval Commander.

That Spain has nothing but good will for Admiral Cervera, who commanded the ill-fated Spanish fleet in the naval battle of the harbor of Santiago, is evidenced by his recent appointment to the post of chief of staff of the Spanish navy.

While in Santiago with a fleet of four armored cruisers and two torpedo boat destroyers Admiral Cervera early in July, 1898, received orders to proceed to Havana. He made the attempt on Sunday morning, July 3, and his ships were destroyed and sunk by our fleet.

Cervera received no injury during the fight, but was taken prisoner and was first placed on board the auxiliary cruiser Gloucester, from which he was transferred to the Iowa. While on the latter vessel he said: "I would rather lose my ships at sea, like a sailor, than in a harbor. It was the only thing for me to do."

Daughter Born—A daughter was born today to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson, of East Fourth street.

Initiatory Work—Peter Cooper council No. 772 will have initiatory work to do at its regular meeting tomorrow evening.

A Universal Creed—Rev. H. H. Moninger, of Steubenville, will preach to-night at the Christian church, subject "The Creed Upon Which All Churches Can Unite." Song service will be conducted by S. H. Cappa, of Louisville, Ky. He will also sing a solo.

Democratic Committee Meeting—Chairman J. J. Weisend, of the Democratic city central committee, has issued, through the local party organ, a call for a meeting of the committee for Friday evening. It is stated that a full municipal ticket will then be nominated.

Orders Conferred—Pilgrim commandery No. 55 held a special conclave last evening and conferred the Temple and Malta orders on three candidates. The membership of the commandery has now passed the 100 mark and there are a number of candidates awaiting the orders.

Why the Paper Was Late—An accident to the News Review press yesterday afternoon made the paper late in reaching a number of subscribers. The Tribune kindly came to its assistance and ran off the greater part of the edition on its press—a courtesy that was much appreciated by the News Review publishers and, doubtless also, by its patrons. In order to make the delay as brief as possible two pages were thrown out, and most subscribers received only a six-paper paper. The break has been repaired and things are expected to move as usual from this on.

Cash System Right

Is it right that the customer paying cash should pay just as much for what they buy as the one who buys on credit? If you borrow money, you expect to pay interest on it, which is right, but how about the merchant who lends out his goods (or money) and instead of getting interest on same, he loses even the principal, who, do you think, pays for what he loses.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Miss Ashbaugh Entertains.

Miss Hattie Ashbaugh, of Franklin street, entertained last evening about 16 of her young friends. Some particularly amusing features of entertainment had been provided, among them a cake walk and peanut eating contests. The former was won by Will Gamble and his lady and the latter by Will Lutton. Dancing and music prolonged the games and a tempting luncheon was served.

Entertained Choir Boys.

Mrs. Edwin Weary last evening entertained the little choir boys of St. Stephen's church at her home on Fourth street. The event was a delightful one for the boys, who have done their work so faithfully in the choir. The evening was spent in games and other amusements, after which a dainty luncheon was served.

Plague Prohibits Handshaking.

Mazatlan, Mexico, Feb. 25.—There was one death from the plague yesterday, and that at the lazaretto. Four soldiers of the Eleventh infantry have been removed to the observation station, having shown symptoms of the plague. Signs have been placed in some of the business houses notifying the people that handshaking is prohibited during the prevalence of the plague.

Employees Will Receive Increase.

Johnstown, Pa., Feb. 25.—The Berwind-White coal company, which operates extensive bituminous mines at Windber, will increase the wages of every employee April 1. Although the exact amount of the increase is not stated, it is generally understood it will be 10 per cent. About 2,000 men will be affected.

At the Melodrama.

As the clatter of hoofs died away the beautiful heroine confronted the heavy villain.

"You have a black heart!" she hissed.

"No, I think it is brown," chuckled the villain. "Anyway, the doctors told me I had a 'tobacco heart.'"

With a loud laugh the heroine dashed over the cliff.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Paying and Going.

"Really, I must admit," said Mr. Borem, "I've been very slow about paying this bill, but—"

"Don't apologize," replied Miss Tyre Dunt, suppressing a yawn. "They say it's born in some people to pay as they go."—Philadelphia Ledger.

His Value.

"I'll wager she's thinking of me."

"Shouldn't wonder, old chap. I offered her a penny for her thoughts, and she said they weren't worth it."—New York Journal.

Ready For Anything.

"If you don't pay me my salary," said the leading lady, "I shall denounce you from the stage."

"All right," answered the manager placidly. "Let's fix a date, and I'll advertise it. May be it would make a hit."—Washington Star.

No Clothing Fits Like Ours

Montana Tom had the honor of being No. 5. We have always believed that he was told by certain people that we were retarding the interests of this territory and that he had a sort of Joan of Arc feeling in his breast when he entered our sanctum. His shooting was good, but not good enough. He lingered long enough to express his sorrow and ask to be planted with his boots on and then took his place in the line.

The Arizona Kicker

What It Has Accomplished In Seven Years

(Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.)

SEVEN years ago when we made our first appearance in the town of Giveadam Gulch we carried our spare shirt in a bundle and were forced to sleep under a wagon on the public square. We rose up breakfastless, but we had hope and ambition for fodder. The Kicker, which is now recognized the world over as the greatest family paper ever issued at any price, was started on $3 in cash and a barrel of stern determination. Predictions were made on every hand that it would be a failure, but the prophets shot wide of the mark. In four weeks it was on a pay-

It took us two weeks to learn one end of that gun from the other, and we had only discovered what the trigger was for when Arkansas Pete entered our sanctum to fill us with lead. We gave him a surprise party and paid the funeral expenses.

While the name of Arkansas Pete was marked "No. 1" we earnestly hoped the list would end there. It didn't, however. Arizona Joe came along three months later and demanded our scalp. He was laid beside the other, and we pressed forward up the hill of ambition.

A little later came Major Calhoun. We refused the major a cash loan, and he tried to shoot the coin out of us. The three graves in a row began to have a business look, and while there were many to congratulate us, there were also those who hankered to remove us from the sphere we occupied.

Smith Taylor was the fourth gentleman who started out to pull a gun on us, but he was two seconds behind our time. He was postmaster at the time and had been using our exchanges for kindling wood instead of delivering them. It has been charged by our enemies that we "removed" Mr. Smith in order to get his place, but all such statements do us rank injustice. Daughter Born—A daughter was born today to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson, of East Fourth street.

Initiatory Work—Peter Cooper council No. 772 will have initiatory work to do at its regular meeting tomorrow evening.

A Universal Creed—Rev. H. H. Moninger, of Steubenville, will preach to-night at the Christian church, subject "The Creed Upon Which All Churches Can Unite." Song service will be conducted by S. H. Cappa, of Louisville, Ky. He will also sing a solo.

Democratic Committee Meeting—Chairman J. J. Weisend, of the Democratic city central committee, has issued, through the local party organ, a call for a meeting of the committee for Friday evening. It is stated that a full municipal ticket will then be nominated.

Orders Conferred—Pilgrim commandery No. 55 held a special convocation last evening and conferred the Temple and Malta orders on three candidates. The membership of the commandery has now passed the 100 mark and there are a number of candidates awaiting the orders.

Why the Paper Was Late—An accident to the News Review press yesterday afternoon made the paper late in reaching a number of subscribers. The Tribune kindly came to its assistance and ran off the greater part of the edition on its press—a courtesy that was much appreciated by the News Review publishers and, doubtless also, by its patrons. In order to make the delay as brief as possible two pages were thrown out, and most subscribers received only a six-paper paper. The break has been repaired and things are expected to move as usual from this on.

Is the Cash System Right

Is it right that the customer paying cash should pay just as much for what they buy as the one who buys on credit? If you borrow money, you expect to pay interest on it, which is right, but how about the merchant who lends out his goods (or money) and instead of getting interest on same, he loses even the principal, who, do you think, pays for what he loses.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Miss Ashbaugh Entertains.

Miss Hattie Ashbaugh, of Franklin street, entertained last evening about 16 of her young friends. Some particularly amusing features of entertainment had been provided, among them a cake walk and peanut eating contests. The former was won by Will Gamble and his lady and the latter by Will Lutton. Dancing and music prolonged the games and a tempting luncheon was served.

Entertained Choir Boys.

Mrs. Edwin Weary last evening entertained the little choir boys of St. Stephen's church at her home on Fourth street. The event was a delightful one for the boys, who have done their work so faithfully in the choir. The evening was spent in games and other amusements, after which a dainty luncheon was served.

Plague Prohibits Handshaking.

Mazatlan, Mexico, Feb. 25.—There was one death from the plague yesterday, and that at the lazaretto. Four soldiers of the Eleventh infantry have been removed to the observation station, having shown symptoms of the plague. Signs have been placed in some of the business houses notifying the people that handshaking is prohibited during the prevalence of the plague.

Employees Will Receive Increase.

Johnstown, Pa., Feb. 25.—The Herwind-White coal company, which operates extensive bituminous mines at Windber, will increase the wages of every employee April 1. Although the exact amount of the increase is not stated, it is generally understood it will be 10 per cent. About 2,000 men will be affected.

At the Melodrama.

As the clatter of hoofs died away the beautiful heroine confronted the heavy villain.
"You have a black heart!" she hissed.
"No, I think it is brown," chuckled the villain. "Anyway, the doctors told me I had a tobacco heart."
With a wild laugh the heroine dashed over the cliff.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Paying and Going.

"Really, I must admit," said Mr. Borem, "I've been very slow about paying this bill, but—"
"Don't apologize," replied Miss Tyre-Dont, suppressing a yawn. "They say it's born in some people to pay as they go."—Philadelphia Ledger.

His Value.

"I'll wager she's thinking of me."
"Shouldn't wonder, old chap. I offered her a penny for her thoughts, and she said they weren't worth it."—New York Journal.

Ready For Anything.

"If you don't pay me my salary," said the leading lady, "I shall denounce you from the stage."
"All right," answered the manager placidly. "Let's fix a date, and I'll advertise it. May be it would make a hit."—Washington Star.

Quick Transaction.

"What will you give me for this article?" asked the poet.
"Thirty days," replied the editor, who was also the mayor.—Atlanta Constitution.

AN ABLE MAN

C. P. Rothwell the Logical Candidate For Prosecuting Attorney.

Good Reasons Why the East Palestine Man Should Be Honored With the Republican Nomination.

Attorney C. P. Rothwell, of East Palestine, has been in the city all week, and from expressions heard on every hand it is evident that he is making good headway with his canvass for prosecuting attorney. Especially is this true of the people among whom he has been working in East Liverpool. The gentleman is no stranger to the citizens of the southern end of the county, and when the result of the Republican primary election is announced March 28, it will be found that his friends have not forgotten him.

Mr. Rothwell has been a member of the Columbiana county bar for the past 21 years, and as such has earned a position among the foremost practitioners throughout this section of the state. For 15 years he was attorney for the town of East Palestine, and never in the history of the municipality was its affairs better looked after. His success in his chosen profession was so pronounced that from the early years of his career his practice has been among the largest of any individual attorney in the county. It can be truthfully said that he is one of the best and most successful lawyers in Columbiana county, and qualified in every way to fill the position to which he aspires.

Attorney Rothwell comes from the township of Unity, where he is perhaps the best known man and most substantial citizen in the entire community. Unity township has 1,000 Republicans within its borders, and its regular majority for the Republican ticket can always be depended upon. In 39 years the township has not been represented in any of the several offices at the county seat, and the claim of Mr. Rothwell to the support of the Republicans of the county can be justly considered a righteous one. His friends in Unity present his name to the Republicans of East Liverpool and the county as a candidate for prosecuting attorney, feeling that he is entitled and will receive the support of all fair-minded men who believe in a fair distribution of the county offices.

While the name of Arkansas Pete was marked "No. 1" we earnestly hoped the list would end there. It didn't, however. Arizona Joe came along three months later and demanded our scalp. He was laid beside the other, and we pressed forward up the hill of ambition.

A little later came Major Calhoun. We refused the major a cash loan, and he tried to shoot the coin out of us. The three graves in a row began to have a business look, and while there were many to congratulate us, there were also those who hankered to remove us from the sphere we occupied.

Smith Taylor was the fourth gentleman who started out to pull a gun on us, but he was two seconds behind our time. He was postmaster at the time and had been using our exchanges for kindling wood instead of delivering them. It has been charged by our enemies that we "removed" Mr. Smith in order to get his place, but all such statements do us rank injustice. We have been postmaster for several years, and we expect to be for several years to come, but the government selected us entirely on account of our fitness for the position.

Montana Tom had the honor of being No. 5. We have always believed that he was told by certain people that we were retarding the interests of this territory and that he had a sort of Joan of Arc feeling in his breast when he entered our sanctum. His shooting was good, but not good enough. He lingered long enough to express his sorrow and ask to be planted with his boots on and then took his place in the line.

It was only after six wooden head-bumps had been erected in memory of as many individuals that we bought an acre of ground in the suburbs of the town and turned it into a combined public park and a private editorial graveyard, the first and only affair of the sort in existence.

No man familiar with our career can say that we have gone gunning for victims. On the contrary, it is a well known fact that we have often been charged with a lack of industry in this respect. Had we set out to make a record the list would now number fifty instead of fourteen. We had nothing of the sort in view. On the contrary, all we desired was to be let alone. We may mention in this connection as an evidence of our dislike to shed blood that our esteemed contemporary has shot at us at least 500 times in the last five years and that on each and every occasion we could have cut short his career, but he is alive and well today.

The gentlemen whose gravestones are marked Nos. 7, 8, 9 and 10, respectively, were of no particular renown and were not greatly missed by the public when they had been laid to rest. They pulled their guns on us on the street and at the office for various causes, and we did not open fire until the action was demanded and justified. Nos. 11 and 12 belong to Colonel Hooper and Judge Hildebrand, respectively. They were good men, but impetuous. They wanted to take us by the neck because we differed with them in politics, and in their zeal they found homes where politics never entered.

Between Nos. 12 and 13 there was an interval of over two years. We had begun to hope that the list would end with No. 12 and that the time was close at hand when our guns could be hung up to rest when the Hon. Joe Bidwell took exception to an article on the decadence of truth in the west and called to pepper us. One of our guns happened to be handy, and the result was that Mr. Bidwell had to cancel many important engagements. We have always been sorry that he didn't give us a chance to run, as he was a man of push and ambition and thoroughly loyal to Arizona. His disappearance occurred just twenty-three months ago.

Again we were indulging in the hope that peace on earth would soon be an established fact and that we should have no further use for cartridges than to shoot jack rabbits when No. 14 was added to the list.

Wednesday last as we sat in our sanctum Colonel Jim Hardbank rode up on his broncho and entered the office. For the past year he has urged us to abandon our idea of becoming governor of this territory and shove him into the place. We have not been able to see our way clear to do it, and in consequence we lost his friendship. He came into town Wednesday determined to remove us from this vale of tears. He had two guns, and his jaw was set. Brushing past those who feared he meant trouble and would have stopped him, he kicked open our door and began shooting. We do not wish to dwell on the affair. Unfortunately for the late deceased, we happened to be loading our guns preparatory to paying a call on a shyster lawyer, and it was only natural that we should shoot back. We were grazed by three of the colonel's bullets, but he dropped at our second and is now at rest forevermore.

While we earnestly and truly hope that No. 14 will be the last and that we no longer have an enemy on earth, we must add that any person dropping in on us with the intention of ridding Arizona of our presence has got to be lightning on the draw to get ahead of us. Our office hours are from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., and we never sit with our back to the door.

That Spain has nothing but good will for Admiral Cervera, who commanded the ill fated Spanish fleet in the naval battle off the harbor of Santiago, is evidenced by his recent appointment to the post of chief of staff of the Spanish navy.

While in Santiago with a fleet of four armored cruisers and two torpedo boat destroyers Admiral Cervera early in July, 1898, received orders to proceed to Havana. He made the attempt on Sunday morning, July 3, and his ships were destroyed and sunk by our fleet. Cervera received no injury during the fight, but was taken prisoner and was first placed on board the auxiliary cruiser Gloucester, from which he was transferred to the Iowa. While on the latter vessel he said: "I would rather lose my ships at sea, like a sailor, than in a harbor. It was the only thing for me to do."

WARM DEBATE ENLIVENED PROCEEDINGS OF COUNCIL

CONTRACT LET FOR NEW ENGINE HOUSE

The city council last evening held only a short session, but there were few present that will ever forget it. Hot shots were sent whizzing from all quarters of the little room and the chairman's gavel had very little effect toward silencing the members in their feigned anger.

One old member, being of the number that will have served his last on or about the first of May, when a proposition favored by himself and several others was finally turned down, made the haughty remark:

"This question should have been presented to council at the last meeting. It would have been passed unanimously then. There were enough candidates represented in the body to insure the passage of anything."

Another member daringly apprised a brother councilman of the fact that he knew absolutely nothing and the latter, though nearly twice the weight of his accuser, allowed it to be understood so. Taking the session from beginning to end an opportunity seemed to be grasped to dispose of soreness, a chance which they all appeared to realize will not be theirs for a great period of time. However, the honorable body succeeded in transacting some business of grave importance to the city in general and residents of the city cannot help feeling grateful to the members for the wise discretion displayed.

Following the customary preliminaries, Clerk Davidson reported that he had in his possession bids for the erecting of the new McKinnon addition fire station, recommended at a recent meeting by a committee appointed to consider the matter. The bidders for the contract, which is to conform in every detail with the plans and specifications of the city engineer, were: S. G. Miller, $2,675; J. C. McLean, $2,658; Harvey McHenry, $2,672; J. C. Cain & Co., $2,645. The latter was awarded the contract, but not until Mr. Peach succeeded in having a motion passed ordering the clerk and mayor to give the city's obligation for the amount and have it placed in the treasury for the specified purpose. Mr. Peach stated that the body had passed upon similar propositions too many times when the money was not in the treasury, and that he was positively against that way of doing business, especially when it is not lawful.

According to the blue print given for inspection, the building, considering its cheapness, will be one of the most substantial obtainable, and a pride to the city. It is to be located at the southwest corner of McKinnon avenue and Calcutta road. The outside dimensions will be 30x50 feet. There will be two stories, the first to be of brick and 14 feet high and the second to be covered with mansard slating and 9 feet high. The ground floor on the interior will be 27x47 feet. The stable to consist of two large stalls, will be 16 feet in length and will be situated at the rear of the building. The front part will be partitioned off in a manner allowing 27 feet for a truck room. This room will be plastered and frescoed.

The second story will be used as a sleeping apartment and a hay loft. The latter will be 16 feet in length and will hold sufficient feed for the horses, and then there will be room for other necessities. The sleeping apartment will be fitted up in elegant style. It will be roomy, contain wardrobes and numerous other conveniences. Red brick with white mortar will give the outside a pleasing appearance and the entire building will be up-to-date in every particular. Just when the contractors will begin work on the contract is not known, but they will not delay it long. If the weather permits they will likely start as soon as the material can be obtained.

Mr. Peach, chairman of the committee appointed to investigate the claim of Thomas Chadwick, reported that the property which is located at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Grant street had been seriously damaged by the grading of the streets and thought that council should take immediate steps to repair it. The members, all being familiar with the conditions, spoke in favor of the repairing and when the bids were submitted for the work quickly accepted that of B. F. Hinton, the lowest bidder. His bid was as follows: Rubble wall, per perch, $1; steps, per foot, 85 cents; excavation, per yard, 50 cents.

When Mr. Peach made the statement that he thought council should pay Thomas Lownds for the damage done his property during the flood several years ago there was a wrangle of 30 minutes, and as in numerous instances before, the appeal was turned down. The bill of Mr. Lownds was presented at the same time that two others were laid, but his was left over owing to the fact that he had an attorney fee of $25 attached. He was given to understand that if he would eliminate that item he would receive damages and did accordingly. McConnell made a motion that he be paid $100, and though the motion received a speedy second it was lost by a vote of 4 for and 4 against.

Thomas McKeever, of the Lisbon road, was present and wanted council to take some action on the damage done his property by the landslide which occurred a few weeks ago. Every member of the body was well aware of the extent of the damages, and the street committee was empowered to act on the matter. It will have the damage repaired at once.

Two notes, one on Summit lane, amounting to $1,052.15, and the other on Sugar alley for $87.38, were ordered renewed, and after the clerk was instructed to prepare a bond issue and advertise for the sale of the bonds on the several streets where the assessment ordinance had been passed during the past year, council adjourned.

DEATH STARED HIM IN THE FACE

CLOSE CALL FOR BRICK WORKS SUPERINTENDENT.

Caught By Machinery in the Pit And Struck on Head By Flying Missile.

While working in a pit at the East Liverpool Brick works, Supt. W. N. Glass had an exciting experience and narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon as the result of permitting a young man not familiar with the workings of a certain machine a trial at manipulating it.

Milton Tyndall had been employed by him and having shown more than ordinary skill for a green hand was entrusted with the machine and for some time had worked it without trouble. Forgetting the likelihood of the young man accidentally making a blunder, Mr. Glass descended into the pit and was in the act of performing some work when the heavy cogs were suddenly thrown out of gear, by the dropping of a piece of lead between them, simultaneously firmly clutching his coat sleeve. Death staring him in the face and while cold perspiration poured from his body, applying all of his strength he made a terrible plunge, and to that only can be credited his escape. The strenuous effort resulted in the tearing of his sleeve and his liberation.

One of the pieces of the machinery flying in the air struck him with great force on the head, knocking him violently to the ground. In a short time he recovered from the blow and the effect of the trying ordeal and today was none the worse.

NEXT CONVENTION FOR EAST LIVERPOOL

Local Delegates Expect to Meet the State Y. M. C. A. Annual Meeting Held Here.

A. H. Bulger, W. A. Weaver, Wilson Smith, M. C. Wright and probably D. M. Ogilvie, leave tomorrow morning for Columbus, to attend the bi-annual session of the business men's conference of the State Y. M. C. A. It is the intention of the delegates to secure pledges to have the state convention of the association held in this city next year in February.

The delegates will probably return on Friday, except Secretary Wright, who will remain to attend a meeting of general secretaries and physical directors, on Saturday, where he will read a paper.

The East Liverpool Amateur Photo club gave another very pleasant social session last evening. The function was in the nature of a smoker and the guests were limited to the members of the club. Another stereopticon exhibition was given, most of the views being reproductions of pictures taken by members of the club. Tempting refreshments were served.

Chapter to Entertain.

East Liverpool chapter No. 100, R. A. M., will entertain the Masonic bodies of this city Friday evening. A musical and literary program is being arranged and refreshments will be served.

CHRIS BICK QUILTS THE RACE FOR NOMINATION FOR SHERIFF

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—Chris A. Bick has withdrawn from the race for the Republican nomination for sheriff and the following letter, given out this morning by County Chairman Jno. S. McNutt, will be a surprise to politicians generally throughout the county:

"John S. McNutt, chairman Republican county executive committee.
"Dear Sir:—After several weeks' hard canvassing for the nomination of sheriff and after consulting my friends in a number of townships, I find it impossible for me to secure the nomination without a large expense. While

THE RAILROAD WILL AGREE

Willing to Establish Up-Town Freight Depot and Build an East End Station.

PRACTICALLY ALL DEMANDS

Made By the Railroad Committee of Council Assented to By Supt. Scriven, of the C. & P.—Harmonious Conference Last Evening.

The C. & P. Railroad company has practically acceded to every request asked by the committee of council appointed to confer with it on the proposition to allow the company the right of way through the city for the laying of two additional tracks, notwithstanding no tracks will be laid in the city limits for several weeks and possibly several months.

Supt. Scriven, accompanied by Attorney Carey, of Salem, and several other railroad officials, appeared before the city fathers last evening, and to the surprise of all Mr. Scriven, when given the floor, read the demands carefully and stated that the company had pondered over them, finally coming to the decision that they must and should be granted. The members had been anticipating a revolt, and were not prepared to take action and fearful of some rash step being taken, the report was referred to the railroad committee.

Supt. Scriven addressed the members as follows: "Last summer the C. & P. company made application for permission to construct two additional tracks in the city. Several times have the committees of the city and company met, and at the last conference the company was given a list of demands that the city had concluded must be granted. The company, after careful consideration, has decided to accede, with but very few exceptions. In looking over our plans we thought that we should not be required to place gates at all of the streets named in demand No. 2, and that we should not be made to maintain several streets that have never been opened. However, we will agree to do that in the future, if the city still persists.

"The first demand, that a delivery and receiving station be placed at the yards north of Sixth street, has been gone into thoroughly by the company, and though we have failed to discover in what manner it will help the city and know that it will be of no benefit to us, we are willing to erect the station and will leave it to the residents whether or not we shall.

"No. 2—That gates be placed at the following streets: East and West Market, Franklin street, Walnut, Market, Washington, Broadway, Second and Mulberry streets." We have gates at all but five of these streets and would suggest that gates be placed at two of these five, the streets to be named by council.

"No. 3—That crossings be maintained at all points where streets and alleys cross the railroad tracks." We will maintain crossings where all streets now cross the tracks, but do not think that we should be asked to provide for the future at this time.

"No. 4—That Ralston's crossing be abandoned and the crossing placed under the culvert at that point." We will agree to this proposition and also continue St. George street to the crossing.

"No. 5—That a suitable brick station be erected and maintained in the East End to accommodate passengers and freight." We will agree to this proposition and the station will be built on the property we have acquired from the Puritan Land company.

"No. 6—That the railroad company make satisfactory arrangements with the private property owners whose land they will have to have to widen the tracks." This has already been done.

"No. 7—That the company proceed at once to pave the yards, both upper and lower, where they abut on paved streets. This includes the lower yards from Second street to Thompson's pottery." We have already ordered this work done. It will be done as soon as the weather permits."

The blue print of the plans was submitted for inspection and very few objections were made. In regard to erecting a passenger station in the East End, Mr. Scriven said that it had been the intention of the company to construct a frame building, but as the people wanted a brick one, one that will add to the city's looks and one that will stand for years, the company had decided to build one to suit the people. It will be located almost directly opposite the National pottery and will be conveniently situated for traveling men and others visiting the plants in that section.

CHARGED WITH BEING A CHICKEN THIEF

BOY OF THIRTEEN LANDED IN THE JAIL TODAY.

He Is Accused of Unlawfully Taking Fowls Belonging to George C. Murphy.

William Stroud, a lad of 13 years, is in the city jail with a rather serious charge against him. He was arrested this afternoon by Officer Morris and taken before the mayor acknowledged his guilt of stealing seven chickens from the coop at the rear of George C. Murphy's home, Third street.

Mr. Murphy missed three of the fowls last Saturday and three Monday morning. That evening he took careful precautions against further loss, he securely locking the doors, but on Tuesday another was missing. The case was reported to Chief Thompson and last evening the chief learned that a boy answering the description of Stroud had sold chickens to several dealers.

Officer Morris was detailed to apprehend the youth and did so shortly before 2 o'clock. He will be given a hearing this evening.

HEPTASOPH OFFICERS WERE INSTALLED

Distinguished Member of the Order Was Here and a Banquet Was Tendered Him.

The recently elected officers of the Heptasoph were installed last evening by Assistant Deputy Supreme Vice Archon Charles Thompson, of Steubenville, assisted by John W. Hohman, of this city. The ceremonies were held in the lodge room in the Fowler building and at the conclusion a social session was held. Later most of the members repaired to the Diamond dining parlors, where a banquet was served in honor of the distinguished visitor.

The following officers were inducted into office:

Past Archon, W. A. Davis; Archon, W. W. Williamson; Secretary, N. T. Ashbaugh; Financier, Thomas Todd; Treasurer, Dr. C. H. Birkett; Provost, George M. Adam; Prelate, Frank Silverthorne; Inspector, George McKee; Warder, R. E. McDaniels; Sentinel, Leon Rich; Trustees, George M. Adam, John H. Hohman and Joseph McDonaid.

Granted a Divorce.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—Margaret E. Kearney, of Leetonia, was granted a divorce yesterday from Oliver G. Kearney, of Pittsburg, and was given custody of her two children John C. and Graham Kearney, aged 13 and 11 years, respectively. The wife charged wilful absence and disregard of marital duties. They were married July 6, 1887.

Lisbon Primaries.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—The Republican primary for Lisbon village and Center township will be held Saturday, March 7, between the hours of 11:30 and 5:30 o'clock. There will be nominated a mayor, a clerk, a treasurer, a marshal, three members board of public service, six councilmen, two members board of education, township trustees, assessors and road supervisors for six districts.

Fancy Work Party.

Mrs. Harrington R. Hill will entertain a number of her friends at fancy work tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

WIFE'S SERIOUS ILLNESS DROVE HUSBAND TO DESPAIR AND HE TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

Wm. Cooley, a Farmer Well Known in Hancock County, Found by Neighbors, Dead by His Own Hand.

Tenderly loving hands laid to rest the remains of William Cooley yesterday afternoon in Mill Creek cemetery, near Chester. The cause of death was not learned in Chester, where he was well known, until his remains were brought through there on the way to their final resting place. Mr. Cooley was a well known and well-to-do farmer, living about four miles from Frankfort Springs and about 10 miles from Chester. His wife has been ill for several weeks and recently was taken to the Southside hospital in Pittsburgh. After being there a short time Mr. Cooley visited her and had a conversation with the physicians in charge. He was given but little encouragement by the doctor and was told that it was but a matter of time till his wife would die.

Mr. Cooley returned the next day very much depressed in spirits and went directly to his home. He lives on a large stock farm and is well and favorably known over the entire county. The couple have no children and Mr. Cooley was at the house alone. In the mornings it was the custom of a number of neighbors to help him feed the stock on the farm and they would come to the house and awaken him if he were not already awaiting them. Sunday morning several men came over, as was their custom, but Mr. Cooley was not to be seen. They waited a short time, but finally went in the house to awaken him.

When they got in the front room a ghastly sight was presented to view. Mr. Cooley was lying in a pool of blood on the floor and in his right hand a revolver was clenched. He had been dead for several hours and had evidently taken his own life in a fit of despondency after learning that his wife could not recover. He was about 30 years of age and was always known to be of a bright and cheerful disposition.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at Mill Creek cemetery and was attended by a large number of friends of the deceased.

His wife has not been informed of his death. She is reported in a fair way to recovery.

AGAIN ARRESTED

Geo. P. McGillivray Must Answer to U. S. Grand Jury on Charge of Counterfeiting.

George P. McGillivray, for years a well known presser in this city but of late working at his trade in a pottery at Crooksville, O., was arrested in that town by United States Marshal McAlister and was taken to Zanesville yesterday where he is now confined in jail in default of $2000 bail demanded as security for his appearance before the United States court to answer to a charge of counterfeiting.

McGillivray, it will be remembered, was arrested in Crooksville last November by Officer Clifford Dawson, of this city, on two charges, non-support and making counterfeit money, preferred against him by his wife, Lydia, in the court of Squire H. P. McCarron. He was brought to this city and given a preliminary hearing before the justice.

The first charge was dismissed, the evidence showing that the accused had given his wife money and never failed to support her, notwithstanding that he had left her. On the charge of counterfeiting he was bound over to common pleas court. The case was felt.

Submitted by the prosecuting attorney to the grand jury, but that body failed to find a true bill against the man and the matter was supposed to be dropped.

The United States authorities have been working on it since and as a result McGillivray will be tried on the serious charge. He was arraigned before Commissioner Edward R. Meyer, at Zanesville, and pleading not guilty was remanded to jail.

The case was worked up by Detectives M. P. Dolan, of Cincinnati, and Peter B. Dyke, of Cleveland, of the United States secret service. The affidavit in which the charges was made was filed before Joseph L. Adler, United States commissioner for the southern district of Ohio, by M. P. Dolan, and the accused is charged with counterfeiting 50 United States coins. The coins were nickels, although it is not so specified in the affidavit. McGillivray is charged, both with making counterfeit coins and molds for counterfeiting.

Foreclosure Proceedings.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—The First National bank, of Niles, has begun foreclosure proceedings against Zell S. Tower and Anna Tower, on two promissory notes for $50 and $52, respectively, secured by mortgages on lots in Leetonia. John A. Floding who claims some interest in the real estate is made a party defendant. Senator Connell is the plaintiff's attorney.

Andrew Donally.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—Andrew Donally, aged about 50 and unmarried, died of pneumonia last night at his home, two miles north of Lisbon. He was the last of the Donally family, an only surviving sister with whom he lived, having died about a year ago.

When they got in the front room a ghastly sight was presented to view. Mr. Cooley was lying in a pool of blood on the floor and in his right hand a revolver was clenched. He had been dead for several hours and had evidently taken his own life in a fit of despondency after learning that his wife could not recover. He was about 30 years of age and was always known to be of a bright and cheerful disposition.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at Mill Creek cemetery and was attended by a large number of friends of the deceased. His wife has not been informed of his death. She is reported in a fair way to recovery.

MUST BE AN ACCOUNTING

Case of Much Interest to This City Is On Trial at Lisbon Today.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—The case of David O'Hanlon vs. the City of East Liverpool is being heard in common pleas court today. The plaintiff says he is the owner of three lots fronting 90 feet on Lisbon street East Liverpool and that in changing the thoroughfare between Eighth street and the north limit, the city authorities took possession of a strip of his premises and by reason of grading the street, which was cut down about 19 feet at that point his lot has been made inaccessible and otherwise damaged to the amount of $1,500. He also asks the recovery of the strip appropriated by the city.

A large number of witnesses are here to testify in the case. Attorney Walter B. Hill, of East Liverpool, and W. F. Lones, of Wellsville, represents the plaintiff and W. K. Gaston and A. H. Clark, represent the city.

Appointed Administrator.

Lisbon, February 25.—(Special)—George H. Owen has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Willis H. Kinsey, of Liverpool township, under bond of $2,000. James Hilbert, George E. Davidson and Frank Crossall are the appraisers.

A WOMAN BEATEN

Rendered Unconscious by a Man's Blow She Afterward Has Him Arrested and Arraigned.

Having suffered a terrible beating at the hands of one who, upon previous occasions, had always treated her in a most courteous manner, Miss Emma Reed, of Third street, appeared in the court of Squire Daniel McLane Monday evening and had a warrant issued for the arrest of Benjamin Wyand. The papers were placed in the hands of Constable Powell yesterday afternoon and last evening Wyand was arraigned before the justice. To a charge of unlawfully striking, assaulting and threatening he pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs. Unable to produce the amount he was released on his own recognizance.

Miss Reed, in filing her affidavit, stated that Wyand called at her home on Sunday afternoon and for a short time everything went lovely, but for some unknown reason he became hilarious and wanted to clean the house or start an Indian war dance, presumably, states the justice, in celebration of Washington's birthday.

The actions of the man finally became so outrageous that Miss Reed ordered him to vacate the premises. Her rebuke was more than he could stand and in a cowardly manner struck her an awful blow under the left ear.

With a groan she sank to the floor unconscious and remained in that state for fully 20 minutes before restoratives had any effect. During the remainder of the day she suffered intensely, and it was thought that the injury would prove very serious. However, on the following morning, she had recovered and then made up her mind to have the man pay for his barbarous treatment.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

DISPUTE AT NEW CASTLE.

Robert Heap, manager of the New Castle China works, was in the city yesterday in conference with National President Hughes, concerning a dispute which has arisen between the kilnmen and the owners of the plant. Where girls were formerly employed to flint the ware two experienced flinters from England have been employed. They do all the flinting in the kilnshed, the kilnmen carrying the saggers to the kiln. The trouble is a difference of opinion between the men and Manager Heap over the price that shall be paid for this sort of placing. The manager has offered the men 31 1/2 days and the workmen insist that it is not enough. Just what the outcome of the difficulty will be cannot be stated at this time.

WILL BUILD A THEATER.

Rumors which have been floating around Coshocton for several months to the effect that the Park hotel is to be charge ownership have been practically verified by T. C. Rittenhouse, the present owner. The project is to remodel and erect a handsome modern theater in connection with it on the lot in the rear. A large arcade or foyer is to lead through the entire building, something after the style of all modern theaters. Samuel Weller, of Zanesville, the millinaire potter, is the promoter. Mr. Weller already owns a handsome opera house and hotel in Zanesville, and if he decides to take hold of the proposition its success is assured.

A BUSINESS CHANGE.

J. E. Ferrall, who has been manager of the Potters' Protective association, a financial and collection agency which serves the pottery and glass manufacturers, has disposed of his interest to W. A. Tebbutt and Walter B. Hill. The latter will become the manager of the concern and the offices will be moved at once to W. B. Hill's law office on Broadway. The quarters in the post office building now occupied by the concern will be taken by the executive committee of the United States Potters' association, now located in the rooms of the Potters' club.

NOW INCORPORATED.

The Standard Fire Brick company, capital $100,000, organized under the laws of New Jersey, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, has qualified to do business in Ohio. Empire is headquarters in this state. Twenty thousand dollars of the capital will be used at Empire and Ironside. The property of the company outside this state is valued at $80,000. B. H. Taylor is president and H. W. McAteer secretary, both of Pittsburgh; Fred G. Porter, of Empire, is general manager.

KNOWLES PLANT BUSY.

T. V. Anderson, of the E. M. Knowles China company, said today: "It is a mistake to assume that our pottery is not busy. We are running full, and have been since the first of the year. The only embarrassment we have had was to secure enough workmen. The outlook has seldom been more favorable."

NO. 12 MET.

Jiggermen's local No. 12 held its regular meeting last night which was largely attended. Nominations were made for delegates to the coming national convention to be held at Wheeling in May. The local is entitled to six delegates and a full representation will be sent. Quite a number of names were placed in nomination.

MOULDMAKER ENGAGED.

John Monroe, of New Castle, has been engaged by the Cameron Pottery company as one of its mouldmakers and will begin his duties as soon as this part of the building is ready for occupancy. At present he is visiting friends in Sebring.

WILL SEEK HEALTH.

J. B. Ward, presser at the French, Sebring, has been a constant sufferer from rheumatism for some time past, and is thinking of taking a visit to the mineral springs at Mt. Clemens, Mich., in the hope of its proving beneficial.

CUT HIS THUMB.

Theodore Brigel, jiggerman at the French, Sebring, accidentally cut his thumb severely with the tool and will consequently be off duty for several days.

AMONG THE WORKMEN.

Harry Boehmer, Jumbo jiggerman at the French, Sebring, is among the sick. Clifford McRay, batter-out at the Sebring, spent Sunday with friends in this city.

John Graham, dipper at the Oliver, Sebring, is confined to his home there with sickness.

Robert Pringle, Robert Roach and

Edward Price, three well known Wells-ville operatives, have accepted positions as kilnmen at the Oliver, Sebring.

LENTEN SERVICES

Which will be Impressively Observed from the Present Until Easter.

The Lenten services began today in St. Stephen's church. The order of the services will be as follows:
Sunday—7:30 a. m., holy communion; 11 a. m., morning service and sermon; 7:00 p. m., choral service and sermon.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday—7:30 p. m., choral service and sermon. Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday—10:30 a. m., morning prayer and address.

Ash Wednesday—10:30 a. m., holy communion and penitential office; 7:30 p. m., evening service and sermon.

Holy Week—Each day at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Good Friday—10:30 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Easter Sunday—6 a. m., sunrise communion; 10:30 a. m., morning service and holy communion; 3 p. m., children's Easter exercises; 8 p. m., choral evensong.

Confirmation classes Wednesday and Sunday after evening services.

The Lenten services will begin today at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church and will be impressively observed until after Easter. The first service will be this evening at 8 o'clock.

CREAT REVIVAL IN PROGRESS

A Connellsville Paper Tells of the Excellent Work Being Done By Rev. W. H. Gladden.

Rev. W. H. Gladden, late pastor of the First M. P. church in this city, is certainly prospering, and doing the excellent work for which he is noted, in his present field of labor. The Connellsville Daily Courier says:

"Sunday, February 22, 1903, will be remembered for a long time by the congregation of the First Methodist Protestant church, Apple street, and Rev. W. H. Gladden, pastor, for it was a religious storm center throughout the day. Large congregations attended every service, the evening audience being especially large. During the day 36 persons confessed their Savior ranging in age from 10 years to 75 years. Thirty were received into the fellowship of the church and there were pentecostal scenes about the altar which have rarely been witnessed in Connellsville. Rev. Mr. Gladden is planning for still larger results, and a great week is before these people."

In a personal note to the editor Mr. Gladden sends regards to everybody in East Liverpool and adds: "Congratulations upon the splendid growth of the News Review, and also to Chief Thompson upon his nomination for mayor."

UNCLAIMED LETTERS

Veteran Dead.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Col. James Madison Cutts, who for 21 years has been employed in the war department, died here last night. He served as captain of the 11th infantry in the civil war, and on General Burnside's staff. He was twice breveted for gallant and meritorious conduct and received from congress a medal of honor.

TO WORKING GIRLS

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE
Every working girl who is not well is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice; it is freely given, and has restored thousands to health.

Miss Paine's Experience.

"I want to thank you for what you have done for me, and recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all girls whose work keeps them standing on their feet in the store. The doctor said I must stop work; he did not seem to realize that a girl cannot afford to stop working. My back ached, my appetite was poor, I could not sleep, and menstruation was scanty and very painful. One day when suffering I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and found that it helped me. I continued its use, and soon found that my menstrual periods were free from pain and natural; and I am well, and cannot be too grateful for what you have done for me."—Miss JANET PAINE, 530 West 125th St., New York City.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Take no substitute, for it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that cures.

SCARCITY OF HOUSES STILL CONTINUES

Building Operations the Coming Season Promise to Afford Some Relief.

The scarcity of houses in this city still continues. Notwithstanding the fact that in the past year several hundred new dwellings were erected in the city it is almost an impossibility to secure a desirable location for rent. The greater part of the new dwellings have been built in the East End. The great number of new homes built in Chester would also have a tendency to meet the demand, but still it is greater than the supply. It is expected that the coming year will witness the erection of more new dwellings than ever before in an equal period in the history of the city. Last season at least 200 houses were built in the East End and easily that number were completed in Chester.

At the present time the contractors have more work engaged in Chester than they did during the entire season passed. It is thought that within a year houses will be so numerous that no one will find great difficulty in finding locations, and that the present high rents will be reduced considerably.

Diphtheria relieved in twenty minutes. Almost miraculous. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. At any drug store.

Prof. Babcock, the expert optician, can still be found with the Wade Jewelry Co., 164 Fifth street. 31-17

No Settlement in Sight.

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 25.—Further conferences were held yesterday between the officers of the Santa Fe and the trainmen, but no settlement of the wage problem was made. It is reported that the company announced that it is willing to grant an advance of 15 per cent in the wages of conductors and trainmen. This was refused by the men, who insist on a 20 per cent increase. After the differences shall be settled here it is the plan of the national officers of the trainmen's organization to confer with the Denver and Rio Grande management to obtain an increase in wages there.

WEIGH YOURSELF BEFORE USING

Weigh yourself before commencing to use Mi-o-na, the great flesh-forming food. The wonderful safe of this preparation since first introduced in East Liverpool and the remarkable results following its use, have made Will Reed such an enthusiastic believer in the great value of Mi-o-na that he gives his personal guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na will not make thin people fat, cure indigestion and restore health.

This is a strong guarantee, but Druggist Will Reed has seen so many of his customers who a few weeks ago looked like walking skeletons, become plump and well, solely through the use of Mi-o-na that he feels he cannot say too much to induce people to try it. This marvelous flesh-forming food is assimilated as soon as it is taken into the stomach, makes good, rich blood, tones up the weakened digestive organs, helps the food to digest and makes permanent cures in the worst cases of indigestion.

REALM OF SPORTS

SEBRING TO HAVE ### A WRESTLING MATCH

Albert Reibe, a Jiggerman, to Have a Go With Mont Caris, of Alliance.

Sebring does not lack in the way of sports and athletic amusements, says the Sebring News. It has its baseball team, its football team and bowling teams, and no organized lot of boys enjoy themselves to any greater extent than they, when in an earnest contest for supremacy over a friendly competitor, on the diamond, gridiron or alley. The season has gone for the former and by the way of diversion from the latter, a wrestling match has been arranged. The participants in this are Albert Reibe, a jiggerman at the Sebring, and Mont Caris, of Alliance. Albert believes that Mont will have to go down, while on the other hand Mont holds an altogether different view of the matter and thinks himself a trifle better than he is given credit for being. However that may be, we are soon going to find out, and the contest is going to be an interesting one. Just where it is going to occur has not yet been decided, but it is believed it will take place in Sebring. Following is a verbatim copy of the contract:

Feb. 17, 1903.
We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to wrestle, catch as catch can, barring all straddle holds, full Nelson and flying falls, to be held on Wednesday, March 25, 1903. Winner to take all of purse.

Referee, Chas. Bates.
Mont Caris is to throw Albert Reibe, three (3) times in 1 hour; 3 points down.

MONT CARIS, ALBERT REIBE.

LISBON HORSES
A Number of Good Ones Owned There Some With Fine Turf Records.

Horse matters at Lisbon are very brisk and a lively season is anticipated. L. J. Bolton has one of the best mares in town in a chestnut by George Steese 2:21 1/4, dam by Allie Wilkes 2:15. She has been several miles in 2:20 and in the hands of an amateur.

Sheriff Leonard has a good pacer by L. C. Martin that worked miles in 2:25 last fall, and will be raced this year. R. W. Taylor exchanged the trotting mare Grace Napoleon 2:14 1/4, for a high-class coach horse recently. Commonwealth 2:18 1/4, pacer, 2:23 1/4, trotting, had his leg broken a few days ago by being kicked, and it became necessary to kill him.

U. V. Gaskill formerly in the horse business in Lisbon, is now engaged in gold mining in Alaska, and says that when he strikes it rich he will invest in a nice stock farm and a string of fast ones.

Chas. McClain's mare, Maud O., raced good last year, and should take a fast record this season.

TREATING A COBRA

WITH BROKEN JAW

Dangerous Operation Was Successfully Performed While Serpent Was Sleeping.

Under skillful treatment at the New York Zoological Gardens in Bronx Park, a deadly cobra which recently broke his jaw in a fit of violent rage, is on the road to recovery.

The dressing on the head has been renewed with difficulty. As the reptile's sting is death, the application of a dressing is most perilous. The cobra was slumbering when Curator Ditmars cautiously opening the big door, thrust in a long wooden pole with two prongs. Pressing this down on the cobra's head he held it a prisoner until Keeper Snyder got inside. The reptile, now thoroughly aroused, agitated its tail frantically, but Snyder held its head firmly to the floor while Ditmars removed the old dressing and replaced it with a new one. The operation took ten minutes. As the two men slipped away and slammed the doors the reptile made a vicious lunge towards them.

How To Tell A Swindle.

If a man tells you he can make 25 per cent out of your money for you and don't tell you how, set it down as a swindle. If he offers you something for nothing, set it down as a swindle. If he tells you he can cure you of disease, and don't tell you how, set it down as a swindle. If you will exercise your own judgment, your own reason—just use a little common sense at all times, it is the safest guide. We tell you Life Plant cures rheumatism, Eczema, Catarrh, Asthma, Scrofula and all blood diseases, and we tell you why. It does it because it purifies the blood, drives out the impurities and thus removes the cause of disease. There is no other way. Now that's common sense. The blood is the life. Keep the blood pure, full of life, and the whole system will be renewed with new energy. Read this. It tells what Life Plant will do. It's from your neighbor:

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

In the bowling contest at Indianapolis, Seaburg, of the Columbians, rolled a 22-pound ball.

Zacharias E. Simmons, aged seventy-eight years, died at Lexington, Ky. He was the original owner of George Wilkes and was noted as a breeder of trotting horses.

John W. Gates, the Chicago stock speculator, will likely try his hand at the racing game. He has been associated for a number of years with John A. Drake, the Chicago turfman.

Tom Jenkins, the ex-champion wrestler of America, and McLeod, the present champion, are again matched to meet on the mat for the championship. The match may take place in Cleveland.

Bill Bradley, third baseman of the Cleveland, has been granted a leave of absence, and will not leave with the team. He is going to work hard the coming primaries for one of his old-time ball players, Andrew Kelly, who is a candidate for councilmanic honors.

It Cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

CATARRH THIRTY YEARS.

The Remarkable Experience of a Prominent Statesman—Congressman Meekison Gives Peru-na a High Endorsement.

Congressman Meekison of Ohio.

Hon. David Meekison is well known not only in his own State, but throughout America. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress by a very large majority, and is the acknowledged leader of his party in his section of the State.

Only one flaw marred the otherwise complete success of this rising statesman, Catarrh with its insidious approach and tenacious grasp, was his only unconquered foe. For thirty years he waged unsuccessful warfare against this personal enemy. At last Peru-na came to the rescue. He writes:

"I have used several bottles of Peru-na and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison, Member of Congress.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

A SINGULAR CASE IN DIVORCE COURT

WIFECOT WIDOW'S PENSION

Representing Her Husband as Dead. He Proved Himself Alive And Gave Her Money With Which to Institute Divorce Proceedings.

Alliance February 25.—The filing of a divorce case at Troy, O., in which James S. Reamer, of Alliance, is made the defendant, disclosed the fact that Reamer is living with his third wife at Alliance, while wife No. 1 is living at Piqua, Miami county.

The summons in the divorce case and a copy of the petition was received at the sheriff's office in Canton Saturday and Monday morning was served by Deputy Crabaugh. The only charge in the petition is that the husband has been wilfully absent for more than 20 years. When the summons was served, Reamer refused to discuss the situation, but later when confronted by a newspaper man he told a remarkable story.

Twenty-one years ago he left his wife for reasons best known to themselves. They had been married two or three years and had one child. After their separation a second was born, of which the wife asks custody. He is a son 19 years old.

Reamer had applied for divorce after their separation and claims that he had paid his money to a lawyer and thought he had secured the decree. He went to Kent and about 18 years ago married a wife there, with whom he lived for several years until her death. Three sons were born, who are living with the father at Alliance.

After wife No. 2 had died he went to Alliance and married Bessie Miller and they have a daughter 5 years old, and live happily together in spite of the fact that the husband is 65 years old and the wife but 25.

The first intimation that Reamer had that anything was wrong was when he learned that his wife had represented to the pension authorities that he was dead and that seven years ago she had been granted a widow's pension with $2,000 back pay. Knowing that this would interfere with his pension chances he went to see her and accused her of wilfully misrepresenting the facts in order to secure money from the government. She insisted that she had not heard from him for so many years that she thought he was dead.

Wife No. 1 then informed him that he had never been divorced and an examination of the records showed this to be true. He gave her $200 with which to pay the costs of a divorce case and the suit was the outgrowth of this agreement.

Reamer stated that as soon as the wife secured this divorce he would have the marriage ceremony performed again between him and Bessie Miller. He insists that he has done nothing wrong willingly, as he thought he had been divorced. As evidence of this he points to the fact that he always went under his true name and never attempted any deception.

Reamer and his present wife feel keenly the embarrassment of the situation, but propose to remain true to each other and remarry as soon as the legal impediments are removed by the divorce courts.

Reamer is a sewing machine agent and has a small notion store in Alliance and has always been considered a reputable man.

Hoisted American Flag.
Panama, Feb. 25.—On the occasion of the celebration of Washington's birthday, General Sarria, commander of the Colombian forces on the isthmus, sent United States Consul General Guder a copy of the general order of February 22 in which the general expressed the admiration which Colombia has for "the great republic, the leader of progress and liberty." In addition the American flag was hoisted at the headquarters of the general staff and at all the military posts, while at night a regimental band serenaded Mr. Guder, who held a reception which was attended by the governor and other high civil and military officials.

EAST END

GOOD PROGRESS MADE

On Grading Work for C. & P. Double Track—Complaints of Cruelty to Horses.

The grading work still continues on the C. & P. double track in the East End. Considerable complaint is again heard about the treatment given the horses by the teamsters employed in this work. This morning the ground was frozen and but few of the teams were rough shod. Several were noticed to fall at different times, and some of the horses were not shod at all.

It has been threatened several times to have the humane society look after the alleged mistreatment of the horses by the laborers, and it is probable that the society will be called upon to take a hand in the affair before the work is finished. However, it is being rapidly done, and it is expected work will be completed in a comparatively short time.

UNSETTLED BETS

Some of the People Who Wagered Money on the Primaries Still Protesting.

There are still a few election bets in the East End which have not been collected. Considerable discussion has been indulged in by interested parties concerning the bets made in regard to second place for mayor. Some claim that the bets made between supporters of Nice and Marshall should be paid, just according to the way the wagers were worded when made. If a Nice man wanted to bet that Nice would beat Marshall it is claimed by some that he loses, as he failed to defeat Marshall.

The reverse is also claimed to be true in regard to the other end of the bet. The most satisfactory way of deciding the bets, however, is to abide by the decision of the central committee and call all bets off that were made on second place.

Princes of the Orient.

The regular meeting of the Princes of the Orient will be held tonight at the P. H. C. hall. There are four candidates to be initiated into the mysteries of the order. The two who will receive the most painstaking care in their initiation, however, are Messrs. M. J. McGarry and C. P. Rothwell, both candidates for prosecuting attorney before the coming Republican county primary. The members are anticipating another enjoyable session tonight.

Fell And Broke His Hand.

W. C. Smith, owner of a restaurant on Railroad street, met with a severe accident yesterday. While crossing the railroad tracks he slipped and fell in order to avoid falling on his face he threw his right hand forward and fell on it. The force of the fall was so great that two bones in his hand were broken. The injury was very painful, but nothing serious will result from it.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

QUESTION OF COLOR.

Race Problem Takes Up Major Portion of Time of Senate Yesterday.

FILIBUSTERING IN THE HOUSE.

Philippine Currency Bill Is Passed, With Senate Measure Relating to the Islands—Election Case Withdrawn Until Thursday.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The Indianola, Miss., postoffice case occupied the major portion of the time of the senate yesterday. Mr. Tillman spoke for three hours in continuation of his remarks begun Monday on the race question and was followed by Mr. Carmack, of Tennessee.

During the morning hours several bills and resolutions were passed and consideration was given the bill to further provide for the safe keeping of public money on deposit in national banks. The agricultural appropriation bill also was considered, and the committee amendments agreed to, except the steeplechase rider, which was passed over.

On motion of Mr. Cullom (Rep., Ill.) it was agreed that hereafter unless otherwise ordered the senate shall meet at 11 o'clock. The senate then at 5:55 went into executive session and at 6 o'clock adjourned.

In the House.

The house yesterday passed the Philippine currency bill, accepting the senate bill so far as it relates to the islands. The committee amendment striking out the international monetary conference was agreed to. The contested election case of Wagoners, Butler was under consideration for a time and the Democrats began a filibuster which they threaten to continue if the case is pressed. The case was withdrawn with an agreement that it is not to come up until Thursday.

When the reading had proceeded for 10 minutes Mr. Underwood (Ala.) made the point that no quorum was present. The speaker was able to count only 155 members in the hall, but after a call of the house a quorum appeared.

When again the reading had proceeded for more than an hour (the leaders on the respective sides meantime having been in conference and come to an agreement) the further reading was dispensed with. The minority was given until tonight to file their views and it was agreed that the case would not be called up today.

Mr. Fowler then moved that the house go into committee of the whole to resume further consideration of the currency bill and after some delay the motion was carried 156 to 57. Mr. Prince (Ill.) resumed his speech begun on Saturday last.

On the conclusion of his remarks the house at 5:15 p. m. adjourned.

A Prisoner in Her House.

Mrs. W. H. Lavha, of 1001 Agnes-avenue, Kansas City, Mo., has for several years been troubled with severe hoarseness and at times a hard cough, which she says, "Would keep me in doors for days. I was prescribed for by physicians with no noticeable results. A friend gave me a part of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with instructions to closely follow the directions and I wish to state that after the first day I could notice a decided change for the better, and at this time after using it for two weeks have no hesitation in saying I realize that I am entirely cured. From this time on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will be in my house constantly." This remedy is for sale by Alvin H. Bulger

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itching of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogey" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood comes pure and purified, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY. 25 Years in Ohio. 250,000 Cured.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1903.

It will be welcome news to the people of East Liverpool that the long-standing dispute between the Pennsylvania company and the city over the improvements contemplated by the railroad is likely soon to be settled, and settled in the manner that the people desire. This city is the most important one on the line of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh between the terminals of the road, and it is but proper that heed should be given its present and future needs. A freight station nearer to the business center and gates at much traveled street crossings are so much needed that the duty of the railroad company to establish them is plain. The former will be a public convenience, greatly facilitating the reception and delivery of the enormous and fast increasing freight tonnage of the city. The latter are demanded for the safety of the public and the protection of human life. Whether it be that the prospect of competition—which is a certainty of the future, as surely as the growth and expansion of the city and its industries is a certainty—has influenced the railroad officials in their expressed willingness to make concessions, the disposition to do the fair thing will be hailed with popular approval. Council, by taking the position that the city was not disposed to give valuable privileges for nothing, and adhering firmly to that stand, has shown commendable regard for the public interest.

terests, and brought the railroad company to a realization of the fact that it has a body of men to deal with who mean business and who hold that the city's convenience and welfare are a prime consideration when aid is to be lent to a corporation asking valuable privileges.

A passenger station for the East End is needed a trifle more than one down town. But it is nevertheless a fact that the old East Liverpool depot is antiquated and out of date, and should be made to disappear in the march of improvement which the railroad company promises.

The bright spring days now with us are a reminder that it will soon be warm enough for the railroad promoters to begin work on those long projected lines that are to reach East Liverpool. Here's hoping that the opportunity will be embraced.

President Castro, of Venezuela, is certainly earning his salary. Hardly had European allies withdrawn their warships from in front of him until native enemies began firing in the rear.

A missionary has discovered that polygamy is openly practiced in Connecticut. It is hardly necessary to go to Darkest Africa or Bulgaria to find fields for missionary effort.

A new fire station on the Northside will be a boon to that populous and rapidly growing section of the city. Adequate protection against fire has been sadly lacking there.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Rebecca O'Hanlon.
Mrs. Rebecca O'Hanlon, widow of the late Dr. C. P. O'Hanlon, died at her home in East Fairfield at the age of 57 years. Mrs. O'Hanlon was formerly Miss Rebecca Tarr and was born and lived all of her life in Fairfield township. She was married in 1853 to Dr. C. P. O'Hanlon, who died some 20 years ago. Her death was due to a stroke of paralysis. Three children are left to mourn her death: Mrs. Mary Darnley, of Cleveland; William O'Hanlon, of Steubenville; and Edward O'Hanlon, of Toronto.

You notice the large watch sign of the Wade Jewelry Co. has been removed to Fifth street, near the Y. M. C. A.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS

Mrs. J. H. Conway, of Chester, is among the sick.

Miss Marie Johns is quite ill at her home, Market street.

Mrs. C. E. Sneed, of Freedom, Pa., is visiting friends in this city.

Attorney M. J. McGarry has returned from a business trip to Lisbon.

Mrs. J. T. Elliott left this afternoon for Toronto to visit a week with relatives.

Mrs. John C. Owen, of Sixth street who has been quite sick, is able to be out again.

Miss Ella Brownfield, of Calcutta street, is seriously ill with nervous prostration.

Mrs. Charles Pilgrim, of Third street, has recovered from her recent serious illness.

Miss Essie Cohen, of Cleveland, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. F. I. Livingston, Fourth street.

W. C. Havener, of Thompson avenue, has left for an extended western trip for an eastern shoe house.

Mrs. J. W. Gorrell and three daughters, who are ill at their home on Elm street, continue to improve.

Mrs. Joseph Beardman, of Wall street, who is ill with typhoid fever, is getting along nicely and today was reported much improved.

John W. Albright, who has been confined to his home on Avondale street, is reported better today, although still unable to leave the house.

Dr. J. H. Davis was called to McKeesport, Pa., yesterday to assist in an operation at the McKeesport hospital. He returned home this morning.

CONFESSES TO HOTEL ROBBERIES

Bel Boys Went Into the Business in Methodical Manner—"Graft" Was Fine.

New York, Feb. 25.—The police announced yesterday that they had secured a confession from Louis F. Messier, the 18-year-old bell boy who was arrested Monday charged with robbing hotels. The confession shows that Messier and Cullen, another bell boy who was arrested with Messier, had planned to rob hotels all over the country.

Maps and diagrams of the interior of hotels, the names of prominent guests who made a habit of stopping in them and a synopsis written in short hand under the name of each hotel describing its plan, were found on both the prisoners. A diagram of the route of the coronation procession of King Edward with the names of prominent Americans present and lists of the jewelry worn by them at the celebration was also found in a trunk in the prisoners' rooms. In his confession Messier is said to have told the police that the "graft" in America had been so good that the trip to Europe had been abandoned. The third bell boy was discharged by the magistrate. He is now assisting the police in looking for a woman who, it is alleged, disposed of the stolen jewelry. It is said that Messier and Cullen secured $10,000 in property from hotels and clubs in New York.

Murdered Whole Family.
Frankfort, Ind., Feb. 25.—Earl Woods, the 17-year-old son of a prominent farmer, seven miles west of this city, last evening murdered his father, shot and fatally wounded his mother and sister, and then committed suicide. The motive for the boy's bloody crime is not known. After the shooting the young man went to the home of a neighbor and said that robbers had entered his home and killed his father, mother and sister, and that he escaped after a running battle with the desperados. He apparently was greatly excited and said he was organizing a posse to pursue his father's slayers. He stopped at another house and told the same story. When he was questioned concerning the shooting he became confused and presented the ineffectiveness of the men to whom he told the story. He started away and disappeared behind a barn, when a shot was heard. An investigation discovered the youthful murderer dying with a bullet through his breast.

Baseball Schedules Arranged.
Chicago, Feb. 25.—Playing schedules satisfactory to both sides, were arranged at yesterday's meeting of the committees representing the American and National baseball leagues and the magnates left for home last night. There are several conflicting dates in the schedules, but they were made by choice in order to avoid long railroad journeys between games. The schedules call for 140 games in each league. The National playing season will open April 15 and the American in both leagues will close September 20, 27 or 28.

Should Be Granted.
Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 25.—A large delegation of temperance workers, women and men, waited on the government yesterday and asked for a bill next session to prohibit the manufacture, importation and sale of cigarettes or cigarette papers and cigarette wrappers.

Fell Under the Train.
Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 25.—Dr. W. E. B. Davis, one of the most prominent physicians in the southern states, was run over by a passenger train and instantly killed yesterday. He was making professional calls and reaching the crossing, found it blocked. He left his buggy to hold his horse by the reins, and stumbling, fell under the train.

THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Money Market Effects Operators, But Consideration by Senate of Aldrich Financial Bill Eases Situation.

New York, Feb. 25.—The minds of operators in stocks yesterday were manifestly turned upon the money market outlook. The significant upward movement in St. Louis and San Francisco and in Wabash preferred had very little sympathetic effect upon the general tone of the market. The influence of the weak bank statement on Saturday and of the developments of yesterday in money proved more than sufficient to overcome any sympathetic effect from these manifestations of strength. But in the afternoon, when it was announced that the senate had taken up the consideration of the Aldrich financial bill, a substantial recovery set in, and a large proportion of the earlier losses was recovered. The whole movement was largely professional but was a fair demonstration of the importance attached in the financial community to everything that promises relief from the threatened financial stringency of the coming fall, in this connection any assurance, such as provided by the Aldrich bill, against withdrawal from the money market by the government in the collection of surplus revenue, is considered of prime importance. The market closed quite active and firm.

There was some breadth to the bond market but the largest activity was in St. Louis and San Francisco fundings 4s and Wabash debentures. The general tone was irregular. Total sale par value $4,612,000.

Money on call steady at 3; prime mercantile paper 4 1/2 to 5 1/4; sterling exchange fairly steady.

Board Lacking in Patriotism.
Ballston, N. Y., Feb. 25.—The Ballston high school class of 1903, 14 girls and boys, were refused admission to the school yesterday. They became insubordinate Monday afternoon because there was no observance of Washington's birthday and giving the class yell and shouting "Washington," left the school room. The board of education ordered the suspension of the entire class and the refusal to admit them yesterday morning followed pending further action by the board.

Cannot Collect.
St. Louis, Feb. 25.—On the plea that the trust cooperative investment companies are simply gambling schemes and that all investors are partners in the business and must have known the nature of the business, the first attachment suit of the many filed against John J. Ryan & Co., was dismissed by Justice Kleiber yesterday. The suit was to recover money invested.

yet the figure looks smaller and the back and sides of the corset fit as closely as ever.

The new corset covers generally all show a very full blouse in front. Petticoats of heavy black moire wear well and are serviceable for cool weather. They are fitted bell shape, with no extra fullness.

The newest stockings match the gowns with which they are worn and are very much embroidered.

EVENING DRESSES.

Sequined Effects Popular—The Wide Bertha.

Sequined gowns are quite popular this winter. One gown of white net had exquisite designs in mauve sequins and steel beads. Another, seen at the same dressmaker's, was in black and steel with incrustations of Paris lace and beautiful tiger lilies in black and white velvet.

and a wisp of lace at the back caught with a pretty ornament in paste or steel.

The wide bertha and the fichu are in the height of style, but they are so arranged that they give a square appearance to the shoulders instead of the slope which, so alluring where it suits, makes some women appear so terribly dowdy.

The evening dress shown is of black chantilly lace over white chiffon and silk.

TEN PIECES OF SHEET MUSIC FOR $1.00.

Is This Old Music?
NO!

10 pieces of copyright music, latest popular pieces of the day, for $1.00.

Why, you ask, do we make this offer, do we buy this music so cheap that we can afford to sell it 10 pieces for $1.00.

NO!

The reason, in order to keep up to date we have standing orders with the leading publishers for from 1 to 10 copies of each new issue. These are sent us soon as they are off the press. In 10 years we have accumulated more music than our limited space will allow, our shelves are running over. We must make more room or reduce our stock. We decide to sell 10 pieces for $1.00, or sent prepaid to any address for $1.10.

This music we have in stock and will not include the last copy of any one piece. Our clerks will not be allowed to play over music in this offer. We will, however, allow you to select three pieces that we have in stock, we will give you seven more either instrumental or vocal of our own selection, copyright music. Ordinarily these 10 pieces would cost you at least $2.50.

While this offer is not something for nothing it is very close to it. Offer for 30 days only.

ROBBED THE MAYOR'S COOP

Chicken Thieves Take Valuable Fowls Belonging to Wellsville's Executive.

Mayor W. L. Fogo, who is quite a fancier of chickens and who owns quite a large flock, has been robbed several times during the past few months and he stated last evening that no less than 15 of his best roosters and hens are now missing.

On Monday evening he was robbed of the best pullets he ever owned. He will prosecute the thief if located, to the fullest extent of the law.

A Trip to Massachusetts.

At a special meeting of the Wellsville board of water works trustees Monday evening, Secretary Taylor reported to the board that he had received a telephone message from a representative of the Deane Steam Pump company, requesting the board to go to Andover, Mass., to see a Deane pump in operation, at the expense of the company. The board decided to accept the offer and left the city this morning. They will first inspect Epping-Carpenter pumps in Pittsburg and then proceed to Andover.

Filed an Affidavit.

Otto Hill, who hails from "down yander," but who is now residing in Wellsville strolled into the mayor's office last evening and filed an affidavit against Kenney Bradley, also from down the river, charging him with being drunk and disorderly and using profane language. The accused has not yet been located. Hill claims that Bradley made an attempt to raise rough house in a boarding house in the West End.

No Meeting Held.

Mayor Fogo, president of the board of health, Secretary Taylor and Health Officer Tarr were the only members of the board who put in an appearance last evening at the meeting. As this was not a quorum, no meeting could be held. Another attempt will be made to hold a meeting this evening.

The order of business in the senate for the remainder of this session has been quite definitely decided on. Appropriation bills will be given the right of way and the Pan-American canal treaty will be considered while the appropriation bills are in conference. There will be an effort made to get through other bills, including Senator Aldrich's bond deposit bill.

Notice of the withdrawal of the statehood rider from the appropriation bills will be given today.

SOUTH SIDE

MILL WILL START IN A SHORT TIME

RUMORS OF SHUT-DOWN ARE DECLARED BASELESS.

Trouble With the Machinery Soon to Be Repaired And a Steady Run Assured.

The expressed fear that the Chester tin mill, which has been having difficulty with its machinery for the past two or three weeks, might lead to an indefinite shut down, which has been much discussed in the town, is without foundation, according to the mill officials. The News Review yesterday published some of the talk that has been current in many quarters in Chester. Today, it is glad to be assured on the highest authority, that there is no ground for the fears expressed by those who were interviewed, and that the mill will resume in full in a few days and continue its operations steadily, having ample orders to insure a long run.

J. C. King, of the mill management, said this morning: "You cannot state too strongly that there is no danger of a shut down or a suspension. The mill will resume in full in a few days, a week at the farthest, and will run steadily in all departments. There has been trouble with the machinery, but the full cause has been ascertained and will now soon be remedied. Three weeks ago there was a break in the connecting rod on the low pressure cylinder. In fixing it, it was necessary to stop a day. A careful examination was then made of the cylinders. This had not been possible before, as the mill had been in operation steadily for a year. It was found that the cylinder was all right, but that one end of the shaft had dropped down about an inch from the wear of the metal.

"There was nothing wrong with the foundation, as has been reported. Wearing for some time, the spur wheels had ground the bearing so that it was not true. Raised to the proper position, this threw the gears into a different bearing causing a hammering and endangering the teeth. The only way to remedy this was to grind down and fix the teeth to make them true and even. In a few days, certainly not later than a week, the repairs will be completed, and the mill started for a steady run, with ample orders ahead."

Chester merchants and others who have been worried are greatly elated and encouraged by this assurance of the mill management.

TALK OF DEFEATING THE BOND ISSUE

A Few People Only Are Opposed to Having the Streets Improved And Paid For.

There appears to be considerable effort on the part of only a few persons in Chester to throw cold water on the attempt to issue more bonds for street paving purposes. There is but little doubt, in the minds of the great majority of persons interested, that the attempts to defeat the bond issue will fail. The town would be held responsible for the debt incurred already, whether the bond issue were carried or not. A town cannot repudiate its just debts any more than a state can. If the bond issue were voted down the town would be compelled to pay for the work already done even though it was unfinished, as the contractor has the warrant of the town calling for the amount already due less a certain per cent agreed upon to remain unpaid till the paving was completed.

At the next meeting of council that body will vote on an ordinance to issue bonds to the amount of $22,000 for street paving purposes. It will be necessary to leave the question again to the votes of the people and they will decide whether they shall be issued or not. It is urged that many have been dissatisfied with the work and do not want to issue bonds for the completion of the contract. On the other hand it is urged with good reason that with the work left as it is now it would be a great deal worse than if no work had been done at all. The argument that half a loaf is better than none does not hold good in such a case. At the election last summer for the purpose of deciding whether the bonds should be issued there was no opposition at all.

While there may be a few votes against the proposition at the present time there is little likelihood of any serious opposition. The good of the town demands that the work be completed. To do this it will be necessary to issue these bonds. The council will go ahead with the arrangements as quickly as possible and arrange for the election immediately.

The contractor, E. A. Freshwater, will begin work again in about a month and will make an effort to finish the work entirely before fall.

ish the work entirely before fall. This will meet the approval of the entire population of the town, as they have been in great need for years of a good street through the town. When the paving is completed there will be few towns in the state that will be able to show a street finished as well as that proposed for Chester.

MOVING THE POSTOFFICE

Project of Locating It in the Upper End of Chester Now Under Discussion.

There is some talk of the postoffice of Chester being moved to the upper end of town. One of the owners of a new business room being erected there has agreed to donate a space 15 feet square in the front of his store room, or any amount of floor space desired in the rear of the building if the department will locate the postoffice in that end of the town. He agrees to let the office be located in his room without any rent.

It is not known whether the offer will be accepted. As the department does not pay the rent for the fourth-class offices, that is left with the discretion of the postmaster. However, the department has the real say, but usually follows the recommendations of the postmaster in charge.

CLOSE OF CARNIVAL.

Mardi Gras Festivities at New Orleans End in a Blaze of Glory.

RIVAL KINGS EXCHANGE VISITS.

Many Prominent People Participated In Joyous Occasion—City Crowded With Strangers, But Exodus Begins.

Battleships and Cruisers Will Leave.

New Orleans, Feb. 25.—The carnival closed last night in a blaze of glory. In point of attendance of strangers it has been the most successful ever held while the pageants were on a scale of great artistic splendor. The parade last night was by the Mystic Krewe of Comus. Its title was "A Leaf from the Mahabharata," and it illustrated in 20 superb floats the great epic poem of the Hindus.

The culminating society event of the season was the ball of Comus at the French opera house. The curtain rose upon a picturesque tableau revealing Comus on a throne of light and the masked krewe grouped on either side. Comus chose for his queen Miss Myrtle Stauffer. Miss Alice Roosevelt was present and again was the object of special attention. Admiral and Mrs. Schley and General Joseph Wheeler and his daughters were among the guests.

Rex held his ball, which was really a democratic reception, in Washington artillery hall, temporarily converted into a carnival palace. There was a great crush of the king's subjects. Miss Ingersoll—Minge was chosen queen of the carnival and several society girls served as her attendants. After midnight there was an exchange of visits between Comus and Rex and their courts.

The period of sackcloth and ashes comes today. There will be a general exodus of visitors and the railroads have made special preparations to handle the heavy travel.

The French cruiser, Tage, which has been here for several weeks, will leave today for Jamaica, going thence to Martinique. Admiral Rivert and his officers were attendants at the Comus ball last night. The battleship Texas which was brilliantly illuminated last night in honor of the king, also is expected to sail this week.

Admiral Schley, Colonel A. K. McClure and their party hope to resume their journey westward on Thursday.

Charles Grether Hanged. Stroudsburg, Pa., Feb. 25.—Charles Grether was hanged here yesterday for the murder of Constable Strunk in September, 1901. Strunk had gone to Grether's home to arrest him for robbery, when the latter shot the officer dead. Grether was convicted of murder in the first degree. Since his incarceration he has twice broken jail and the sheriff, who conducted the execution yesterday, is under indictment for allowing Grether to escape.

Buying Iron from Germany. Berlin, Feb. 25.—The prices of iron are rising as a result of the American demand. An order for 25,000 tons has just been placed with the Rhine-Westphalian syndicate for shipment to the United States at 50 cents per ton higher than the syndicate demanded at the beginning of the month. The order could not be filled for April and had to be postponed until June.

LADRONES LEAVE MONTALBAN.

Troops Fail to Overtake Insurgents. San Miguel Advises Adherents to Let Americans Alone.

Manila, Feb. 25.—General San Miguel's force of insurgent ladrones has abandoned Montalban, 16 miles from here, and probably has fled to the Morong mountains. Reports from Bosoboso indicate the presence of ladrones in that vicinity. Reinforcements for the government troops reached Montalban too late and failed to overtake the retreating ladrones. San Miguel has about 300 men with him. It is not believed that they can subsist for any length of time in the mountains. The government is preparing to occupy the valleys and passes and force San Miguel to fight or disband his followers.

Later reports indicate that only 15 of the government troops (scouts and constabulary) were captured Saturday and Sunday when the ladrones surrounded the towns of Calinta and Tay-Tay, 11 miles from Manila. These men, as cabled February 22, were subsequently released by the ladrones after they had given up their arms.

Detachments of constabulary and scouts encountered bands of the enemy on Saturday and a series of skirmishes ensued. The government forces were victorious.

San Miguel has issued a manifesto directing his adherents to avoid a conflict with the Americans and to content themselves with harassing the police.

Volcano Active.

Mexico City, Feb. 25.—The news of a violent eruption last Saturday of the volcano of Colima is confirmed. This volcano has been in eruption frequently during recent years. The eruption was violent and startling, but not more so than those of former years. Much alarm was felt by those in the vicinity. Stones of great size were ejected and flames shot high into the sky. When the first alarm was over, showers of ashes and finely pulverized rock began to fall. This alarmed the inhabitants of the district, who feared being buried under the debris. Yesterday's advice reported the volcano becoming quiet, but it is feared it may burst forth again. There are many Americans in the vicinity.

Cubans Celebrate Anniversary.

Havana, Feb. 25.—The eighth anniversary of the uprising at Balra, which was the beginning of the Cuban revolution against Spanish rule which finally resulted in Cuba's freedom, was gaily celebrated in Havana yesterday. The day was also the climax of the carnival season, rain having previously interfered with the festivities. Business was suspended and the streets and building everywhere decorated with flags.

Unnatural Father.

Irondale, O., Feb. 25.—Sheriff Gilson and several deputies yesterday took Samuel Yeager from here to the Steubenville jail. Precaution was taken to guard him against mob violence, public feeling against the man being extremely bitter. Mrs. Yeager charges her husband with being the cause of her 15-year-old daughter's disgrace. Both mother and daughter appeared against him in Squire Paisley's court.

Foul Play Suspected.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Feb. 25.—Chris Whitman of Covington, Ky., a roustabout on the towboat Dave Wood, came ashore here yesterday to go to a hospital. He had $80 in cash. He was found dead this morning sitting in a chair in a hotel office, with only $12 in his pockets. The coroner suspects foul play and will hold an autopsy.

Wang Militiamen Discharged. Schenectady, N. Y., Feb. 25.—The building trades council representing all men employed in any of the building trades, has made a demand upon Shafer & Barry, the employers of William Potter, the expelled militiaman, for his discharge. The demand has been refused and the building trades council has decided that when the spring building season opens, all union carpenters, painters, masons, lathers, plasterers, etc., will refuse to work on any building on which Potter has been employed. It is expected that the result will be to tie up building operations. Over 3,000 men are involved.

Interesting Features of Medicine

By George Thomas Palmer, M. D.

X.—Imagination as a Cause and Cure of Disease.

PHYSICIANS have so far recognized the part which imagination plays as an ethological factor among patients that they have given to diseases of imaginative origin a distinct name. Imagined or fancied disease is known as hypochondriasis, and there are doubtless many conditions treated as real which should come under this class. Hypochondriasis must not be confused with malingering, which is a purely voluntary feigning of disease, for in the former there is certainly a very real disease element which forces the belief in the malady upon the patient. If the condition complained of is not genuine, there is certainly a functional disease of the brain.

There has always been a great deal of humor in the anecdotes of medical students reading over their first texts on medicine and developing the symptoms of the diseases of which they read. This is not the invention of the wit, but is experienced by many a sen-complain of intense pain. Here is where imagination has the upper hand. The use of a hypodermic injection of plain water under the pretext of its being morphine will often cause immediate relief. Here is an example of a case in which imagination cures.

Just where real disease begins and imagination ends is a very difficult matter to determine and one which calls into play all of the tact and ingenuity of the physician, for a hint at imagination as the foundation of the patient's ailment is always resented. There are cases, however, known as chronic invalidism, beginning with some real disease of a chronic nature. At last a cure may be effected, but the patient has become an invalid by habit and continues to feel so long after every trace of disease has disappeared. He feels every pain of which he is accustomed to complain as truly as though it really existed. For such a condition imagination is the surest and best remedy, and wise is the doctor who in such cases treats the mind rather than the body. These are the cases upon which the various faith cures thrive, and faith cure is the proper therapy.

Cases are reported of those who have long been crippled being carried to a man like Dowie. He, laying on his hand, orders the patient to arise and walk, with the result of immediate cure. These are the ones who have at one time been really crippled and have recovered, but have gone through life imagining that they were still helpless. It is the faith in the alleged power of the charlatan which prompts the effort which discloses the fact that power is regained.

Imagination as a cure of disease has necessarily been considered in a way in another chapter, but imagination is used outside the ranks of the fakirs. It is a potent element in the treatment of regular physicians. It is the power of imagination which produces results with those inert medicinal preparations known as placebos. A successful country doctor told me that he had three kinds of placebo tablets, pink, white and blue, all simply made of sugar of milk and utterly inert. He had been giving a patient the white tablets until the patient complained that the medicine given was not strong enough. Expressing his disapproval of such powerful drugs, the physician produced a blue pill and gave it with a great deal of ceremony. The result was immediate and gratifying in the extreme, although, as I have said, the white and blue tablets were equally inert.

There are a great many cases coming under the doctor's care in which he would prefer to give no medicine at all, either because there is no disease justifying it or because the disease is self limiting and tends to spontaneous cure. It is a fact generally recognized that in most cases drugs must be given to act upon the imagination of the patient, and for this purpose it makes practically no difference what it is so long as it does no harm.

Some time ago in a surgical clinic I saw a demonstration of the power of imagination which was interesting. A woman had been placed upon the table preparatory to an operation without anesthesia. The operator instructed her to compose herself. "It will be over in a moment," he said. With this he drew his finger nail over the location for incision. The woman uttered a scream and was fairly convulsed with pain. She could not be convinced that the incision had not been made until she was permitted to see the spot. She had suffered all the pain of the operation when nothing had been done to cause the slightest discomfort. This same patient had applied for operation to have a needle removed from her thigh, in which it had been accidentally lodged some weeks before and which, she claimed, caused her great inconvenience. A slight skin incision was made by the operator and immediately sewed up. The needle was not found, and yet the recovery was complete.

So it may be seen that there is a great deal in the idea of mind over matter. It is evidenced every day in general practice. The physician who has the entire confidence of the patient is always able to accomplish more than the man in whom the patient does not have so much faith, and the great specialist who is credited with the accomplishment of wonders is capable of doing as much by the mental impression he makes upon the patient as by his drugs.

The real indications for the use of electricity are exceedingly small. The real cures which can be accomplished by it are few, and yet in those cases in which imagination is an element there is nothing so potent. The very fact that there is always a degree of mystery about the workings of electricity, the fact that we have never learned exactly what it is, adds to its curative power when acting upon the mind.

It may be safely said that all of those conditions which can be caused by emotions or abnormal mental action—by pleasure, sorrow, worry, surprise—may also be caused by the action of the imagination, and influences which will act upon and produce these same emotions are the best means of cure.

Upon good authority we hear of some great surprise or joy opening the eyes of the blind, of some alarm or fear giving strength to crippled limbs, to great emotion ending an apparently hopeless disease.

Can it be that such emotions have jogged the lagging brain cells into action again, or must we accept it as the mental impetus which overcomes the imaginative disease?

The hypochondriacal conditions which are products of imagination or mental wandering and which are increasing with the high mental strain of modern civilization must be met by mental suggestion, which is the direction of the imagination into channels which are normal rather than pathological.

Impersonated His Father.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 25.—John Page, an inmate of the soldiers' home in Noroton, who was charged with having obtained a pension by impersonating his father, who served in the civil war, was yesterday sentenced in the United States district court to three years in state prison.

Strike Becoming Serious.

Denver, Col., Feb. 25.—The strike of the shop employees of the Colorado and Southern railway company threatens to become serious. The blacksmiths in Denver went out some days ago. They were joined Monday by the machinists here, and yesterday the boiler makers in the Denver shops and the machinists, boiler makers and wipers in Trinidad were called out. The strikers in Denver now number 195 and in Trinidad 125. The employees at Cheyenne have been ordered out, but have not as yet obeyed. Union recognition seems to be the most important question at issue.

Controls Valuable Water Power.

Quebec, Quebec, Feb. 25.—James L. Newton, Watertown, N. Y., closed a deal yesterday with the provincial government, through which he became owner of two water powers on Pentecost river in the lower St. Lawrence and adjoining land for $13,500. These water powers are 70 and 54 feet high and are considered very valuable property, as they are situated in a great lumbering district. Mr. Newton intends forming a syndicate to manufacture pulp and timber and will commence operations as soon as navigation opens.

NEW YORK POSTOFFICE

Committee Recommends Buildings Be Erected Over Underground Railways.

WOULD SAVE TIME AND EXPENSE

Mails Could Be Delivered to Railroads

Through Pneumatic Tubes—Very Few Sites Offered Commission—Negotiations With Railroads.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The cabinet among other topics yesterday considered the report of the committee created by congress to acquire a site for a postoffice building in New York city. The commission was composed of three members of the cabinet, and after the president and his advisors had heard the report read it was transmitted to the house of representatives by Secretary Shaw. The salient feature of the report is a recommendation that postoffice buildings be erected over the underground railway tracks of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railways in New York city. The commission says that very few sites were offered to it and that of the many suggested condemnation proceedings would be necessary in all cases in order to secure title. The commission says it has to suggest a wholly new project, namely, the location of the postoffice buildings over the tracks of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railway system. It says by this means the half hour now lost in transporting the mails from the railroads to the postoffice would be saved and also the expense of the wagons now engaged in this transportation, as pneumatic tubes would be used.

The commission reports that negotiations already have been entered into with the two railroad companies. The commission recommends that congress extend its powers so as to enable it to purchase a site offered by the Pennsylvania Railway company, on Eighth avenue, extending from 31st to 33rd street, where the terminal is to be located, the price named to the government being $2,000,000; also to secure a site and to erect a postoffice building over the tracks of the New York Central railroad or adjacent to the new station to be built by that company. It is estimated that a building can be erected for about $3,000,000. An appropriation of $2,000,000 for the purchase of the Pennsylvania site is recommended. The report says that owing to the rise in values since the location of the railroads, a site opposite the present one will cost $6,000,000. The Pennsylvania road in its proposal reserves the right to use for station purposes only all the space under a plane of 20 feet below the curb line of the adjoining streets. The New York Central road yesterday sent a communication to the commission making a proposition for the sale of a site over its tracks approximately located where the present station now stands. The proposition in its present form is not altogether satisfactory to the commission. The Pennsylvania road is expected to begin the excavation of the Eighth avenue site at once and if that site is turned over to the government on July 1, 1904, as proposed by the Pennsylvania road, the postoffice there may be in operation about July 1, 1905. Senator Platt, of New York, yesterday offered an amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $2,000,000 toward the erection of a new postoffice building in New York, his purpose being to carry out the commission's recommendations.

Agreeing on Wages.

Manistee, Mich., Feb. 25.—Representatives of the Lake Lumber Carriers' association and the International Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers' association are in session here to agree on wages for lumber loading on Lakes Huron and Michigan this year. Secretary Reynolds heads the vessel owners and President Daniel J. Keefe is the principal representative of the longshoremen. The loading scale was fixed at 52½ cents an hour. This is the same as that of last year and is something of a surprise in view of the fact that a few days ago the Lake Superior longshoremen affected an agreement at 55 cents. The Manistee conference will today consider the scale for unloading.

Arrested on Suspicion.

Helena, Mont., Feb. 25.—The police have arrested John J. Jackson, a negro, on suspicion of being wanted in Washington, D. C., for a murder committed December 24 last. He is said to answer the description sent out by Washington authorities offering a reward for his arrest. Jackson asserts he can prove an alibi.

New Cause for Strike.

Torington, Conn., Feb. 25.—Because the officials of the Turner & Seymour Manufacturing company refused to discharge a man who owed the foundry workers union $5.50, 119 men in the foundry department of the company went on strike yesterday. At present the strike has not affected the other departments of the company.

Alcock's POROUS PLASTERS

Are a universal remedy for Pains in the Back (so frequent in the case of women). They give instantaneous relief. Wherever there is a pain apply a Plaster.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE

For pains in the region of the kidneys, or for a Weak Back, the plaster should be applied as shown above. Wherever there is pain apply Alcock's Plaster.

For Rheumatism or Pains in Shoulders, Elbows or elsewhere, or for Sprains, Stiffness, etc., and for Aching Feet, cut plaster size and shape required and apply to part affected as shown above.

For Sore Throat, Coughs, Bronchitis, for Weak Lungs and for painful and sensitive parts of the abdomen, apply as indicated.

Rheumatism, Colds, Coughs Weak Chest, Weak Back Lumbago, Sciatica, &c., &c.

If you want the best results, the quickest and cleanest cure, use Alcock's Plasters. They are far superior to belladonna, which is the extract of deadly night shade, a virulent poison, and never should be used except by direction of a physician. Alcock's Plasters contain no poisons. They cure by absorption. Absolutely curative, perfectly harmless. Read letter from Prof. Henry A. Mott, the eminent chemist.

"My investigation of ALCOCK'S POROUS PLASTER shows it to contain valuable and essential ingredients not found in any other plaster, and I find it superior to and more efficient than any other plaster."

"I am pleased to give my experience with Wine of Cardui for its help. After my first baby was born I could not seem to regain my strength, although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband came home one evening with some Wine of Cardui and insisted that I take it for a week and see what it would do for me. As he seemed to have so much faith in it I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

MOTHERHOOD is the noblest duty and highest privilege women can achieve or aspire to. Without this privilege women do not get all there is in life—too often they go through the world discontented, wrapped up in their own selfish cares and troubles. How different is the happy mother, watching her children grow into manhood and womanhood. A mother lives as many lives as she has children—their joys and sorrows are hers, as are their ambitions, triumphs and defeats. Healthy women do not suffer miscarriage nor does a woman who is healthy suffer tortures at childbirth. It is the woman who is ailing—who has female weakness—who fears the ordeal of becoming a mother. Wine of Cardui builds up the womanly in a woman. It stops all unnatural drains and strains—irregularities which are responsible for barrenness and miscarriage. It makes a woman strong and healthy and able to pass through pregnancy and childbirth with little suffering. After the ordeal is passed the Wine prepares a woman for a speedy recovery to health and activity.

Wine of Cardui, in re-informing the organs of generation, has made mothers of women who had given up hope of over-coming mothers. Wine of Cardui will cure almost any case of barrenness except cases of organic trouble. How can you refuse to take such a remedy that promises such relief from suffering? Wine of Cardui simply makes you a strong woman, and strong, healthy women do not suffer. They look forward to motherhood with joy.

WINE of CARDUI A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers. They filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble. If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Coal Trust Weakens.

Columbus, O., Feb. 25.—There is every indication that the suit of the state to oust the leading coal companies of Ohio from their charters, for forming a combine, will be compromised today. It is expected that the coal companies will consent to a decree by the supreme court ordering them out of any combine to which they may be a party. They have had their representatives working for weeks with Governor Nash along this line. It is said that the coal companies have realized that the state has positive evidence against them and are glad to have the trust ordered dissolved, rather than to take the chance of losing their charters.

Kidney Disease Kills.

Its Victims Numbered by the Hundreds of Thousands.

Kidney diseases should be attended to at once, for almost 90 per cent. of our unexpected deaths of to-day are from that cause. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the only sure cure known for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation. Its marvelous how it stops that pain in the back, relieves the necessity of urinating so often at night, drives away that scalding pain in passing water, corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer and shows its beneficial effects on the system in an incredibly short time.

George L. Smith, foreman of the Holley Manufacturing Company's Works, Lockport, N. Y., says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy with the most beneficial results. I was troubled with gravel and kidney complaint very severely; it bothered me a great deal, and have found great relief from its use, and cheerfully recommend it." "Favorite Kennedy" is the most successful medicine ever discovered for kidney, bladder, liver and blood diseases. Its record of cures has made it famous in medical circles everywhere. It is recognized as a specific. It purifies the blood and dissolves the excess of uric acid in it, clears up the urine, restores the kidneys and bladder to their normal condition, and gently moves the bowels.

It is for sale by all druggists in the Now 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles—less than a cent a dose. Sample bottle—enough for trial, free by mail, Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y.

Dr. David Kennedy's golden Plasters strengthen muscles, remove pain anywhere. 10c each.

Rights of Telephone Companies. Chambersburg, Pa., Feb. 25.—Judge Stewart yesterday rendered an opinion in which he holds that telephone companies do not have the right of eminent domain so far as going upon private land is concerned, or have they the right to build lines upon highways adjoining land without giving the land owners damages. The Pennsylvania Telephone company sought to obtain possession of two fields in Quincy township and Judge Stewart upheld the owners' refusal to grant permission.

The New Arabian Nights

(Part I—Continued)

The smoking room of the Suicide club was the same height as the cabinet into which it opened, but much larger, and papered from top to bottom with an imitation of oak wainscot. A large and cheerful fire and a number of gas jets illuminated the company. The prince and his follower made the number up to eighteen. Most of the party were smoking and drinking champagne. A feverish hilarity reigned, with sudden and rather ghastly pauses.

"Is this a full meeting?" asked the prince.

"Midling," said the president. "By the way," he added, "if you have any money it is usual to offer some champagne. It keeps up a good spirit and is one of my own little perquisites."

"Hammersmith," said Florizel, "I may leave the champagne to you."

And with that he turned away and began to go round among the guests. Accustomed to play the host in the highest circles, he charmed and dominated all whom he approached. There was something at once winning and authoritative in his address, and his extraordinary coolness gave him yet another distinction in this half-mad society. As he went from one to another he kept both his eyes and his ears open and soon began to gain a general idea of the people among whom he found himself. As in all other places of resort, one type predominated—people in the prime of youth, with every show of intelligence and sensibility in their appearance, but with little promise of strength or the quality that makes success. Few were much above thirty, and not a few were still in their teens. They stood, leaning on tables and shifting on their feet; sometimes they smoked extraordinarily fast and sometimes they let their cigars go out; some talked well, but the conversation of others was plainly the result of nervous tension and was equally without wit or purport. As each new bottle of champagne was opened there was a manifest improvement in gaiety. Only two were seated—one in a chair in the recess of the window, with his head hanging and his hands plunged deep into his trousers pockets, pale, visibly moist with perspiration, saying never a word, a very wreck of soul and body; the other sat on the divan close by the chimney and attracted notice by a trenchant dissimilarity from all the rest. He was probably upward of forty, but he looked fully ten years older, and Florizel thought he had never seen a man more naturally diseased nor one more ravaged by disease and ruinous excitements. He was no more than skin and bone, was partly paralyzed and wore spectacles of such unusual power that his eyes appeared through the glasses greatly magnified and distorted in shape. Except the prince and the president, he was the only person in the room who preserved the composure of ordinary life.

There was little decency among the members of the club. Some boasted of the disgraceful actions, the consequences of which had reduced them to seek refuge in death, and the others listened without disapproval. There was a tacit understanding against moral judgments, and whoever passed the club doors enjoyed already some of the immunities of the tomb. They drank to each other's memories and to those of notable suicides in the past. They compared and developed their different views of death, some declaring that it was no more than blackness and cessation, others full of a hope that that very night they should be scaling the stars and commercing with the mighty dead.

"To the eternal memory of Baron Trenck, the type of suicides!" cried one. "He went out of a small cell into a smaller that he might come forth again to freedom."

"For my part," said a second, "I wish no more than a bandage for my eyes and cotton for my ears. Only they have no cotton thick enough in this world."

A third was for reading the mysteries of life in a future state, and a fourth professed that he would never have joined the club if he had not been induced to believe in Mr. Darwin.

"I could not bear," said this remarkable suicide, "to be descended from an ape."

Altogether the prince was disappointed by the bearing and conversation of the members.

"It does not seem to me," he thought, "a matter for so much disturbance. If a man has made up his mind to kill himself, let him do it, in God's name, like a gentleman. This flutter and big talk is out of place."

In the meanwhile Colonel Geraldine was a prey to the blackest apprehensions. The club and its rules were still a mystery, and he looked round the room for some one who should be able to set his mind at rest. In this survey his eye lighted on the paralytic person with the strong spectacles, and, seeing him so exceedingly tranquil, he brought the president, who was going in and out of the room under a pressure of business, to present him to the gentleman on the divan.

The functionary explained the needlessness of all such formalities within the club, but nevertheless presented Mr. Hammersmith to Mr. Malthus.

Mr. Malthus looked at the colonel curiously and then requested him to take a seat upon his right.

"You are a newcomer," he said, "and wish information. You have come to the proper source. It is two years since I first visited this charming club."

The colonel breathed again. If Mr. Malthus had frequented the place for two years, there could be little danger for the prince in a single evening. But Geraldine was none the less astonished and began to suspect a mystification.

"What?" cried he. "Two years! I thought—but indeed I see I have been made the subject of a pleasant story."

"By no means," replied Mr. Malthus mildly. "My case is peculiar. I am not, properly speaking, a suicide at all, but, as it were, an honorary member. I rarely visit the club twice in two months. My infirmity and the kindness of the president have procured me these little immunities, for which, besides, I pay at an advanced rate. Even as it is, my luck has been extraordinary."

"I am afraid," said the colonel, "that I must ask you to be more explicit. You must remember that I am still most imperfectly acquainted with the rules of the club."

"An ordinary member who comes here in search of death, like yourself," replied the paralytic, "returns every evening until fortune favors him. He can even, if he is penniless, get board and lodging from the president; very fair, I believe, and clean, although, of course, not luxurious. That could hardly be, considering the exigency, if I may so express myself, of the subscription. And then the president's company is a delicacy in itself."

"Indeed," cried Geraldine, "he had not greatly prepossessed me?"

"Ah!" said Mr. Malthus. "You do not know the man—the drollest fellow! What stories, what cynicism! He knows life to admiration, and, between ourselves, is probably the most corrupt rogue in Christendom."

"And he also," asked the colonel, "is a permanency, like yourself, if I may say so without offense?"

"Indeed he is a permanency in a very different sense from me," replied Mr. Malthus. "I have been graciously spared, but I must go at last. Now, he never plays. He shuffles and deals for the club and makes the necessary arrangements. That man, my dear Mr. Hammersmith, is the very soul of ingenuity. For three years he has pursued in London his useful and, I think I may add, his artistic calling, and not so much as a whisper of suspicion has been aroused. I believe him myself to be inspired. You doubtless remember the celebrated case six months ago of the gentleman who was accidentally poisoned in a chemist's shop. That was one of the least rich, one of the least racy, of his notions; but, then, how simple, and how safe!"

"You astound me," said the colonel. "Was that unfortunate gentleman one of the?" he was about to say "victims," but, bethinking himself in time, he substituted "members of the club?"

In the same flash of thought it occurred to him that Mr. Malthus himself had not at all spoken in the tone of one who is in love with death, and he added hurriedly:

"But I perceive I am still in the dark. You speak of shuffling and dealing. Pray, for what end? And, since you seem rather unwilling to die than otherwise, I must own that I cannot conceive what brings you here at all."

"You say truly that you are in the dark," replied Mr. Malthus, with more animation. "Why, my dear sir, this club is the temple of intoxication. If my enfeebled health could support the excitement more often, you may depend upon it I should be more often here. It requires all the sense of duty engendered by a long habit of ill health and careful regimen to keep me from excess in this, which is, I may say, my last dissipation. I have tried them all, sir," he went on, laying his hand on Geraldine's arm, "all, without exception, and I declare to you, upon my honor, there is not one of them that has not been grossly and untruthfully overrated. People trifle with love. Now, I deny that love is a strong passion. Fear is the strong passion. It is with fear that you must trifle if you wish to taste the intensest joys of living. Envy me—envy me, sir," he added, with a chuckle. "I am a coward!"

Geraldine could scarcely repress a movement of repulsion for this deplorable wretch, but he commanded himself with an effort and continued his inquiries.

"How, sir," he asked, "is the excitement so artfully prolonged, and where is there any element of uncertainty?"

"I must tell you how the victim for every evening is selected," returned Mr. Malthus, "and not only the victim, but another member, who is to be the instrument in the club's hands and death's high priest for that occasion."

"Heavens!" said the colonel. "Do they then kill each other?"

"No, I haven't been away, you know. Have I an accent, really?"

"Oh, drop it, Tim. What are you doing?"

"I am demonstrator in an automobile establishment."

SCHOOL GIRLS.

'Tis a pretty age—that time in a girl's life when she has all the beauties of womanhood without the later lines of care and worry.

But here and there even among school girls appear pale and drawn faces.

Pale blood is at the bottom of the trouble and Scott's Emulsion can cure it.

Scott's Emulsion brings back the beauty to pale girls because it is blood food.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 400 Pearl St., N. Y.

"The trouble of suicide is removed in that way," returned Malthus, with a nod.

"Merciful heavens!" ejaculated the colonel. "And may you—may I—may the—my friend, I mean—may any of us be pitched upon this evening as the slayer of another man's body and immortal spirit? Can such things be possible among men born of women? Oh, infamy of infamies!"

He was about to rise in his horror when he caught the prince's eye. It was fixed upon him from across the room with a frowning and angry stare. In a moment Geraldine recovered his composure.

"After all," he added, "why not? And since you say the game is interesting, vogue la galere—I follow the club!"

Mr. Malthus had keenly enjoyed the colonel's amazement and disgust. He had the vanity of wickedness, and it pleased him to see another man give way to a generous movement while he felt himself in his entire corruption superior to such emotions.

"You now, after your first moment of surprise," said he, "are in a position to appreciate the delights of our society. You can see how it combines the excitement of a gaming table, a duel and a Roman amphitheater. The pugnas did well enough—I cordially admire the refinement of their minds—but it has been reserved for a Christian country to attain this extreme, this quintessence, this absolute poignancy. You will understand how rapid are all amusements to a man who has acquired a taste for this one. The game we play," he continued, "is one of extreme simplicity. A full pack—but I perceive you are about to see the thing in progress. Will you lend me the help of your arm? I am, unfortunately, paralyzed."

Indeed just as Mr. Malthus was beginning his description another pair of folding doors was thrown open, and the whole club began to pass, not without some hurry, into the adjoining room. It was similar in every respect to the one from which it was entered, but somewhat differently furnished. The center was occupied by a long green table, at which the president sat shuffling a pack of cards with great particularity. Even with the stick and the colonel's arm Mr. Malthus walked with so much difficulty that every one was seated before this pair and the prince, who had waited for them, entered the apartment, and in consequence the three took seats close together at the lower end of the board.

"It is a pack of fifty-two," whispered Mr. Malthus. "Watch for the ace of spades, which is the sign of death, and the ace of clubs, which designates the official of the night. Happy, happy young men!" he added. "You have good eyes and can follow the game. Alas, I cannot tell an ace from a deuce across the table."

And he proceeded to equip himself with a second pair of spectacles.

"I must at least watch the faces," he explained.

BAD FIRE AT WINTER QUARTERS

Barnum and Bailey Circus Suffers Severe Loss—Elephants Cause Much Alarm.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 25.—Fire partly destroyed the new brick car barn at the winter quarters of the Barnum and Bailey circus here yesterday and burned a number of cars belonging to the circus. The loss is estimated at $100,000; insurance, $33,000. The fire was caused by a lamp falling to the floor in the midst of a quantity of benzine and other inflammable material. While the fire was at its height a cornice fell, carrying to the ground with it 12 firemen who were at work on the roof. The men were considerably bruised but were not otherwise injured.

Considerable excitement was occasioned during the removal of 14 elephants which were quartered in a building adjoining the car barns. It was necessary to remove the elephants through a door facing the burning building and across the tracks between rows of burning and smoking cars. In order to accomplish this safely the four keepers took one animal out at a time until the entire herd was removed. The loud trumpeting of the elephants gave rise to a rumor that the animals had broken loose.

Plow Works Damaged.

Racine, Wis., Feb. 25.—Fire last night in the plant of the J. I. Case plow company did damage to the extent of $100,000 before it was brought under control. The loss is covered by insurance. The fire is believed to have been started by spontaneous combustion in the paint shop. Five hundred men were employed in the part of the plant that was burned.

Wages Advanced.

St. Louis, Feb. 25.—An advance in the wages of the Mobile & Ohio firemen was granted yesterday by General Manager Clarke. Mr. Clarke also made concessions in regard to changes in certain rules objected to. The advance is said to be practically the same as allowed by the other lines in that territory.

A NERVE TONIC NEVER EQUALED

THIS SHAPE NO OTHER

Mrs. William Spencer, of No. 109 Granger St., Syracuse, N. Y., says: "I was always nervous, but of late years I could not sleep, was intensely nervous, ringing sounds in my ears and sharp noises in my head at night. My strength was away down and I was very dizzy and had to catch hold of something until it passed off. This condition certainly needed attention, as it was growing steadily worse. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills were called to my attention and I got a box. The results were splendid—the nerves became quiet—the noises and ringing in the head, together with the dizzy spells, disappeared completely and I began to sleep well again. The general strength came back and as a result I feel very well every way again. I am only too pleased to be able to say this."

Mrs. Randolph Knutti, of No. 59 Penn St., Salem, Ohio, says: "Day times I was always nervous—children's noises and little things upset and worried me. As a consequence I felt depressed and debilitated. I was told of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and got some and they acted finely. They made my nerves steady and strong and gave a splendid feeling of general strength and vigor. I don't worry or bother now about small things any more, and am very grateful for the change. As a nerve and general tonic I consider the medicine has no equal."

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

Daughter Born—A daughter was born today to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson, of East Fourth street.

Initiatory Work—Peter Cooper council No. 772 will have initiatory work to do at its regular meeting tomorrow evening.

A Universal Creed—Rev. H. H. Moninger, of Steubenville, will preach to-night at the Christian church, subject "The Creed Upon Which All Churches Can Unite." Song service will be conducted by S. H. Cappa, of Louisville, Ky. He will also sing a solo.

Democratic Committee Meeting—Chairman J. J. Weisend, of the Democratic city central committee, has issued, through the local party organ, a call for a meeting of the committee for Friday evening. It is stated that a full municipal ticket will then be nominated.

Orders Conferred—Pilgrim commandery No. 55 held a special convocation last evening and conferred the Temple and Malta orders on three candidates. The membership of the commandery has now passed the 100 mark and there are a number of candidates awaiting the orders.

Why the Paper Was Late—An accident to the News Review press yesterday afternoon made the paper late in reaching a number of subscribers. The Tribune kindly came to its assistance and ran off the greater part of the edition on its press—a courtesy that was much appreciated by the News Review publishers and, doubtless also, by its patrons. In order to make the delay as brief as possible two pages were thrown out, and most subscribers received only a six-paper paper. The break has been repaired and things are expected to move as usual from this on.

Is the Cash System Right

Is it right that the customer paying cash should pay just as much for what they buy as the one who buys on credit? If you borrow money, you expect to pay interest on it, which is right, but how about the merchant who lends out his goods (or money) and instead of getting interest on same, he loses even the principal, who, do you think, pays for what he loses.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Miss Ashbaugh Entertains.
Miss Hattie Ashbaugh, of Franklin street, entertained last evening about 16 of her young friends. Some particularly amusing features of entertainment had been provided, among them a cake walk and peanut eating contests. The former was won by Will Gamble and his lady and the latter by Will Lutton. Dancing and music prolonged the games and a tempting luncheon was served.

Entertained Choir Boys.
Mrs. Edwin Weary last evening entertained the little choir boys of St. Stephen's church at her home on Fourth street. The event was a delightful one for the boys, who have done their work so faithfully in the choir. The evening was spent in games and other amusements, after which a dainty luncheon was served.

Plague Prohibits Handshaking.
Mazatlan, Mexico, Feb. 25.—There was one death from the plague yesterday, and that at the lazaretto. Four soldiers of the Eleventh Infantry have been removed to the observation station, having shown symptoms of the plague. Signs have been placed in some of the business houses notifying the people that handshaking is prohibited during the prevalence of the plague.

Employees Will Receive Increase.
Johnstown, Pa., Feb. 25.—The Berwind-White coal company, which operates extensive bituminous mines at Windber, will increase the wages of every employee April 1. Although the exact amount of the increase is not stated, it is generally understood it will be 10 per cent. About 2,000 men will be affected.

At the Melodrama.
As the clatter of hoofs died away the beautiful heroine confronted the heavy villain.
"You have a black heart!" she hissed.
"No, I think it is brown," chuckled the villain. "Anyway, the doctors told me I had a 'tobacco heart'."
With a wild laugh the heroine dashed over the cliff.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Paying and Going.
"Really, I must admit," said Mr. Borem, "I've been very slow about paying this bill, but—"
"Don't apologize," replied Miss Tyre Doot, suppressing a yawn. "They say it's born in some people to pay as they go."—Philadelphia Ledger.

His Value.

"I'll wager she's thinking of me."
"Shouldn't wonder, old chap. I offered her a penny for her thoughts, and she said they weren't worth it."—New York Journal.

Ready For Anything.
"If you don't pay me my salary," said the leading lady, "I shall denounce you from the stage."
"All right," answered the manager placidly. "Let's fix a date, and I'll advertise it. May be it would make a hit."—Washington Star.

Quick Transaction.
"What will you give me for this article?" asked the poet.
"Thirty days," replied the editor, who was also the mayor.—Atlanta Constitution.

AN ABLE MAN

C. P. Rothwell the Logical Candidate For Prosecuting Attorney.

Good Reasons Why the East Palestine Man Should Be Honored With the Republican Nomination.

Attorney C. P. Rothwell, of East Palestine, has been in the city all week, and from expressions heard on every hand it is evident that he is making good headway with his canvass for prosecuting attorney. Especially is this true of the people among whom he has been working in East Liverpool. The gentleman is no stranger to the citizens of the southern end of the county, and when the result of the Republican primary election is announced March 28, it will be found that his friends have not forgotten him.

Mr. Rothwell has been a member of the Columbiana county bar for the past 21 years, and as such has earned a position among the foremost practitioners throughout this section of the state. For 15 years he was attorney for the town of East Palestine, and never in the history of the municipality was its affairs better looked after. His success in his chosen profession was so pronounced that from the early years of his career his practice has been among the largest of any individual attorney in the county. It can be truthfully said that he is one of the best and most successful lawyers in Columbiana county, and qualified in every way to fill the position to which he aspires.

Attorney Rothwell comes from the township of Unity, where he is perhaps the best known man and most substantial citizen in the entire community. Unity township has 1,600 Republicans within its borders, and its regular majority for the Republican ticket can always be depended upon. In 30 years the township has not been represented in any of the several offices at the county seat, and the claim of Mr. Rothwell to the support of the Republicans of the county can be justly considered a righteous one. His friends in Unity present his name to the county as a candidate for prosecuting attorney, feeling that he is entitled and will receive the support of all fair-minded men who believe in a fair distribution of the county offices.

The Arizona Kicker

What It Has Accomplished In Seven Years

(Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.)

SEVEN years ago when we made our first appearance in the town of Giveadam Gulch we carried our spare shirt in a bundle and were forced to sleep under a wagon on the public square. We rose up breakfastless, but we had hope and ambition for fodder. The Kicker, which is now recognized the world over as the greatest family paper ever issued at any price, was started on $3 in cash and a barrel of stern determination. Predictions were made on every hand that it would be a failure, but the prophets shot wide of the mark. In four weeks it was on a paying basis and gaining, and its course has been upward and onward ever since.

Success brought us enemies. It wasn't a month before we had to throw our club away and run in debt for a gun. It took us two weeks to learn one end of that gun from the other, and we had only discovered what the trigger was for when Arkansas Pete entered our sanctum to fill us with lead. We gave him a surprise party and paid the funeral expenses.

While the name of Arkansas Pete was marked "No. 1" we earnestly hoped the list would end there. It didn't, however. Arizona Joe came along three months later and demanded our scalp. He was laid beside the other, and we pressed forward up the hill of ambition.

A little later came Major Calhoun. We refused the major a cash loan, and he tried to shoot the coin out of us. The three graves in a row began to have a business look, and while there were many to congratulate us, there were also those who banded to remove us from the sphere we occupied.

Smith Taylor was the fourth gentleman who started out to pull a gun on us, but he was two seconds behind our time. He was postmaster at the time and had been using our exchanges for kindling wood instead of delivering them. It has been charged by our enemies that we "removed" Mr. Smith in order to get his place, but all such statements do us rank injustice. We have been postmaster for several years, and we expect to be for several years to come, but the government selected us entirely on account of our fitness for the position.

Montana Tom had the honor of being No. 5. We have always believed that he was told by certain people that we were retarding the interests of this territory and that he had a sort of Joan of Arc feeling in his breast when he entered our sanctum. His shooting was good, but not good enough. He lingered long enough to express his sorrow and ask to be planted with his boots on and then took his place in the line.

It was only after six wooden head-boards had been erected in memory of as many individuals that we bought an acre of ground in the suburbs of the town and turned it into a combined public park and a private editorial graveyard, the first and only affair of the sort in existence.

No man familiar with our career can say that we have gone gunning for victims. On the contrary, it is a well-known fact that we have often been charged with a lack of industry in this respect. Had we set out to make a record the list would now number fifty instead of fourteen. We had nothing of the sort in view. On the contrary, all we desired was to be let alone. We may mention in this connection as an evidence of our dislike to shed blood that our esteemed contemporary has shot at us at least 500 times in the last five years and that on each and every occasion we could have cut short his career, but he is alive and well today.

The gentlemen whose gravestones are marked Nos. 7, 8, 9 and 10, respectively, were of no particular renown and were not greatly missed by the public when they had been laid to rest. They pulled their guns on us on the street and at the office for various causes, and we did not open fire until the action was demanded and justified. Nos. 11 and 12 belong to Colonel Hooper and Judge Hildebrand, respectively. They were good men, but impetuous. They wanted to take us by the neck because we differed with them in politics, and in their zeal they found homes where politics never enters.

Between Nos. 12 and 13 there was an interval of over two years. We had begun to hope that the list would end with No. 12 and that the time was close at hand when our guns could be hung up to rest when the Hon. Joe Bidwell took exception to an article on the decadence of truth in the west and called to pepper us. One of our guns happened to be handy, and the result was that Mr. Bidwell had to cancel many important engagements.

We have always been sorry that he didn't give us a chance to run, as he was a man of push and ambition and thoroughly loyal to Arizona. His disappearance occurred just twenty-three months ago.

Again we were indulging in the hope that peace on earth would soon be an established fact and that we should have no further use for cartridges than to shoot jack rabbits when No. 14 was added to the list.

Wednesday last as we sat in our sanctum Colonel Jim Hardbank rode up on his broncho and entered the office. For the past year he has urged us to abandon our idea of becoming governor of this territory and shove him into the place. We have not been able to see our way clear to do it, and in consequence we lost his friendship. He came into town Wednesday determined to remove us from this vale of tears. He had two guns, and his jaw was set. Brushing past those who feared he meant trouble and would have stopped him, he kicked open our door and began shooting. I do not wish to dwell on the affair. Unfortunately for the late deceased, we happened to be loading our guns preparatory to paying a call on a shyster lawyer, and it was only natural that we should shoot back. We were grazed by three of the colonel's bullets, but he dropped at our second and is now at rest forevermore.

While we earnestly and truly hope that No. 14 will be the last and that we no longer have an enemy on earth, we must add that any person dropping in on us with the intention of ridding Arizona of our presence has got to be lightning on the draw to get ahead of us. Our office hours are from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., and we never sit with our back to the door.

AN EVEN EXCHANGE.

The following letter will explain itself.

New York, Feb. 14, 1903.

Smith & Phillips Music Co.,
East Liverpool, O.

Gentlemen:—As we will in a short time celebrate our 50th year in the manufacture of the Gabler Piano we wish to secure for that event the oldest Gabler that can be obtained.

We hereby authorize you to make the following offer for us. We will give in even exchange a new style M Gabler Upright Piano, price $500.00 for the oldest Gabler Piano that may be found, either square, upright or grand.

The age of the piano will be determined by the factory number appearing upon the inside of the piano near the tuning pins.

Will you kindly make our offer generally known and advise us of the numbers of the pianos and their owners as they become known to you.

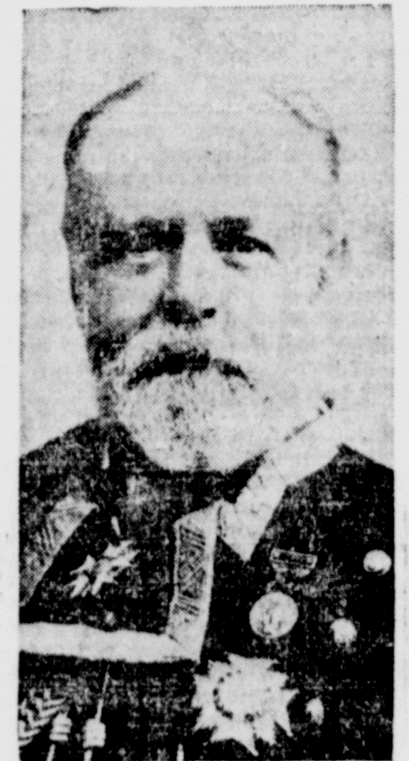

Very truly yours,
ERNEST GABLER & BROS.

CERVERA'S NEW HONORS.

How Spain Shows Its Respect For the Old Naval Commander.

That Spain has nothing but good will for Admiral Cervera, who commanded the ill-fated Spanish fleet in the naval battle off the harbor of Santiago, is evidenced by his recent appointment to the post of chief of staff of the Spanish navy.

While in Santiago with a fleet of four armored cruisers and two torpedo boat destroyers Admiral Cervera early in July, 1898, received orders to proceed to Havana. He made the attempt on Sunday morning, July 3, and his ships were destroyed and sunk by our fleet.

Cervera received no injury during the fight, but was taken prisoner and was first placed on board the auxiliary cruiser Gloucester, from which he was transferred to the Iowa. While on the latter vessel he said: "I would rather lose my ships at sea, like a sailor, than in a harbor. It was the only thing for me to do."

On to His Specialty.
